CEILING ON CLOTHING STAYS IN OPA BILL

Byrnes Favors Central Agency For Germany

Will Accept Economic Merger If Centralization Isn't Possible

REICH PROBLEMS MAY COME UP IN AUTUMN

Bevin Declares Britain Is Going Ahead With Autonomous Control

By JOSEPH DYNAN

PARIS, July 11 (AP)—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes told the four-power foreign ministers council tonight that the United States wanted a central administration established for Germany.

If such a centralization plan was not now attainable, the American secretary said, then the United States, as a "last resort," would like to see the present four allied zones of occupation in the Reich merged economically.

Byrnes made his statement 24 hours after Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov had called for the setting up at once of a Central German administration "as a transitional step toward the establishment of a future German government" with which the allies could sign a peace treaty.

The five-hour meeting of the ministers today produced no agreements. But the ministers decided that they would hold a special meeting on German problems in the autumn after the adjournment of the United Nations General Assembly in New York. The date for the ministers' autumn session was not fixed.

While Byrnes and Molotov were placing themselves on record in favor of centralization, the French delegation heard with open dismay British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's statement that Britain was going ahead immediately with "autonomous" control of its zone.

Bevin took his stand in the light of the council's inability to agree on an inter-zonal exchange of goods which he proposed yesterday in order to reduce Britain's huge occupation costs. Bevin's proposal was similar in its aim to the economic merger plan advanced by Byrnes.

A French spokesman said this was an "extremely grave" decision because it meant Britain was going to set about putting German industry back on its feet.

Approves Payment

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP) — President Truman signed today legislation authorizing payment to Brig. Gen. Carl H. Seals, Laurel, Md., of $1,500, the difference between the value of property he lost in the Japanese invasion of the Philippines and the amount allowed him by the War department.

Seals escaped the Japanese at Corregidor but was captured later and held prisoner until the end of the war.

How Senators Voted

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP) — Here's how senators from four states voted when the Senate today rejected a proposal by Senator Hawkes (R-NJ) calling for three increases of five per cent each in maximum rents during the next nine months under the OPA legislation:

Democrat for the amendment—Radcliffe of Maryland.

Macy Department Store Picketed

NEW YORK, July 11. (AP)—Picketing stemming from a dispute over delivery service today disrupted sales and deliveries of the huge 88-year-old R. H. Macy Department Store which last year did a $132,000,000 business and there was a possibility many other New York department stores might be affected.

A Macy executive said the store operated during the day with only about 10 to 20 per cent of its sales force crossing the picket line. He added that the number of customers who normally visit the sprawling Herald Square store had been cut 50 per cent, interrupting sales for the first time in the store's history.

Late in the day, however, John A. Blum, assistant director of public relations for Macy's said a survey showed sales were slightly lower than for a normal Thursday.

A union officer claimed 90 per cent of the Macy sales force who were union members honored the picket line flung around the building. Macy's mainstore normally employs 11,200 workers, including 3,400 in the sales force.

Truman Endorses Federal Spending Cut; Wants OPA

Military And Veteran Programs Estimates To Be Reviewed

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP) — President Truman pledged his administration tonight to cut federal spending.

He endorsed a report by his new reconversion director, John R. Steelman, calling for reduced outlays by the government—particularly by the peacetime army and navy—and for a "workable" OPA law.

"Government expenditures will be reduced," Mr. Truman said in a statement at his news conference in connection with issuance of Steelman's quarterly report.

Summarizes Progress

"Military and veterans program costs which have been rising above earlier estimates will be reviewed, to determine where they can be reduced without endangering national security or causing unjustified hardship."

The president pridefully summarized the progress made by mid-year—production at "the highest level ever attained in peacetime;" more people working "than ever before;" the nation "meeting in full our commitments to ship food to the starving peoples of the world;" eight out of every 10 returned veterans already at work.

The president said he had directed Steelman to co-ordinate fully the activities of all government agencies to attain the high volume of production needed to ward off inflation.

The carving of government expenditures is part of a review of federal fiscal and monetary policies, he said.

"All deferrable construction and Public Works projects using federal funds will be studied with a view to saving strategic materials and diminishing inflationary pressures x x x.

"All these measures are necessary but they are no substitute for specific price control until full production is attained."

Emphasizes Number Working

Mr. Truman laid emphasis on the number of Americans at work — "four and a half million more than in 1941, our highest prewar year"—and on the record made by industry in absorbing veterans.

"But we shall not be satisfied until the rest of our veterans have suitable employment opportunities," he said.

Steelman, only recently installed as head of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion, declared in his quarterly report that price control should be bulwarked by government economy, continued high taxes and credit controls, and a fedetral budget balance or surplus.

Holdup Victims To Tell Grand Jury Of Robbery

BALTIMORE July 11 (AP)—Several members of Baltimore's "sporting fraternity" who were robbed by four gunmen in the Century Athletic Club hold-up July 4, were called before a special session grand jury today to tell their stories.

Re-convening to continue its investigation of the hold-up, the grand jury summoned 14 witnesses, including three police officials and several admitted victims of the robbers.

2 More Disclosed

Two more known victims of the hold-up were disclosed today by police, bringing to nine the number who have admitted being robbed. Thirteen persons were said to have been in the club at the time.

Police tabulations show that the nine victims have admitted losing approximately $3,000 in cash, as compared with the more than $35,000 which had been rumored taken from them.

As the grand jury reconvened, both Police Commissioner Hamilton R. Atkinson and Governor O'Conor declined to comment on a speech last night in which Mrs. Marie Bauernschmidt, Baltimore civic leader, attacked the police department.

Mrs. Bauernschmidt asserted there was "something wrong" with the police department and that it "needs cleaning out from top to bottom." She added the city was over-run with gambling houses and that "they all know it down there" at police headquarters.

"I have no comment to make on Mrs. Bauernschmidt's statement," Atkinson said. "However, if she has any knowledge of any facts that may prove helpful, I would welcome her to go before the grand jury and tell them."

The governor declined to comment because he said he felt Mrs. Bauernschmidt's remarks were too closely related to subject matter before the grand jury.

Kenney Resigns

Hull Plays Trump Card For Loan

Former Secretary Says British Bill Tests America's Leadership

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP) — Cordell Hull played an administration trump card today for the $3,750,000,000 British loan, telling the house its vote on Saturday will test America's leadership for world cooperation and peace.

"There will be ruin for us and the world if we sit still," said the retired secretary of state and right hand of Franklin D. Roosevelt in guiding the nation's wartime foreign policy. Hull's arguments were made in a 1,500-word letter read to the house by Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex).

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 11 (AP) — Governor O'Conor said tonight his decision on whether to call a special legislative session to study rent control would be held in abeyance pending two developments:

2. His conference at Annapolis tomorrow with labor spokesmen on rent control.

GOVERNMENT WORKER WHO MAY AIDED SAYS HE OKAYED MILLIONS

Tells Committee Advance Payments Went To Munitions Combine

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

WASHINGTON, July 11. (AP)—Albert W. Jacobson, a War department employe, testified today that he okayed millions of dollars of advance payments to a munitions combine. He also testified that Rep. May (D-Ky) recommended him for reinstatement to the bar, from which he resigned under "pressure" in 1938.

Jacobson insisted to the Senate War Investigating committee, however, that there was no connection between his approval of the payments and the "humanitarian" service he said May did for him. He defied "anyone to put a finger" on any wrong-doing.

Mess, Says Mead

"Well," observed Chairman Mead (D-NY), "collectively this is a mess. And I don't know whether a finger or a hand or an octopus had something to do with it. I don't think an imaginative fiction writer could write a story like this."

As Jacobson outlined his career to the committee, he resigned from the bar here in 1938 after the Bar Association's grievance committee started to investigate him, entered government service as a typist-clerk at $1,620 a year in 1939, and rose to the post of acting chief of the legal division in the Army's Chemical Warfare service as a civilian employe at $9,975 a year.

Jacobson was called to the stand as the committee sought details of

Chairman Says Party In Power Has Three Antagonistic Elements

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 11 (AP)—If Republicans fail to capture a majority in congress at this year's elections, the party's national chairman declared in a speech tonight, it "may expose the nation to grave danger that our historic system will not survive."

GOP Committee Drafts Platform For Convention

BALTIMORE, July 11 (AP) — A ten-member committee was named today to draft a party platform to be acted on July 22 at the Republican State Convention which will ratify candidates nominated in last month's primary election.

Recommendations of the platform committee, headed by Enos S. Stockbridge, Baltimore attorney, will be submitted to the resolutions committee.

Stockbridge also has been designated to preside over the convention by State Chairman Galen L. Tait.

Other platform committee members named were: Andrew K. Coffman, Hagerstown; State Senator Wilmer Fell Davis, Federalsburg; George Cochran Doub, Baltimore, nominee for attorney general; Paul Kach, assistant Baltimore city solicitor; Deeley K. Nice, judge of the Appeals Tax Court, Baltimore; James B. Monroe, Waldorf; Simon E. Sobeloff, Baltimore city solicitor; Maxwell Suls, Baltimore; and Mrs. W. David Tilghman, Jr., Baltimore.

It was generally agreed at a meeting of Republican leaders this week that a statement favoring rent control legislation in Maryland would be included in the platform.

Bikini Test Provides Mass Information, Experts Say

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—The Bikini atomic bomb damaged more ships than any other blast in history, a board of experts advised President Truman today, even though the explosion apparently was about a third of a mile off the target point and away from close-spaced capital ships.

The test provided information necessary for the redesign of fighting ships to hold down damage to superstructures and men on deck, said the report presented by Scientists-Army-Navy Evaluation Board. Mr. Truman made the report public at his new conference.

Because the first test was an aerial explosion, little information was obtained on possible effects to the submerged parts of ships, the board said. The second, underwater, test planned for later this month is expected to provide that data.

A report of a second board representing President Truman also was made public by the White House. Headed by Senator Hatch (D-NM), it presented a "laymen's point of view" and said its members agreed the test "amply justified the expenditure to conduct it." That board called the second test "equally desirable and necessary."

The Hatch Board recounted that while the explosion at Bikini was probably within 100 feet of the chosen altitude, it "actually occurred several hundred yards west of a point directly above the target ship Nevada and therefore entirely west of the closely-spaced array of capital ships."

The evaluation board representing the joint chiefs of staff and headed by Dr. Karl T. Compton, noted physicist, had this to say on the same subject:

"The board's present information is that the bomb exploded, with an intensity which approached the best of the three previous atomic bombs, over a point 1,500 to 2,000 feet westerly of the assigned target, and at approximately the planned altitude."

The report informed Mr. Truman that "a vast amount of data which will prove invaluable throughout the scientific and engineering fields" had been made available by this test.

Reds Attack Times Story By Atkinson

Parvda Terms Former Moscow Correspondent Untalented Slanderer

MOSCOW, July 11 (AP)—Pravda assailed Brooks Atkinson, former Moscow correspondent for the New York Times, as an "untalented slanderer" and "gangster of the pen" in an article today criticizing Atkinson's published views on Russia.

David Zaslavsky, editorial writer for the official Communist newspaper, denounced Atkinson for his statements that the Soviet government was totalitarian and that Soviet leaders lived behind an "iron curtain."

Call Atkinson "Savage"

The Pravda writer applied such items as "product of the stock exchange and black market" and "savage" in criticizing Atkinson for declaring that the general level of the Soviet theater, art and music was low and for stating there were grounds to believe that Russia was subsidizing French communists.

Atkinson was the Times' correspondent in Moscow from August, 1945, to May 1946. He and his wife left the Soviet capital about a month ago to return to the United States.

(His views on Russia were published by the Times this week in a series of three articles. He declared that while the Russian people were sincere and good-hearted, they were ruled by a totalitarian, anti-foreign government whose leaders have phobia about the rest of the world.

(Atkinson attributed a part of the difficulties with the Soviet Union to "the ignorance of the Soviet leaders."

Cites Isolation

("Very few of them have been outside the Soviet Union," he said. "After many years of isolation, and also some bitter experiences with foreign countries, they have developed a phobia about the rest of the world.'

Zaslavsky said that Atkinson was "repeating old twaddle without noting in what a laughable, foolish position he was placing himself" in charging that freedom does not exist in Russia.

"This is not plain slander," Zaslavsky asserted. "This is ungifted slander."

Five Men Killed In Plane Crash

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—The Federal Government tonight grounded all Lockheed Constellation airplanes for 30 days pending investigation of the crash of one at Reading, Pa., today.

READING, Pa., July 11 (AP)—Five men were killed and a sixth injured critically today in what Transcontinental and Western Airlines said was the first fatal crash of a commercially-owned constellation transport, the world's largest passenger plane now in regular service.

TWA said the plane was on a routine training flight from its base here. The airline's Washington office announced the following crew list:

First Officer Douglas Herrien, Alexandria, Va., (permanent address, Sheffield, Ala.)

Capt. Norman A. Nilsen, Norfolk, Mass.

Engineer John Stauffer, Alexandria, Va. (Permanent address Reedley, Calif.)

Charles C. Semola, Arlington, Va. (Permanent Landsdowne, Pa.)

Capt. R. F. Brown, Alexandria, whose home is in Coco, Fla., was thrown clear of the wreckage and is in serious condition in Reading hospital.

The sixth occupant of the plane was tentatively identified by TWA

Senate Defeats Amendment By 40-40 Tie Vote

Action Removes One Of Last Hurdles To Price Control Passage

TRUMAN SAYS DANGER OF INFLATION GREAT

President Declines To Say If He Will Sign Bill In Present Form

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—The administration won a major round in the OPA revival fight tonight when the senate defeated an attempt by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) to deprive OPA of discretion and force it to raise manufacturers price ceilings to cover increased costs.

The decision came on the closest possible margin — a 40 to 40 vote. A tie vote defeats an attempt to amend a bill.

This action removed one of the last major hurdles to senate passage later of a measure to restore some price and rent controls for one year.

The vote came only a few hours after President Truman told his news conference that every day which passes without price controls increases the country's danger of runaway inflation, which he said thus far had been prevented.

Would Require New Ceiling

Reaction of the Taft proposal left intact in the bill a compromise formula worked out by Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) for prices of manufacturers, processors and producers.

Briefly it would require the revitalized OPA to boost ceilings to add an industry's average cost increases to the average prices for 1940.

Taft said he agreed to such a formula, substituted for his proposal which President Truman criticized severely in the June 29 veto of the original OPA bill, but he sought to knock out exemptions under which he said the OPA could refuse to raise any ceilings.

These exemptions would allow OPA to:

1. Make "reasonable adjustments" for conditions resulting from abnormal production.

2. Grant price increases only to expand production in cases where ceilings broke even with current costs and thus provided no profits.

3. Deny increases where to grant them would reduce the production of needed items.

Taft charged these would "nullify entirely" the price increase directive.

Earlier in the day, the senate approved 59 to 20 an amendment preventing OPA, when and if it is revived, from applying rent ceilings in any state which has its own rent control system, or sets up such a system in the future. The amendment was sponsored by Senators Knowland (R-Calif) and Ferguson (R-Mich).

Rent Increase Defeated

The chamber beat back, 58 to 14, an amendment to force an increase in rent ceilings throughout the nation.

After rejecting the Taft proposal on the tie vote, the senate sealed its verdict by voting 46 to 34 against reconsidering it.

Taft asserted that the purpose of his amendment "is to get increased production." He said he was not interested in the size of profits but in "a pricing scale that will get reasonable production, fill up the shelves, and get rid of shortages."

"What could be fairer," Taft asked, "than to recognize increased prices?"

A manufacturer, he contended, should be "on the same basis as before the war" and should get prewar prices plus increased material, labor and other costs brought about by the war.

Russia's Choosing Germany Over France Believed Greatest Move

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Diplomatic Reporter

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP) — Premier Stalin appears to have made one of Europe's great decisions in laying down Russia's new policy on Germany. He had a choice between Germany and France and he chose Germany.

This is the significance seen by top diplomatic authorities here in the Russian policy declaration made by Foreign Minister Molotov at the Paris conference yesterday.

Great Speculation

The effect in France, particularly on French communists, is at the moment a subject of great speculation here. The first conclusion is that the French Communists have probably suffered a loss in their argument for support by the French people.

Molotov's statement to Foreign Ministers Bevin and Bidault and Secretary of State Byrnes presumably ends a great dilemma in which the Russians have found themselves ever since the end of the war. They were caught between conflicting German and French interests of tremendous political importance and for months, according to officials here, they either straddled the issues or evaded them.

The issues are fairly simple. France wants a weak Germany. She wants the Ruhr and Rhineland either wholly or partially separated from the new German state. The United States and Britain have been cool to the French ideas.

France's ideas for Western Germany obviously are political dynamite inside Germany where the territorial integrity of the country is a sure-fire political issue for all parties.

Favor Disarmament

Molotov told the foreign minister that Russia favored a disarmed but healthy German state. He flatly opposed separation of Western territory and any kind of Anglo-American federation idea. Equally he opposed dividing Germany on other lines and he topped of his argument by denouncing the idea of

Pickets Demand Nationwide Buying Strike To Protest Rising Prices

PHILADELPHIA, July 11 (AP) — Pickets marched in front of Philadelphia and Camden stores today to back up their demands for a nationwide buyers' strike as a protest against rising prices.

More than 100 stores were picketed in Camden, across the Delaware river, and the drive is already showing results, said William T. Harker, president of Local No. 1 Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, CIO. Harker said pickets had been withdrawn from seven or eight stores after owners restored OPA price levels.

The huge reading terminal market—largest food market in Philadelphia, was picketed by men carrying signs which read:

"This market is violating OPA ceiling prices. Remember in November." and:

"CIO fights for OPA extension."

Inside, meat lines found steaks at 69 cents a pound; butter at 85 cents; and eggs at 69 cents a dozen.

As the pickets marched, a sound truck blared:

"Don't buy anything. Tell your milkman not to leave any milk. Join the fight against inflation or your money will be worth nothing."

Teen agers paraded in tattered clothing, carrying placards: This is what the well-dressed worker will wear without OPA."

The Executive Board of the Philadelphia Industrial Union Council, representing about 155,000 CIO members, voted to call on the national CIO to promote a buyers' strike, urging:

"Further inflation will make meaningless the recent wage gains that workers have obtained through collective bargaining. The only resources left to organized labor is further recourse to collective bargaining."

The board urged its members to buy only absolute necessities, "so that those behind this inflation will know that this nation and its common people will not tolerate runaway prices and excessive profits."

Wholesale meat prices here, the OPA said, have been risen as much as 100 per cent. Butter was retailing at 75 cents to $1.16 a pound.

Hull Plays Trump Card For Loan

Former Secretary Says British Bill Tests America's Leadership

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP) — Cordell Hull played an administration trump card today for the $3,750,000,000 British loan, telling the house its vote on Saturday will test America's leadership for world cooperation and peace.

"There will be ruin for us and the world if we sit still," said the retired secretary of state and right hand of Franklin D. Roosevelt in guiding the nation's wartime foreign policy, Hull's arguments were made in a 1,500-word letter read to the house by Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex).

"This cinches it," said Rep. Priest (D-Tenn), after Hull's letter was read. Priest, the acting Democratic whip, has been polling and re-

2. His conference at Annapolis tomorrow with labor spokesmen on rent control.

GOVERNMENT WORKER WHO MAY AIDED SAYS HE OKAYED MILLIONS

Tells Committee Advance Payments Went To Munitions Combine

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

WASHINGTON, July 11. (AP)—Albert W. Jacobson, a War department employe, testified today that he okayed millions of dollars of advance payments to a munitions combine. He also testified that Rep. May (D-Ky) recommended him for reinstatement to the bar, from which he resigned under "pressure" in 1938.

Jacobson insisted to the Senate War Investigating committee, however, that there was no connection between his approval of the payments and the "humanitarian" service he said May did for him. He defied "anyone to put a finger" on any wrong-doing.

Mess, Says Mead

"Well," observed Chairman Mead (D-NY), "collectively this is a mess. And I don't know whether a finger or a hand or an octopus had something to do with it. I don't think an imaginative fiction writer could write a story like this."

As Jacobson outlined his career to the committee, he resigned from the bar here in 1938 after the Bar Association's grievance committee started to investigate him, entered government service as a typist-clerk at $1,620 a year in 1939, and rose to the post of acting chief of the legal division in the Army's Chemical Warfare service as a civilian employe at $9,975 a year.

Jacobson was called to the stand as the committee sought details of

Nation's Future Depends On GOP, Reece Declares

Chairman Says Party In Power Has Three Antagonistic Elements

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 11 (AP)—If Republicans fail to capture a majority in congress at this year's elections, the party's national chairman declared in a speech tonight, it "may expose the nation to grave danger that our historic system will not survive."

Says 3 Elements Exist

"The facts will sustain my contention," asserted Chairman Carroll Reece of Johnson City, Tenn., adding:

"The party which is in power today—if it can be called a party—is one which is made up of three distinct and mutually antagonistic elements."

GOP Committee Drafts Platform For Convention

BALTIMORE, July 11 (AP) — A ten-member committee was named today to draft a party platform to be acted on July 22 at the Republican State Convention which will ratify candidates nominated in last month's primary election.

Recommendations of the platform committee, headed by Enos S. Stockbridge, Baltimore attorney, will be submitted to the resolutions committee.

Stockbridge also has been designated to preside over the convention by State Chairman Galen L. Tait.

Other platform committee members named were: Andrew K. Coffman, Hagerstown; State Senator Wilmer Fell Davis, Federalsburg; George Cochran Doub, Baltimore, nominee for attorney general; Paul Kach, assistant Baltimore city solicitor; Deeley K. Nice, judge of the Appeals Tax Court, Baltimore; James B. Monroe, Waldorf; Simon E. Sobeloff, Baltimore city solicitor; Maxwell Suls, Baltimore; and Mrs. W. David Tighman, Jr., Baltimore.

It was generally agreed at a meeting of Republican leaders this week that a statement favoring rent control legislation in Maryland would be included in the platform.

Doub has publicly advocated such

Bikini Test Provides Mass Information, Experts Say

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—The Bikini atomic bomb damaged more ships than any other blast in history, a board of experts advised President Truman today, even though the explosion apparently was about a third of a mile off the target point and away from close-spaced capital ships.

The test provided information necessary for the redesign of fighting ships to hold down damage to superstructures and men on deck, said the report presented by Scientists-Army-Navy Evaluation Board. Mr. Truman made the report public at his new conference.

Because the first test was an aerial explosion, little information was obtained on possible effects to the submerged parts of ships, the board said. The second, underwater, test planned for later this month is expected to provide that data.

A report of a second board representing President Truman also was made public by the White House. Headed by Senator Hatch (D-NM), it presented a "laymen's point of view" and said its members agreed the test "amply justified the expenditure to conduct it." That board called the second test "equally desirable and necessary."

The Hatch Board recounted that while the explosion at Bikini was probably within 100 feet of the chosen altitude, it "actually occurred several hundred yards west of a point directly above the target ship Nevada and therefore entirely west of the closely-spaced array of capital ships."

The evaluation board representing the joint chiefs of staff and headed by Dr. Karl T. Compton, noted physicist, had this to say on the same subject:

"The board's present information is that the bomb exploded, with an intensity which approached the best of the three previous atomic bombs, over a point 1,500 to 2,000 feet westerly of the assigned target, and at approximately the planned altitude."

The report informed Mr. Truman that "a vast amount of data which will prove invaluable throughout the scientific and engineering fields" had been made available by this test.

Reds Attack Times Story By Atkinson

Parvda Terms Former Moscow Correspondent Untalented Slanderer

MOSCOW, July 11 (AP)—Pravda assailed Brooks Atkinson, former Moscow correspondent for the New York Times, as an "untalented slanderer" and "gangster of the pen" in an article today criticizing Atkinson's published views on Russia.

David Zaslavsky, editorial writer for the official Communist newspaper, denounced Atkinson for his statements that the Soviet government was totalitarian and that Soviet leaders lived behind an "iron curtain."

Call Atkinson "Savage"

The Pravda writer applied such items as "product of the stock exchange and black market" and "savage" in criticizing Atkinson for declaring that the general level of the Soviet theater, art and music was low and for stating there were grounds to believe that Russia was subsidizing French communists.

Atkinson was the Times' correspondent in Moscow from August, 1945, to May 1946. He and his wife left the Soviet capital about a month ago to return to the United States.

(His views on Russia were published by the Times this week in a series of three articles. He declared that while the Russian people were sincere and good-hearted, they were ruled by a totalitarian, anti-foreign government whose leaders have phobia about the rest of the world.

(Atkinson attributed a part of the difficulties with the Soviet Union to "the ignorance of the Soviet leaders."

Cites Isolation

("Very few of them have been outside the Soviet Union," he said. "After many years of isolation, and also some bitter experiences with foreign countries, they have developed a phobia about the rest of the world.'

Zaslavsky said that Atkinson was "repeating old twaddle without noting in what a laughable, foolish position he was placing himself" in charging that freedom does not exist in Russia.

"This is not plain slander," Zaslavsky asserted. "This is ungifted slander."

Five Men Killed In Plane Crash

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—The Federal Government tonight grounded all Lockheed Constellation airplanes for 30 days pending investigation of the crash of one at Reading, Pa., today.

READING, Pa., July 11 (AP)—Five men were killed and a sixth injured critically today in what Transcontinental and Western Airlines said was the first fatal crash of a commercially-owned constellation transport, the world's largest passenger plane now in regular service.

TWA said the plane was on a routine training flight from its base here. The airline's Washington office announced the following crew list:

Capt. Norman A. Nilsen, Norfolk, Mass.

Engineer John Stauffer, Alexandria, Va. (Permanent address Reedley, Calif.)

Charles C. Semola, Arlington, Va. (Permanent Landsdowne, Pa.)

Capt. R. F. Brown, Alexandria, whose home is in Coco, Fla., was thrown clear of the wreckage and is in serious condition in Reading hospital.

Senate Defeats Amendment By 40-40 Tie Vote

Action Removes One Of Last Hurdles To Price Control Passage

TRUMAN SAYS DANGER OF INFLATION GREAT

President Declines To Say If He Will Sign Bill In Present Form

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—The administration won a major round in the OPA revival fight tonight when the senate defeated an attempt by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) to deprive OPA of discretion and force it to raise manufacturers price ceilings to cover increased costs.

The decision came on the closest possible margin — a 40 to 40 vote. A tie vote defeats an attempt to amend a bill.

This action removed one of the last major hurdles to senate passage later of a measure to restore some price and rent controls for one year.

The vote came only a few hours after President Truman told his news conference that every day which passes without price controls increases the country's danger of runaway inflation, which he said thus far had been prevented.

Would Require New Ceiling

Reaction of the Taft proposal left intact in the bill a compromise formula worked out by Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) for prices of manufacturers, processors and producers.

Briefly it would require the revitalized OPA to boost ceilings to add an industry's average cost increases to the average prices for 1940.

Taft said he agreed to such a formula, substituted for his proposal which President Truman criticized severely in the June 29 veto of the original OPA bill, but he sought to knock out exemptions under which he said the OPA could refuse to raise any ceilings.

These exemptions would allow OPA to:

1. Make "reasonable adjustments" for conditions resulting from abnormal production.

2. Grant price increases only to expand production in cases where ceilings broke even with current costs and thus provided no profits.

3. Deny increases where to grant them would reduce the production of needed items.

Taft charged these would "nullify entirely" the price increase directive.

Earlier in the day, the senate approved 59 to 20 an amendment preventing OPA, when and if it is revived, from applying rent ceilings in any state which has its own rent control system, or sets up such a system in the future. The amendment was sponsored by Senators Knowland (R-Calif) and Ferguson (R-Mich).

Rent Increase Defeated

The chamber beat back, 58 to 14, an amendment to force an increase in rent ceilings throughout the nation.

After rejecting the Taft proposal on the tie vote, the senate sealed its verdict by voting 46 to 34 against reconsidering it.

Taft asserted that the purpose of his amendment "is to get increased production." He said he was not interested in the size of profits but in "a pricing scale that will get reasonable production, fill up the shelves, and get rid of shortages."

"What could be fairer," Taft asked, "than to recognize increased prices?"

A manufacturer, he contended, should be "on the same basis as before the war" and should get prewar prices plus increased material, labor and other costs brought about by the war.

Pickets Demand Nationwide Buying Strike To Protest Rising Prices

PHILADELPHIA, July 11 (AP) — Pickets marched in front of Philadelphia and Camden stores today to back up their demands for a nationwide buyers' strike as a protest against rising prices.

More than 100 stores were picketed in Camden, across the Delaware river, and the drive is already showing results, said William T. Harker, president of Local No. 1 Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, CIO. Harker said pickets had been withdrawn from seven or eight stores after owners restored OPA price levels.

The huge reading terminal market—largest food market in Philadelphia, was picketed by men carrying signs which read:

"This market is violating OPA ceiling prices. Remember in November," and:

Inside, meat lines found steaks at 69 cents a pound; butter at 85 cents; and eggs at 69 cents a dozen.

As the pickets marched, a sound truck blared:

"Don't buy anything. Tell your milkman not to leave any milk. Join the fight against inflation or your money will be worth nothing."

Teen agers paraded in tattered clothing, carrying placards: This is what the well-dressed worker will wear without OPA."

The Executive Board of the Philadelphia Industrial Union Council, representing about 155,000 CIO members, voted to call on the national CIO to promote a buyers' strike, urging:

"Further inflation will make meaningless the recent wage gains that workers have obtained through collective bargaining. The only resources left to organized labor is further recourse to collective bargaining."

The board urged its members to buy only absolute necessities, "so that those behind this inflation will know that this nation and its common people will not tolerate runaway prices and excessive profits."

Wholesale meat prices here, the OPA said, have been risen as much as 100 per cent. Butter was retailing at 75 cents to $1.16 a pound.

Russia's Choosing Germany Over France Believed Greatest Move

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Diplomatic Reporter

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP) — Premier Stalin appears to have made one of Europe's great decisions in laying down Russia's new policy on Germany. He had a choice between Germany and France and he chose Germany.

This is the significance seen by top diplomatic authorities here in the Russian policy declaration made by Foreign Minister Molotov at the Paris conference yesterday.

Great Speculation

The effect in France, particularly on French communists, is at the moment a subject of great speculation here. The first conclusion is that the French Communists have probably suffered a loss in their argument for support by the French people.

Molotov's statement to Foreign Ministers Bevin and Bidault and Secretary of State Byrnes presumably ends a great dilemma in which the Russians have found themselves ever since the end of the war. They were caught between conflicting German and French interests of tremendous political importance and for months, according to officials here, they either straddled the issues or evaded them.

The issues are fairly simple. France wants a weak Germany. She wants the Ruhr and Rhineland either wholly or partially separated from the new German state. The United States and Britain have been cool to the French ideas.

France's ideas for Western Germany obviously are political dynamite inside Germany where the territorial integrity of the country is a sure-fire political issue for all parties.

Favor Disarmament

Molotov told the foreign minister that Russia favored a disarmed but healthy German state. He flatly opposed separation of Western territory and any kind of Anglo-American federation idea. Equally he opposed dividing Germany on other lines and he topped of his argument by denouncing the idea of

The strike voted last night harkened back to the transfer of the Macy delivery service to the United Parcel Service.

When Macy handled its own deliveries, the drivers and helpers were members of Local 1 of the CIO United Department Store, Delivery and Interior Employes Union. United Parcel has a closed shop contract with Local 804 of the AFL International Teamsters Union.

The former Macy delivery men voted to join Local 138 of the Teamsters but the international said the men had to join Local 804. A work stoppage began yesterday when United Parcel said membership in 804 was a requisite for working, the union said.

Nation's Future

Reece, addressing a Republican Women's Regional conference, then enumerated these elements as the Southern Democrats "x x held captive x x by the chains of an archaic tradition;" the "big city machines," and "the radical group which has been so aptly called the red-fascists."

"It is this group," Reece said of the socalled "Red-Fascists," that "seeks, through the medium of the Democrat party to fasten upon this nation the very form of government against which we have just waged a great and victorious war.

"It is this group, beholden to the political ideology of Moscow which is the most important. It is the most important because, for all intents and purposes, it has captured control of the Democratic party.

Not True Of All

"I do not for a moment suggest that a majority, or even a major fraction of registered Democrats in the United States, believe in this Red-Fascism which seeks to mask itself under the label of liberalism. What I do mean to say, however, is that members of this radical group have insinuated themselves into positions of great power on the policy-making level in the Democrat party and in the presetn Democrat administration in Washington.

"They call the tune to which the administration dances, and the tune is strongly like the "internationale."

Aside from the public diner tonight at which Reece was presented by National Committeeman Walter S. Hallanan, West Virginia, the women delegates engaged in day-long private panel discussion of techniques and procedure in going about winning the off-year elections.

what part he played in the approval of advance payments to the munitions combine headed by Henry Garsson.

His lengthy examination caused postponement until tomorrow of testimony from Garsson himself. Garsson, returning here today from out of town, told reporters that Benjamin Franklin Fields, an ex-convict previously mentioned in the inquiry, had no connection with his company's activities. Senator Mitchell (D-Wash), a committee member, has said that Fields offered him a $5,000 campaign contribution if he would persuade his colleagues to "lay off" the inquiry.

President Truman emphasized meanwhile that the committee, which he headed as a senator, has his full co-operation. In reply to news conference questions, the president reported that the committee members consulted him in advance of their inquiry and told him they had evidence of unconsiconable war profits.

Can Examine Tax Records

Mr. Truman said the committee so far has not asked for authority to examine income tax records. He added that if such a request is made and it appears justified, the permission will be granted.

Jacobson sprinkled his testimony liberally with declaration that his statements were based "on my best recollection," frequently declaring that he could not remember details of his past activities, and said once, "my recollection can be very bad."

He declared that he has had a "casual acquaintance" since 1941 with May, chairman of the House Military committee, who has acknowledged aiding the munition combine but denied that he profited from that help.

Jacobson said that in 1941 he was a member of an "informal" three-man committee for making advance payments on war contracts, but he said that it did not "function" and he could not remember whether it had ever met.

Testimony has been introduced previously that it was during this period that Erie Basin Metal Products Company, one of the chain now under investigation, received an advance payment of $972,000. Jacobson insisted he had nothing to do with that.

He declared that Col. Herbert Heiss was a member of the "informal committee" at the time. Committee Counsel Geroge Meader said that Heiss now is employed by Garsson as a sales manager on civilian production.

Jacobson, under questioning, acknowledged that in later years he had recommended approval of advances for companies in the combine after reviewing the facts and prepared the forms for submission to the chief of the Chemical Warfare Service industrial division.

Committee members pressed for an explanation of how well he knew the Garsson brothers, Henry and Murray, and their Washington Representative, Joseph Freeman. He told the committee that he had met them during transaction of War department business, and that he saw one or the other of them in the Chemical Warfare building on an average of once a week. He said that he had attended Freeman's wedding.

He acknowledged preparing forms for air priorities for the Garsons and for Freeman, but said that he had done so at the request of other divisions in Chemical Warfare Service and that it was "normal procedure."

The committee turned then to May's letter of recommendation for Jacobson's reinstatement to the Bar of the District of Columbia, and the circumstances behind Jacobson's resignation.

"Where does May fit in?" inquired a committee member.

"I don't think he knew anything about me," said Jacobson. "I went to him as a humanitarian proposition."

He told the committee that he resigned under "pressure" from friends in October of 1938 after they discovered that he was being investigated by the Bar Association's Grievance Committee. He said he did so because he felt "prominent" members of his family might be injured by publicity and because that was one case in which he felt that he "might be criticized."

"It was the first fight I ever ran from in my life, and it's the last one," he remarked.

Five Men Killed

as First Officer W. E. Amthor, Washington, D. C.

TWA officials said that Amthor was known to have been aboard the ship, making instrument check, just prior to the takeoff, but was not seen to leave the ship before it departed.

Capt. Nilsen, before he died, told hospital attendants six persons were aboard the plane although TWA records listed only five.

Nilson and Brown were the only men to emerge alive from the crumpled wreckage of the giant airliner which smashed into an alfalfa field three miles north of here about 12:40 p. m. (EDT.)

As firemen extinguished the flames 90 minutes after the crash fire Prevention Inspector Charles Ohlinger, Reading, said there were four charred bodies around the central pile of wreckage.

Senate Defeats

Senator Huffman (D-Ohio) declared that the Taft proposal "will completely wreck all possibility of price stabilization."

Even without it, he said, the OPA bill has been amended to the point that it is "absolutely ineffective."

The senate has approved amendments prohibiting any price curbs on meat, milk, butter, gasoline and several other products.

Tonight's action on the Taft proposal was taken after a two-hour recess during which about one-third of the senate members attended a cocktail party given by Senator Guffy (D-Pa) for Senator Radcliffe (D-Md). Radcliffe, defeated in the recent Maryland primaries, will end his senatorial career when Congress adjourns.

After the vote on the Taft amendment, Barkley urged senators to remain in the chamber to dispose of other amendments. He indicated, however, he had given up hope of bringing the bill to final passage tonight.

Mr. Truman issued a statement saying that while "runaway inflation" has been prevented up to the present time "all of the ground we have so laboriously won against inflation will be irretrievably lost without a workable price control law."

"Every day that passes without a law on the books increases that danger," he said.

During the senate struggle over a bill reviving OPA for one year, the agency's critics have studded it with amendments prohibiting any price curbs on meat, milk, butter, gasoline and several other products.

Mr. Truman declined to say whether he would sign the bill if it reached him with such amendments. Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) of the senate was counting on a senate-house conference to arrive at some compromise more acceptable to the president.

Just before Mr. Truman's news conference opened today, the president showed reporters a photograph from the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Headed "veterans on the march for OPA," it showed one picket wearing a barrel which bore the sign "fall fashions tailored by Taft." Senator Taft (R-Ohio) has been a leader in the fight to restrict OPA powers.

polling the membership for a week in an effort to find victory in the impending closely-drawn vote.

The senate has approved the loan. The house plans to vote Saturday.

Russia's Choosing

making Germany an agricultural state, something which no major government has seriously considered since the controversy here over the Morgenthau plan.

This latter idea particularly caused diplomatic officials here to read into Molotov's statements a bid for political support for Communism inside Germany.

The Russians are able to take this position now because they have gotten what they wanted from Eastern Germany. Russia's firm stand against German dismemberment today has caused some officials here to comment that the Russians would like now to cover up and put away any further concern of German political leaders over their territorial losses in the east.

Hughes Takes Turn

After releasing the bulletin, Dr. Mason declared:

"Howard Hughes beckoned me to his bedside and gave me a message. He asked: 'Am I going to live?'

"I replied: 'Don't know.'

Struggles With Words

"Hughes, struggling with his words, then said: 'I want you to give this message to the army: the accident was caused by the rear half of the right propellor.'"

On the lane, each propellor consisted of two halves. The four blades of the front half turned in one direction, Hughes explained, while the four blades of the rear half turned in the opposite direction.

"The rear four blades of the right propellor suddenly changed into reverse pitch position. The front four blades remained in normal forward flight position.

"This change occurred in the air and without any warning to me."

"The airplan suddenly felt as if someone had tied a barn door broadside onto the right hand wing.

"I had no reason to think it was a broken propellor because the engine continued to run normally and produce its full horsepower.

"The front four blades of the propellor were trying to pull the airplane ahead while the rear four blades were trying equally hard to push it backward.

"To make matters worse, these eight large propellor blades, whirling around fighting one another, created a dead drag on the right hand side of the airplane equal to that of a steel disk, seventeen feet in diameter, turned broadside to the wind at several hundred miles per hour.

"This disk also destroyed the flow of air over the right wing and created a tremendous loss of lift.

Plane Held Back

"I unfastened my seat belt, got up, and looked quickly out all the windows of the cabin. I wanted to see if any large part of the airplane, such as a section of the wing, tail, or a landing gear door, might possibly have been torn loose and swung by the wind into a broadside position.

"I could not see anything which was holding the plane back, yet it felt as if some giant had the right wing of the airplane in his hand and was pushing it back and down.

"I have thought about it carefully. Nothing small or light could have pushed the airplane back with such a tremendous force. I am absolutely certain it was the propellor.

"Tell the army to look in the wreckage, find the rear half of the right propellor and find out what went wrong with it."

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

HARRY: "I don't know what they'll weigh up, Judge, but my cattle and poultry sure have been gettin' fatter since I started to use distillers' dried grains in their ration."

OLD JUDGE: "You're about the tenth one who has told me that, Harry. How do you account for it?"

HARRY: "The by-product recovered from grains used by distillers is very high in vitamin and protein content. It's the best feed supplement we can get to balance the rations we feed our dairy cows, livestock and poultry. Mixed with original grain, these distillers' dried grains have a much greater feeding value than the original grain has."

OLD JUDGE: "Have any trouble getting all you need?"

HARRY: "Yes, at times, even though the distillers produced 1,200,000,000 pounds of it for the year endin' last June. I hope they'll be in a position to produce a lot more next year."

OLD JUDGE: "Then I guess nobody can tell you grain is wasted in distilling."

HARRY: "Not me, Judge . . . I know."

Macy Department

The strike voted last night harkened back to the transfer of the Macy delivery service to the United Parcel Service.

When Macy handled its own deliveries, the drivers and helpers were members of Local 1 of the CIO United Department Store, Delivery and Interior Employes Union. United Parcel has a closed shop contract with Local 804 of the AFL International Teamsters Union.

The former Macy delivery men voted to join Local 138 of the Teamsters but the international said the men had to join Local 804. A work stoppage began yesterday when United Parcel said membership in 804 was a requisite for working, the union said.

Nation's Future

Reece, addressing a Republican Women's Regional conference, then enumerated these elements as the Southern Democrats "x x held captive x x by the chains of an archaic tradition;" the "big city machines," and "the radical group which has been so aptly called the red-fascists."

"It is this group," Reece said of the socalled "Red-Fascists," that "seeks, through the medium of the Democrat party to fasten upon this nation the very form of government against which we have just waged a great and victorious war.

"It is this group, beholden to the political ideology of Moscow which is the most important. It is the most important because, for all intents and purposes, it has captured control of the Democratic party.

Not True Of All

"I do not for a moment suggest that a majority, or even a major fraction of registered Democrats in the United States, believe in this Red-Fascism which seeks to mask itself under the label of liberalism. What I do mean to say, however, is that members of this radical group have insinuated themselves into positions of great power on the policy-making level in the Democrat party and in the presetn Democrat admnlistration in Washington.

"They call the tune to which the administration dances, and the tune is strongly like the "internationale."

Aside from the public diner tonight at which Reece was presented by National Committeeman Walter S. Hallanan, West Virginia, the women delegates engaged in day-long private panel discussion of techniques and procedure in going about winning the off-year elections.

BLAZING PLANE WRECKAGE

what part he played in the approval of advance payments to the munitions combine headed by Henry Garsson.

His lengthy examination caused postponement until tomorrow of testimony from Garsson himself. Garsson, returning here today from out of town, told reporters that Benjamin Franklin Fields, an ex-convict previously mentioned in the inquiry, had no connection with his company's activities. Senator Mitchell (D-Wash), a committee member, has said that Fields offered him a $5,000 campaign contribution if he would persuade his colleagues to "lay off" the inquiry.

President Truman emphasized meanwhile that the committee, which he headed as a senator, has his full co-operation. In reply to news conference questions, the president reported that the committee members consulted him in advance of their inquiry and told him they had evidence of unconsiconable war profits.

Can Examine Tax Records

Mr. Truman said the committee so far has not asked for authority to examine income tax records. He added that if such a request is made and it appears justified, the permission will be granted.

Jacobson sprinkled his testimony liberally with declaration that his statements were based "on my best recollection," frequently declaring that he could not remember details of his past activities, and said once, "my recollection can be very bad."

He declared that he has had a "casual acquaintance" since 1941 with May, chairman of the House Military committee, who has acknowledged aiding the munition combine but denied that he profited from that help.

Jacobson said that in 1941 he was a member of an "informal" three-man committee for making advance payments on war contracts, but he said that it did not "function" and he could not remember whether it had ever met.

Testimony has been introduced previously that it was during this period that Erie Basin Metal Products Company, one of the chain now under investigation, received an advance payment of $972,000. Jacobson insisted he had nothing to do with that.

He declared that Col. Herbert Heiss was a member of the "informal committee" at the time. Committee Counsel Geroge Meader said that Heiss now is employed by Garsson as a sales manager on civilian production.

Jacobson, under questioning, acknowledged that in later years he had recommended approval of advances for companies in the combine after reviewing the facts and prepared the forms for submission to the chief of the Chemical Warfare Service industrial division.

Committee members pressed for an explanation of how well he knew the Garsson brothers, Henry and Murray, and their Washington Representative, Joseph Freeman. He told the committee that he had met them during transaction of War department business, and that he saw one or the other of them in the Chemical Warfare building on an average of once a week. He said that he had attended Freeman's wedding.

He acknowledged preparing forms for air priorities for the Garssons and for Freeman, but said that he had done so at the request of other divisions in Chemical Warfare Service and that it was "normal procedure."

The committee turned then to May's letter of recommendation for Jacobson's reinstatement to the Bar of the District of Columbia, and the circumstances behind Jacobson's resignation.

"Where does May fit in?" inquired a committee member.

"I don't think he knew anything about me," said Jacobson. "I went to him as a humanitarian proposition."

He told the committee that he resigned under "pressure" from friends in October of 1938 after they discovered that he was being investigated by the Bar Association's Grievance Committee. He said he did so because he felt "prominent" members of his family might be injured by publicity and because that was one case in which he felt that he "might be criticized."

"It was the first fight I ever ran from in my life, and it's the last one," he remarked.

TWA officials said that Amthor was known to have been aboard the ship, making instrument check, just prior to the takeoff, but was not seen to leave the ship before it departed.

Capt. Nilsen, before he died, told hospital attendants six persons were aboard the plane although TWA records listed only five.

Nilson and Brown were the only men to emerge alive from the crumpled wreckage of the giant airliner which smashed into an alfalfa field three miles north of here about 12:40 p. m. (EDT.)

As firemen extinguished the flames 90 minutes after the crash fire Prevention Inspector Charles Ohlinger, Reading, said there were four charred bodies around the central pile of wreckage.

Senate Defeats

Senator Huffman (D-Ohio) declared that the Taft proposal "will completely wreck all possibility of price stabilization."

Even without it, he said, the OPA bill has been amended to the point that it is "absolutely ineffective."

The senate has approved amendments prohibiting any price curbs on meat, milk, butter, gasoline and several other products.

Tonight's action on the Taft proposal was taken after a two-hour recess during which about one-third of the senate members attended a cocktail party given by Senator Guffy (D-Pa) for Senator Radcliffe (D-Md). Radcliffe, defeated in the recent Maryland primaries, will end his senatorial career when Congress adjourns.

After the vote on the Taft amendment, Barkley urged senators to remain in the chamber to dispose of other amendments. He indicated, however, he had given up hope of bringing the bill to final passage tonight.

Mr. Truman issued a statement saying that while "runaway inflation" has been prevented up to the present time "all of the ground we have so laboriously won against inflation will be irretrievably lost without a workable price control law."

"Every day that passes without a law on the books increases that danger," he said.

During the senate struggle over a bill reviving OPA for one year, the agency's critics have studded it with amendments prohibiting any price curbs on meat, milk, butter, gasoline and several other products.

Mr. Truman declined to say whether he would sign the bill if it reached him with such amendments. Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) of the senate was counting on a senate-house conference to arrive at some compromise more acceptable to the president.

Just before Mr. Truman's news conference opened today, the president showed reporters a photograph from the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Headed "veterans on the march for OPA," it showed one picket wearing a barrel which bore the sign "fall fashions tailored by Taft." Senator Taft (R-Ohio) has been a leader in the fight to restrict OPA powers.

This latter idea particularly caused diplomatic officials here to read into Molotov's statements a bid for political support for Communism inside Germany.

The Russians are able to take this position now because they have gotten what they wanted from Eastern Germany. Russia's firm stand against German dismemberment today has caused some officials here to comment that the Russians would like now to cover up and put away any further concern of German political leaders over their territorial losses in the east.

After releasing the bulletin, Dr. Mason declared:

"Howard Hughes beckoned me to his bedside and gave me a message. He asked: 'Am I going to live?'

"I replied: 'Don't know.'

Struggles With Words

"Hughes, struggling with his words, then said: 'I want you to give this message to the army: the accident was caused by the rear half of the right propellor.'"

On the lane, each propellor consisted of two halves. The four blades of the front half turned in one direction, Hughes explained, while the four blades of the rear half turned in the opposite direction.

"The rear four blades of the right propellor suddenly changed into reverse pitch position. The front four blades remained in normal forward flight position.

"This change occurred in the air and without any warning to me."

"The airplan suddenly felt as if someone had tied a barn door broadside onto the right hand wing.

"I had no reason to think it was a broken propellor because the engine continued to run normally and produce its full horsepower.

"The front four blades of the propellor were trying to pull the airplane ahead while the rear four blades were trying equally hard to push it backward.

"To make matters worse, these eight large propellor blades, whirling around fighting one another, created a dead drag on the right hand side of the airplane equal to that of a steel disk, seventeen feet in diameter, turned broadside to the wind at several hundred miles per hour.

"This disk also destroyed the flow of air over the right wing and created a tremendous loss of lift.

Plane Held Back

"I unfastened my seat belt, got up, and looked quickly out all the windows of the cabin. I wanted to see if any large part of the airplane, such as a section of the wing, tail, or a landing gear door, might possibly have been torn loose and swung by the wind into a broadside position.

"I could not see anything which was holding the plane back, yet it felt as if some giant had the right wing of the airplane in his hand and was pushing it back and down.

"I have thought about it carefully. Nothing small or light could have pushed the airplane back with such a tremendous force. I am absolutely certain it was the propellor.

"Tell the army to look in the wreckage, find the rear half of the right propellor and find out what went wrong with it."

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen

Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wabbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store. —Advertisement

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

HARRY: "I don't know what they'll weigh up, Judge, but my cattle and poultry sure have been gettin' fatter since I started to use distillers' dried grains in their ration."

OLD JUDGE: "You're about the tenth one who has told me that, Harry. How do you account for it?"

HARRY: "The by-product recovered from grains used by distillers is very high in vitamin and protein content. It's the best feed supplement we can get to balance the rations we feed our dairy cows, livestock and poultry. Mixed with original grain, these distillers' dried grains have a much greater feeding value than the original grain has."

OLD JUDGE: "Have any trouble getting all you need?"

HARRY: "Yes, at times, even though the distillers produced 1,200,000,000 pounds of it for the year endin' last June. I hope they'll be in a position to produce a lot more next year."

OLD JUDGE: "Then I guess nobody can tell you grain is wasted in distilling."

HARRY: "Not me, Judge . . . I know."

Stassen Favored For President By GOP In West Central States

Boosted By Minnesota Primary Results, Former Governor Trails Dewey, However, In Popularity In East Central States

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., July 11—Harold E. Stassen is the most popular choice for 1948 among Republican voters polled in the West Central States, and is a strong contender in the East Central region where at the present time Governor Thomas E. Dewey leads in popularity.

With Mr. Stassen's candidacy given a boost by the victory of the Stassen forces in the Minnesota primary on Monday, a measurement of his general popularity throughout the Middle West has been made by the Institute on the question:

"What man would you like to see elected president of the country in 1948?"

Here are the choices of Republican voters expressing an opinion in the West Central section (Wis., Minn., Ia., Kan., Neb., Mo., N.D., S.D.) and the East Central section (Ohio, Ind, Ill., Mich.). A report on the choices of Republican voters for the whole country will be made tomorrow.

EAST CENTRAL STATES (Ohio, Ind., Ill., Mich.)

Dewey	31%
Stassen	21
Bricker	19
Vandenberg	11
MacArthur	7

IN TERMS of popularity, as the figures show, Mr. Stassen has only one main contender at present in the West Central area, Gov. Dewey. Despite the setback in the Nebraska primary last month, when the Stassen-endorsed candidate was badly beaten in a senatorial contest, Mr. Stassen's lead over Gov. Dewey remains considerable in the West Central region as a whole.

In the East Central area Mr. Stassen faces two powerful contenders—Gov. Dewey, who runs ahead of him in popularity, and John W. Bricker, whose popularity percentage is nearly equivalent to that of Mr. Stassen's in the area. Former Governor Bricker is running for the Senate and a big victory in that race would undoubtedly enhance his popularity as a presidential candidate, not only in his home state of Ohio but throughout the Middle West generally.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan and Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio are also potentially strong contenders in the East Central area.

THANKS
I desire to thank the many Democratic Voters of Allegany County who voted for me for Congress in the Primary Election on June 24th. Although I did not win, I shall always cherish the many friendships made throughout the District during the campaign. Running without the support of any political organization, their loyal support was certainly appreciated.

Prices Less Control And Their Result

We have passed through the first period without price controls. The experience has been, in many respects, a salutary one for both Congress and the public. It has given a clearer and saner idea of what may be expected, when all controls are off, than can be gained from the fierce and highly emotional debate which has been raging over OPA.

Summing up the results, several things stand out. One is that manufacturers and retailers generally have shown a great deal more good sense and self-restraint than the advocates of OPA have been willing to give them credit for. Prices of manufactured goods have held a relatively steady line.

On certain basic commodities, such as milk and meat, price increases followed immediately upon the end of price control. In the case of milk, the rise reflected the elimination of subsidies under the old law—which, incidentally, were paid by the public in the form of taxes. The advance in meat prices is what usually happens in a free market when any commodity is scarce. But the nation has already seen the virtual disappearance of the meat black market and the return of meat products to the butcher shops at lower than black market prices, but as in the case of milk, with the amount of subsidies—hidden taxes—added.

There have been price increases, which in the very nature of things should bring higher production with consequently lower prices later, but there has been little to sustain the dire prediction that the end of controls would set off wild inflation. In every instance except where shortages were acute, as in the case of meat and butter, competition has provided its own curbs. And while the possibility that price controls may be reimposed enters into the present picture, this is a reasonable foretaste of what will happen when wartime controls are entirely removed—and that time does not appear far off, because today there is some question whether President Truman will get out of Congress another OPA bill as good as or a little worse than the one he vetoed.

OPA has been dead for thirteen days counting today. The only sustained and voluminous public uproar is for re-institution of rent controls. On that question Congress seems to be in agreement, with few exceptions. In the event the Congress and the Administration is unable to agree on a partial continuance of OPA, it should be easy to get a meeting of minds on rent controls.

But getting back to increases in food costs. There is no denying people worried over them, but when consumers consider they are merely paying what was previously charged, plus the amount of now discontinued government subsidies, the rise is very little more than they paid during the life of the OPA.

As Swift & Company, among other packers, point out, supply and other packers, points out, supply and establish the level at which meat products, for instance, sell. Meat is perishable and must be sold promptly and the American housewife is now once more in a position to say what she is willing and able to pay for meat, butter, etc. Under open market conditions, this is the most important factor that determines the prices of not only meats and livestock, but other commodities.

In the last year the government paid out $1,874,000,000 in money, taxed and borrowed, in food subsidies alone. It also paid out $70,000,000 in copper, lead and zinc subsidies, and $54,000,000 in subsidies for stripper oil wells. That was pretty close to a $2,000,000,000 total. The new OPA provided a $1,000,000,000 in subsidies for the year now starting, so if the OPA is not continued, we'll save a lot of money that we otherwise would spend in subsidies, and this should reflect itself in future income tax payments.

We would prefer a continuance of OPA, but without the rigid controls whose abuse so hampered production, and with a guaranty of its gradual liquidation and a return to a free economy. But whatever fate awaits OPA, and today it appears to be in its death throes, the nation, we have no doubt, will weather all resultant circumstances and survive because ours is a rugged country. It is an abundant land, and we'll probably be able to get what we want for what we can afford to pay, so long as we work and produce.

If scientists are correct in their guess that the weight of the world is 6,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 sextillion tons, Uncle Sam is vindicated of the charge that he only thought the load he was carrying was that heavy.

Overseas Bases May Prove Hard To Get

It is becoming increasingly doubtful whether the United States will be able to obtain the overseas bases which Americans would like to have to safeguard this country against attack in the future. No trouble is anticipated in the Philippines, despite the fact that the islands are now independent because they need the protection of the U. S. as much as the U. S. needs their bases. But several other countries are showing increasing coolness to the idea of letting America retain air fields and bases built during the war.

Iceland is afraid her position may be compromised by the continued presence of American troops on her soil. Portugal is equally reluctant to give the U. S. permanent space in the Azores. The Portuguese would like to have a guarantee of American military support in return for a base.

Arrangements for Pacific bases may be easier to work out. In this case negotiations will be primarily with the British and Australians. Their objectives, in the main, run parallel to those of this country. It should be possible to negotiate a working agreement which would give Uncle Sam space for air fields and naval bases even though sovereignty might remain with these nations.

The United States needs outposts in both the Atlantic and the Pacific far from these shores. And the nation might as well prepare to pay the price, which undoubtedly will be a pledge to defend the countries which provide the land on which these bases are built.

East Indies natural rubber producers want American synthetic plants to quit. This might be all right if there were a guarantee that East Indies producers would not again be forced to quit when they are needed most.

Hot Weather Argument on Shorts

The country should be diverted, in the midst of so much serious-minded argument on political and economic questions, by the new capital argument as to whether it is permissable for a woman to enter the Senate galleries dressed in shorts.

Sergeant-at-arms Wall Doxey says no, though he admits women garbed in slacks. By contrast, Doorkeeper Ralph Roberts of the House, who apparently is not concerned about the dignity of his wing of the capitol does not differentiate between the two costumes.

It will occur to many students of the human family that Mr. Doxey has made his ruling on a tenuous theory, that of assuming that the dress of visitors has any bearing upon the dignity of the Senate, considered either as a body or as a meeting place.

The clothing chosen by the individual for wear at any place or function reflects, favorably or unfavorably, upon the wearer and not upon others—including Senators—who may be present.

There is suspicion that Mr. Dozey's talk of the dignity of the Senate actually reflected his dissatisfaction with the mistaken judgment of some of his feminine visitors that one or the other of the garments named adorned their figures.

While arguing with an umpire a Kansas catcher's chest protector burst into flame. This is a new high in burning indignation.

Leisure for Maturing

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

In one of Paul Valery's very stimulating essays he says: "There were never so many toys! But how many anxieties there are too! Never were there so many fears." This was said nearly ten years ago by the noted French writer. And then later on in his essay he says: "We have lost the leisure for maturing."

After the last World War we left off growing, at least spiritually. We went back to our toys—and invented more of them. And from the play toys we graduated into playing with toys of death. And this has changed all our perspective. It is not power that the people want for themselves, that is, power over others, but power to reconstruct their lives to a simple happy state. And what are they faced with? A world of fears!

Few have learned the leisure for maturing. The mature mind is a thinking mind. In its perfect civil state it is intelligent. It believes in justice to all, and its judgment is for peace among all, whether in the small community, or the world at large. But it neglects to force its mind upon those, in high estate who are its chosen representatives. There is where democracy fails.

Immature minds seek to rule this world, and force its will upon the unwilling and the unthinking. We want what we are unwilling to pay for. But, if someone else wants it more than we, we have to pay anyway, and with all that we are and have. Is it not time, therefore, that we put our house and mind in order and determine upon a way of peace, rather than wait upon the day of judgbent to lose all—even our souls?

Why not take our leisure for maturing spiritually, rather than politically and financially? It will never be old fashioned to love all beauty, to listen to the call of a bird and feel that we are lending our ear to the echo of God's voice. We can even take time out to be kind! And to lend a hand. But let us not barter this precious hour of maturing leisure for a mess of pottage!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Significant Things"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Rep. May Had Many Relatives on Payroll; Congressman Pulled Wires For Profits of Manganese Co.; Army - Navy Legislation Altered to Buy Local Manganese.

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, July 11—Congressman Andy May of Kentucky, godfather of the war profiteers, has had quite a record for sucking on the nepotism bottle. Regardless of what he did or did not receive from the Erie Basin war contractors, at one time the total "take" from government jobs for himself and relatives was around $20,000 annually.

Here is the nepotism score card of the government jobs held at various times by his family:

Mrs. Julia G. May, wife secretary $3,000

Mrs. Bess S. May, daughter-in-law, postmistress of Prestonburg, Ky., May's home town $2,400

Lucille M. Herndon, sister-in-law, clerk in his office $3,300

William May, Jr., nephew, analyst in Louisville office of Federal Land Bank $3,600

In addition, May's son, the late Andrew J. May, Jr., and his nephew, Jack May, were given jobs with the mysterious Cumberland Lumber Co., financed by the Erie Basin company and which May apparently operated.

Note — May received more than $48,000 from the Erie Basin profiteers to set up the lumber company, but when the money was returned by him last April, the Erie people got back only $40,000. Thus, May or someone around him spent or used around $8,000 which is unaccounted for.

— o —

When Congressman May of Kentucky piously beat his breast on the floor of the House and proclaimed his great patriotism and complete innocence regarding war contracts, he failed to tell his gullible colleagues about another deal in which he also tried to make some money.

It so happens that Congressman May is president of the Greenbrier Manganese Mining Co., an outfit which has acquired 7,000 acres of West Virginia low-grade manganese land. Manganese is essential to the smelting of steel, but the deposits found in this country are so poor that Army-Navy experts say it is essential for this country to have a stockpile of imported manganese on hand in case of war. They say we cannot risk being cut off from foreign manganese by submerine.

Congressman May, however, has not always put the interests of his country ahead of the interests of his company in respect to manganese.

Once, prior to the war, when the Navy was planning to accumulate a manganese stockpile, naval officers accused the gentleman from Kentucky of pressuring them to reduce the specifications for manganese to such a low quality that poor-grade domestic manganese could be sold to the Navy, instead of high-grade imported manganese.

This meant, of course, that Mr. May's Greenbrier Manganese Co. would have a chance to sell to the Navy. But it also meant, in the vigorous opinion of naval and Bureau of Mines experts, that the quality of manganese would not be high enough to produce the highest steel so necessary to U. S. battleships.

— o —

Again, in October, 1939, the procurement division of the Treasury awarded a $180,000 contract to May's Greenbrier company for manganese, under very mysterious circumstances. His company was not the lowest bidder, did not put up a performance bond, and did not have any funds with which to operate. An official said that they planned to go to the RFC and borrow the money.

It so happened that May had introduced the Strategic Minerals bill under which manganese was to be stockpiled.

When he was accused of bringing influence to help his company, however, the Congressman issued a pious denial, and said his company would not go through with the contract.

Last chapter in the story of May's great patriotism occurred quite recently when a new postwar bill was before Congress to permit the Army and Navy to stockpile essential materials in case of another war. This bill provided that manganese could be imported by the Army and Navy without paying a tariff.

Suddenly, however, Congressman May, head of the Greenbrier Manganese Co., had the bill withdrawn from the floor of the House after it had already been agreed to by committees of both the House and Senate. He then proceeded to knock out the provision that Army-Navy manganese could be imported duty free.

Naturally, Army-Navy payment of a tariff on manganese would help domestic manganese producers, of which Mr. May is one. Naturally the American taxpayer, whom Mr. May is supposed to represent, thereby stood a greater chance of having money wasted. Mr. May, however, voted not for the public but for his pocketbook.

— o —

Murray Garsson, one of the war-profiteering brothers who enticed Congressman May—some say he wasn't hard to entice—into godfathering the Erie Basin war contracts, has a unique history.

Entirely aside from his FBI record of association with gangster Dutch Schultz, Murray Garsson went out to Hollywood when he was Assistant Secretary of Labor under Hoover. Murray had dabbled in the movies in New York, and conceived the idea of staging a man hunt to scare alien actors who had overstayed their visitors' visas.

Some of the alien actors hurriedly headed for Mexican and Canadian borders. Others, wiser, put matters in the hands of their Hollywood employers. Result: Murray Garsson deported no one.

But when he left Hollywood his daughter had a $250-a-week contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, plus an auto. And after one year had expired, 20th Century-Fox gave her another contract, together with an additional contract for a husband she had acquired in the interim.

Garsson's next appearance on the sacred soil of Hollywood was several years later when he came in the guise of an investigator for a House committee to investigate bondholders, chairmanned by Representative Adolph Sabath of Chicago.

Again there were no prosecutions. But ex-Congressman Ralph Church of Illinois might be able to tell the Mead Committee an interesting story about Garsson's operations, which involved Joe Schenck of 20th Century-Fox and one of his hotels.

Moral: With some people, everything they touch turns to gold—until Senator Mead catches up with them.

— o —

Texas' "Pass-the-biscuits Pappy" O'Daniel was elected to the Senate as a great showman and humorist, but, on the whole, his antics before the Senate over price control were dull. Only once in the pages and pages of debate—paid for by the taxpayer—did he pull a real laugh.

"I am thinking about my children and grandchildren," O'Daniel thundered in reply to a question from Senator Francis Myers of Pennsylvania. "I am thinking about the Senator's children and grandchildren and everyone else's children and grandchildren. I am thinking about unborn generations."

"I cannot boast about my grandchildren," corrected Senator Myers.

"They will come along," rejoined Pappy. "That is another thing that OPA cannot stop."

AN APPEAL TO REASON

Minnesota Primary May Have Made Passage of British Loan Assured

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Did the Minnesota primary election assure the passage of the British loan in the House of Representatives?

Many competent observers in congress think the answer is "yes." They do not argue that the election itself made new votes in the House but that it prevented the wavering and doubting few from voting against the loan.

For several days now it has been recognized on Capitol Hill that the number of on-the-fence votes constituted a balance of power which would be sufficient to defeat the loan bill. Opponents insisted that sentiment through the Middle West was strongly against the loan. The Minnesota election furnished a natural test, because the issue was debated there between two rival candidates for the Republican senatorial nomination. Certainly if ever there was a clear-cut demarcation as between the internationalminded and the so-called isolationist attitude, it was to be found in the Minnesota primary election.

Thye Made Position Clear

Not only did former Governor Thye, who won the nomination, make his position clear in favor of the British loan and international cooperation but he had behind him one of the most outstanding champions of international unity—Harold Stassen, whose views are closely associated in the public mind with those of the late Wendell Willkie.

The decisive victory means much more than an indication to the Republican party in the House of Representatives that the isolationist argument now can be beaten in a world that has been shrunk in size by airpower and improved communications, to say nothing of atomic bombs. It means that the Republican Party can no longer be called isolationist just because a few of its members here and there cling to their pre-war concepts of foreign policy.

The Republican Party in the House of Representatives has an opportunity now to emerge on the roll-call on the British loan bill as a party that does not consider foreign policy a partisan affair.

If the preponderant number of Republicans do vote for the British loan, it will be a sign that the Republican Party is siding not only with former Governor Stassen but with Senator Vandenberg of Michigan and Senator Austin of Vermont, who have succeeded in recent months in doing more to achieve a bi-partisan front in world affairs for the American government than have any other men in the Senate in more than a quarter of a century.

For it was the Republican Party which went "isolationist" after the first world war and many of its strongest spokesmen kept that attitude up to the Pearl Harbor episode, thus making European statesmen doubtful as to what the United States could be expected to do if the terms of the Kellogg peace treaties outlawing war and aggression were violated.

There is no way of being sure what might have happened in Europe if the course of the United States had been as plainly marked out in the '30s as it is today with respect to the preservation of peace in Europe. Such an attitude on our part then might have assisted in strengthening the group of nations who saw Hitler rising but did not dare alone to challenge him.

Republicans Play Constructive Part

In any event, the fact that the Republican Party is playing a constructive part today in keeping foreign policy from becoming a political issue is an important achievement. It means that the Republican Party will not be selecting its next presidential nominee on the basis of foreign policy views but on what might be termed domestic economic policy. The views of Messrs. Stassen and Vandenberg may differ as to domestic issues, but on foreign policy they stand together in upholding the United Nations and such measures as are being proposed to bring about economic stability through the grant of inter-governmental credits.

The Minnesota primary defeated Senator Shipstead, who voted against the United Nations charter and who doubtless felt that the Middlewest would revert to its 1920 point of view. Minnesota proved by its votes that he was wrong. The prestige of the Republican Party has risen immeasurably.

Looking Ahead Into Immediate Future

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., July 12—A book has been written by me and published by Harper & Brothers entitled, "Looking Ahead Fifty Years." In this book, I discuss various subjects, such as the future of investments, the development of new industries, the changes in farming, the outlook for small businesses and the possibility of labor rule.

Numerous readers have written to me saying, "I will be dead and gone in fifty years. Tell me what you expect during the next five years." Of course, this is a more risky thing to do. I, too, will be dead before the end of fifty years, while I hope to be around for the next five years! But here is how I now feel about the immediate future.

Expect Low Interest Rates

I expect continued low interest rates. Hence, since money doubles in fifteen years at 5%, should you not seek 5% interest with reasonable safety rather than speculate even on the "long swings" of the stock market? Of course, you can't pick 5% investments off blueberry bushes. You must take time to hunt them up and find them. Certainly, you should not be satisfied with bonds that pay less than 4% interest unless they are either tax-exempt or convertible.

Days of Mass Unemployment Over

I expect continued employment among the masses or else government aid for them when unemployed. The upper middle-class people and the well-to-do will continue to have their ups-and-downs; executives will again have their salaries reduced and their dividends cut with corresponding declines in stock prices; but the days of mass unemployment are over for many years. The American people are not going to let labor leaders rule them; but the days when employers can be arbitrary are also over. Hence, if the Republicans hope to return to office they must realize that we are living in a new world, whether they like it or not.

No political party can survive another era of low wages. If private industry cannot continue present wages, the government will do so or else provide wage subsidies. Hence, in view of the above, are not the merchandize stocks, the food producers and similar concerns the safest investments? Remember, high wages are to continue.

Real Estate a Prime Investment

I expect a continued demand for properly-located real estate, especially for homes. Next to food and clothing, reasonably-priced homes should continue as a prime investment. Hence, I believe that your first investment should be in a home and enough fertile land for a "kitchen garden." Houses depreciate, but well-located land should appreciate.

Try to avoid large cities, especially on the coast. Unless a great spiritual awakening occurs, the chances are that World War III will come, when some of our large cities will be totally destroyed.

Inventories vs. Municipal Bonds

I expect that money invested in inventories, good stocks and homes will continue safe when many municipal bonds may be in default. This situation now exists in Mexico, which is our nearest neighbor, and in most of the Latin-American countries. England is destined to follow suit as well as other countries.

We have already seen many municipal bonds of Southern cities default and sell for 20 cents on the dollar, while the sales of the Chain Stores in these same cities held up. Hence, are government and municipal bonds a truly prime investment? May not certain merchandizing and other stocks be safer in an emergency?

Conclusion

Diversification is of great importance, but such should be applied geographically as well as industrially. Above all, should not our investments in coastal cities, subject to bombing, be very limited? This does not mean there will be another war in five years, but it does mean that within five years people will become war-conscious and begin to readjust and reallocate their securities and real estate holdings. This readjustment process could greatly affect prices. Settle in a small interior city and buy securities with assets in such cities.

"IT SAYS HERE"

By Bob Hope

Atlanta, Ga., July 11—We flew into Atlanta from Mobile and to get under the weather we were really flying low. When we landed I got off and scraped three bales of cotton off the propellers. I got a wonderful Southern welcome at the airport. The Mayor met me carrying a big bottle in a bucket of cracked ice. How the crowd cheered when I pulled out the cork and poured a glassful of sparkling hominy grits. You know what hominy grits are — that's Confederate corn flakes. It took quite a while to get my baggage unloaded. I'm traveling with twelve trunks.

Twelve trunks . . . in this hot weather I figure you can't have too much underwear. Going to the hotel we drove up Atlanta's famous Peachtree Street and we passed plenty of peaches . . . but they wouldn't let me stop to do any picking. These Georgia girls are really pretty and they talk so slow, it's wonderful. When you ask one of them out to dinner by the time she finishes saying whether she'll go or not the waiter is bringing dessert.

They grow a lotta peanuts around here and I gave them a great idea my brother had for improving the crop. He plants the seeds in a piece of Scotch tape and when the peanuts come up they're already in the little cellophane bag. We did an evening show here in a ball park and had a real baseball atmosphere. All thru the show I was up front pitching and afterwards the audience came back stage swinging. However, I'm glad we were able to get to Atlanta. I promised Nelson Eddy I'd see if I could pick him up some shortenin' bread wholesale.

Prices Less Control And Their Result

We have passed through the first period without price controls. The experience has been, in many respects, a salutary one for both Congress and the public. It has given a clearer and saner idea of what may be expected, when all controls are off, than can be gained from the fierce and highly emotional debate which has been raging over OPA.

Summing up the results, several things stand out. One is that manufacturers and retailers generally have shown a great deal more good sense and self-restraint than the advocates of OPA have been willing to give them credit for. Prices of manufactured goods have held a relatively steady line.

On certain basic commodities, such as milk and meat, price increases followed immediately upon the end of price control. In the case of milk, the rise reflected the elimination of subsidies under the old law—which, incidentally, were paid by the public in the form of taxes. The advance in meat prices is what usually happens in a free market when any commodity is scarce. But the nation has already seen the virtual disappearance of the meat black market and the return of meat products to the butcher shops at lower than black market prices, but as in the case of milk, with the amount of subsidies—hidden taxes—added.

There have been price increases, which in the very nature of things should bring higher production with consequently lower prices later, but there has been little to sustain the dire prediction that the end of controls would set off wild inflation. In every instance except where shortages were acute, as in the case of meat and butter, competition has provided its own curbs. And while the possibility that price controls may be reimposed enters into the present picture, this is a reasonable foretaste of what will happen when wartime controls are entirely removed—and that time does not appear far off, because today there is some question whether President Truman will get out of Congress another OPA bill as good as or a little worse than the one he vetoed.

OPA has been dead for thirteen days counting today. The only sustained and voluminous public uproar is for re-institution of rent controls. On that question Congress seems to be in agreement, with few exceptions. In the event the Congress and the Administration is unable to agree on a partial continuance of OPA, it should be easy to get a meeting of minds on rent controls.

But getting back to increases in food costs. There is no denying people worried over them, but when consumers consider they are merely paying what was previously charged, plus the amount of now discontinued government subsidies, the rise is very little more than they paid during the life of the OPA.

As Swift & Company, among other packers, point out, supply and establish the level at which meat products, for instance, sell. Meat is perishable and must be sold promptly and the American housewife is now once more in a position to say what she is willing and able to pay for meat, butter, etc. Under open market conditions, this is the most important factor that determines the prices of not only meats and livestock, but other commodities.

In the last year the government paid out $1,874,000,000 in money, taxed and borrowed, in food subsidies alone. It also paid out $70,000,000 in copper, lead and zinc subsidies, and $54,000,000 in subsidies for stripper oil wells. That was pretty close to a $2,000,000,000 total. The new OPA provided a $1,000,000,000 in subsidies for the year now starting, so if the OPA is not continued, we'll save a lot of money that we otherwise would spend in subsidies, and this should reflect itself in future income tax payments.

We would prefer a continuance of OPA, but without the rigid controls whose abuse so hampered production, and with a guaranty of its gradual liquidation and a return to a free economy. But whatever fate awaits OPA, and today it appears to be in its death throes, the nation we have no doubt, will weather all resultant circumstances and survive because ours is a rugged country. It is an abundant land, and we'll probably be able to get what we want for what we can afford to pay, so long as we work and produce.

If scientists are correct in their guess that the weight of the world is 6,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 sextillion tons, Uncle Sam is vindicated of the charge that he only thought the load he was carrying was that heavy.

Overseas Bases May Prove Hard To Get

It is becoming increasingly doubtful whether the United States will be able to obtain the overseas bases which Americans would like to have to safeguard this country against attack in the future. No trouble is anticipated in the Philippines, despite the fact that the islands are now independent because they need the protection of the U. S. as much as the U. S. needs their bases. But several other countries are showing increasing coolness to the idea of letting America retain air fields and bases built during the war.

Iceland is afraid her position may be compromised by the continued presence of American troops on her soil. Portugal is equally reluctant to give the U. S. permanent space in the Azores. The Portuguese would like to have a guarantee of American military support in return for a base.

Arrangements for Pacific bases may be easier to work out. In this case negotiations will be primarily with the British and Australians. Their objectives, in the main, run parallel to those of this country. It should be possible to negotiate a working agreement which would give Uncle Sam space for air fields and naval bases even though sovereignty might remain with these nations.

The United States needs outposts in both the Atlantic and the Pacific far from these shores. And the nation might as well prepare to pay the price, which undoubtedly will be a pledge to defend the countries which provide the land on which these bases are built.

East Indies natural rubber producers want American synthetic plants to quit. This might be all right if there were a guarantee that East Indies producers would not again be forced to quit when they are needed most.

Hot Weather Argument on Shorts

The country should be diverted, in the midst of so much serious-minded argument on political and economic questions, by the new capital argument as to whether it is permissable for a woman to enter the Senate galleries dressed in shorts.

Sergeant-at-arms Wall Doxey says no, though he admits women garbed in slacks. By contrast, Doorkeeper Ralph Roberts of the House, who apparently is not concerned about the dignity of his wing of the capitol does not differentiate between the two costumes.

It will occur to many students of the human family that Mr. Doxey has made his ruling on a tenuous theory, that of assuming that the dress of visitors has any bearing upon the dignity of the Senate, considered either as a body or as a meeting place.

The clothing chosen by the individual for wear at any place or function reflects, favorably or unfavorably, upon the wearer and not upon others—including Senators—who may be present.

There is suspicion that Mr. Doxey's talk of the dignity of the Senate actually reflected his dissatisfaction with the mistaken judgment of some of his feminine visitors that one or the other of the garments named adorned their figures.

While arguing with an umpire a Kansas catcher's chest protector burst into flame. This is a new high in burning indignation.

Leisure for Maturing

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

In one of Paul Valery's very stimulating essays he says: "There were never so many toys! But how many anxieties there are too! Never were there so many fears." This was said nearly ten years ago by the noted French writer. And then later on in his essay he says: "We have lost the leisure for maturing."

After the last World War we left off growing, at least spiritually. We went back to our toys—and invented more of them. And from the play toys we graduated into playing with toys of death. And this has changed all our perspective. It is not power that the people want for themselves, that is, power over others, but power to reconstruct their lives to a simple happy state. And what are they faced with? A world of fears!

Few have learned the leisure for maturing. The mature mind is a thinking mind. In its perfect civil state it is intelligent. It believes in justice to all, and its judgment is for peace among all, whether in the small community, or the world at large. But it neglects to force its mind upon those, in high estate who are its chosen representatives. There is where democracy fails.

Immature minds seek to rule this world, and force its will upon the unwilling and the unthinking. We want what we are unwilling to pay for. But, if someone else wants it more than we, we have to pay anyway, and with all that we are and have. Is it not time, therefore, that we put our house and mind in order and determine upon a way of peace, rather than wait upon the day of judgment to lose all—even our souls?

Why not take our leisure for maturing spiritually, rather than politically and financially? It will never be old fashioned to love all beauty, to listen to the call of a bird and feel that we are lending our ear to the echo of God's voice. We can even take time out to be kind! And to lend a hand. But let us not barter this precious hour of maturing leisure for a mess of pottage!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Significant Things"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Rep. May Had Many Relatives on Payroll; Congressman Pulled Wires For Profits of Manganese Co.; Army - Navy Legislation Altered to Buy Local Manganese.

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, July 11—Congressman Andy May of Kentucky, godfather of the war profiteers, has had quite a record for sucking on the nepotism bottle. Regardless of what he did or did not receive from the Erie Basin war contractors, at one time the total "take" from government jobs for himself and relatives was around $20,000 annually.

Here is the nepotism score card of the government jobs held at various times by his family:

Mrs. Julia G. May, wife secretary $3,000
Mrs. Bess S. May, daughter-in-law, postmistress of Prestonburg, Ky., May's home town $2,400
Lucille M. Herndon, sister-in-law, clerk in his office $3,300
William May, Jr., nephew, analyst in Louisville office of Federal Land Bank $3,800

In addition, May's son, the late Andrew J. May, Jr., and his nephew, Jack May, were given jobs with the mysterious Cumberland Lumber Co., financed by the Erie Basin company and which May apparently operated.

Note — May received more than $48,000 from the Erie Basin profiteers to set up the lumber company, but when the money was returned by him last April, the Erie people got back only $40,000. Thus, May or someone around him spent or used around $8,000 which is unaccounted for.

—o—

When Congressman May of Kentucky piously beat his breast on the floor of the House and proclaimed his great patriotism and complete innocence regarding war contracts, he failed to tell his gullible colleagues about another deal in which he also tried to make some money.

It so happens that Congressman May is president of the Greenbrier Manganese Mining Co., an outfit which has acquired 7,000 acres of West Virginia low-grade manganese land. Manganese is essential to the smelting of steel, but the deposits found in this country are so poor that Army-Navy experts say it is essential for this country to have a stockpile of imported manganese on hand in case of war. They say we cannot risk being cut off from foreign manganese by submarine.

Congressman May, however, has not always put the interests of his country ahead of the interests of his company in respect to manganese.

Once, prior to the war, when the Navy was planning to accumulate a manganese stockpile, naval officers accused the gentleman from Kentucky of pressuring them to reduce the specifications for manganese to such a low quality that poor-grade domestic manganese could be sold to the Navy, instead of high-grade imported manganese.

This meant, of course, that Mr. May's Greenbrier Manganese Co. would have a chance to sell to the Navy. But it also meant, in the vigorous opinion of naval and Bureau of Mines experts, that the quality of manganese would not be high enough to produce the high-test steel so necessary to U. S. battleships.

—o—

Again, in October, 1939, the procurement division of the Treasury awarded a $180,000 contract to May's Greenbrier company for manganese, under very mysterious circumstances. His company was not the lowest bidder, did not put up a performance bond, and did not have any funds with which to operate. An official said that they planned to go to the RFC and borrow the money.

It so happened that May had introduced the Strategic Minerals bill under which manganese was to be stockpiled.

When he was accused of bringing influence to help his company, however, the Congressman issued a pious denial, and said his company would not go through with the contract.

Last chapter in the story of May's great patriotism occurred quite recently when a new postwar bill was before Congress to permit the Army and Navy to stockpile essential materials in case of another war. This bill provided that manganese could be imported by the Army and Navy without paying a tariff.

Suddenly, however, Congressman May, head of the Greenbrier Manganese Co., had the bill withdrawn from the floor of the House after it had already been agreed to by committees of both the House and Senate. He then proceeded to knock out the provision that Army-Navy manganese could be imported duty free.

Naturally, Army-Navy payment of a tariff on manganese would help domestic manganese producers, of which Mr. May is one. Naturally the American taxpayer, whom Mr. May is supposed to represent, thereby stood a greater chance of having money wasted. Mr. May, however, voted not for the public but for his pocketbook.

—o—

Murray Garsson, one of the war-profiteering brothers who enticed Congressman May—some say he wasn't hard to entice—into godfathering the Erie Basin war contracts, has a unique history.

Entirely aside from his FBI record of association with gangster Dutch Schultz, Murray Garsson went out to Hollywood when he was Assistant Secretary of Labor under Hoover. Murray had dabbled in the movies in New York, and conceived the idea of staging a man hunt to scare alien actors who had overstayed their visitors' visas.

Some of the alien actors hurriedly headed for Mexican and Canadian borders. Others, wiser, put matters in the hands of their Hollywood employers. Result: Murray Garsson deported no one.

But when he left Hollywood his daughter had a $250-a-week contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, plus an auto. And after one year had expired, 20th Century-Fox gave her another contract, together with an additional contract for a husband she had acquired in the interim.

Garsson's next appearance on the sacred soil of Hollywood was several years later when he came in the guise of an investigator for a House committee to investigate bondholders, chairmanned by Representative Adolph Sabath of Chicago.

Again there were no prosecutions. But ex-Congressman Ralph Church of Illinois might be able to tell the Mead Committee an interesting story about Garsson's operations, which involved Joe Schenck of 20th Century-Fox and one of his hotels.

Moral: With some people, everything they touch turns to gold—until Senator Mead catches up with them.

—o—

Texas' "Pass-the-biscuits Pappy" O'Daniel was elected to the Senate as a great showman and humorist, but, on the whole, his antics before the Senate over price control were dull. Only once in the pages and pages of debate—paid for by the taxpayer—did he pull a real laugh.

"I am thinking about my children and grandchildren," O'Daniel thundered in reply to a question from Senator Francis Myers of Pennsylvania. "I am thinking about the Senator's children and grandchildren and everyone else's children and grandchildren. I am thinking about unborn generations."

"I cannot boast about my grandchildren," corrected Senator Myers.

"They will come along," rejoined Pappy. "That is another thing that OPA cannot stop."

AN APPEAL TO REASON

Minnesota Primary May Have Made Passage of British Loan Assured

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Did the Minnesota primary election assure the passage of the British loan in the House of Representatives?

Many competent observers in congress think the answer is "yes." They do not argue that the election itself made new votes in the House but that it prevented the wavering and doubting few from voting against the loan.

For several days now it has been recognized on Capitol Hill that the number of on-the-fence votes constituted a balance of power which would be sufficient to defeat the loan bill. Opponents insisted that sentiment through the Middle West was strongly against the loan. The Minnesota election furnished a natural test, because the issue was debated there between two rival candidates for the Republican senatorial nomination. Certainly if ever there was a clear-cut demarcation as between the internationalminded and the so-called isolationist attitude, it was to be found in the Minnesota primary election.

Thye Made Position Clear

Not only did former Governor Thye, who won the nomination, make his position clear in favor of the British loan and international cooperation but he had behind him one of the most outstanding champions of international unity—Harold Stassen, whose views are closely associated in the public mind with those of the late Wendell Willkie.

The decisive victory means much more than an indication to the Republican party in the House of Representatives that the isolationist argument now can be beaten in a world that has been shrunk in size by airpower and improved communications, to say nothing of atomic bombs. It means that the Republican Party can no longer be called isolationist just because a few of its members here and there cling to their pre-war concepts of foreign policy.

The Republican Party in the House of Representatives has an opportunity now to emerge on the roll-call on the British loan bill as a party that does not consider foreign policy a partisan affair.

If the preponderant number of Republicans do vote for the British loan, it will be a sign that the Republican Party is siding not only with former Governor Stassen but with Senator Vandenberg of Michigan and Senator Austin of Vermont, who have succeeded in recent months in doing more to achieve a bi-partisan front in world affairs for the American government than have any other men in the Senate in more than a quarter of a century.

For it was the Republican Party which went "isolationist" after the first world war and many of its strongest spokesmen kept that attitude up to the Pearl Harbor episode, thus making European statesmen doubtful as to what the United States could be expected to do if the terms of the Kellogg peace treaties outlawing war and aggression were violated.

There is no way of being sure what might have happened in Europe if the course of the United States had been as plainly marked out in the '30s as it is today with respect to the preservation of peace in Europe. Such an attitude on our part then might have assisted in strengthening the group of nations who saw Hitler rising but did not dare alone to challenge him.

Republicans Play Constructive Part

In any event, the fact that the Republican Party is playing a constructive part today in keeping foreign policy from becoming a political issue is an important achievement. It means that the Republican Party will not be selecting its next presidential nominee on the basis of foreign policy views but on what might be termed domestic economic policy. The views of Messrs. Stassen and Vandenberg may differ as to domestic issues, but on foreign policy they stand together in upholding the United Nations and such measures as are being proposed to bring about economic stability through the grant of inter-governmental credits.

The Minnesota primary defeated Senator Shipstead, who voted against the United Nations charter and who doubtless felt that the Middlewest would revert to its 1920 point of view. Minnesota proved by its votes that he was wrong. The prestige of the Republican Party has risen immeasurably.

Looking Ahead Into Immediate Future

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., July 12—A book has been written by me and published by Harper & Brothers entitled, "Looking Ahead Fifty Years." In this book, I discuss various subjects, such as the future of investments, the development of new industries, the changes in farming, the outlook for small businesses and the possibility of labor rule.

Numerous readers have written to me saying, "I will be dead and gone in fifty years. Tell me what you expect during the next five years." Of course, this is a more risky thing to do. I, too, will be dead before the end of fifty years, while I hope to be around for the next five years! But here is how I now feel about the immediate future.

Expect Low Interest Rates

I expect continued low interest rates. Hence, since money doubles in fifteen years at 5%, should you not seek 5% interest with reasonable safety rather than speculate even on the "long swings" of the stock market? Of course, you can't pick 5% investments off blueberry bushes. You must take time to hunt them up and find them. Certainly, you should not be satisfied with bonds that pay less than 4% interest unless they are either tax-exempt or convertible.

Days of Mass Unemployment Over

I expect continued employment among the masses or else government aid for them when unemployed. The upper middle-class people and the well-to-do will continue to have their ups-and-downs; executives will again have their salaries reduced and their dividends cut with corresponding declines in stock prices; but the days of mass unemployment are over for many years. The American people are not going to let labor leaders rule them; but the days when employers can be arbitrary are also over. Hence, if the Republicans hope to return to office they must realize that we are living in a new world, whether they like it or not.

No political party can survive another era of low wages. If private industry cannot continue present wages, the government will do so or else provide wage subsidies. Hence, in view of the above, are not the merchandize stocks, the food producers and similar concerns the safest investments? Remember, high wages are to continue.

Real Estate a Prime Investment

I expect a continued demand for properly-located real estate, especially for homes. Next to food and clothing, reasonably-priced homes should continue as a prime investment. Hence, I believe that your first investment should be in a home and enough fertile land for a "kitchen garden." Houses depreciate, but well-located land should appreciate.

Try to avoid large cities, especially on the coast. Unless a great spiritual awakening occurs, the chances are that World War III will come, when some of our large cities will be totally destroyed.

Inventories vs. Municipal Bonds

I expect that money invested in inventories, good stocks and homes will continue safe when many municipal bonds may be in default. This situation now exists in Mexico, which is our nearest neighbor, and in most of the Latin-American countries. England is destined to follow suit as well as other countries.

We have already seen many municipal bonds of Southern cities default and sell for 20 cents on the dollar, while the sales of the Chain Stores in these same cities held up. Hence, are government and municipal bonds a truly prime investment? May not certain merchandizing and other stocks be safer in an emergency?

Conclusion

Diversification is of great importance, but such should be applied geographically as well as industrially. Above all, should not our investments in coastal cities, subject to bombing, be very limited? This does not mean there will be another war in five years, but it does mean that within five years people will become war-conscious and begin to readjust and reallocate their securities and real estate holdings. This readjustment process could greatly affect prices. Settle in a small interior city and buy securities with assets in such cities.

"IT SAYS HERE" By Bob Hope

Atlanta, Ga., July 11—We flew into Atlanta from Mobile and to get under the weather we were really flying low. When we landed I got off and scraped three bales of cotton off the propellers. I got a wonderful Southern welcome at the airport. The Mayor met me carrying a big bottle in a bucket of cracked ice. How the crowd cheered when I pulled out the cork and poured a glassful of sparkling hominy grits. You know what hominy grits are — that's Confederate corn flakes. It took quite a while to get my baggage unloaded. I'm traveling with twelve trunks.

Twelve trunks . . . in this hot weather I figure you can't have too much underwear. Going to the hotel we drove up Atlanta's famous Peachtree Street and we passed plenty of peaches . . . but they wouldn't let me stop to do any picking. These Georgia girls are really pretty and they talk so slow, it's wonderful. When you ask one of them out to dinner by the time she finishes saying whether she'll go or not the waiter is bringing dessert.

They grow a lotta peanuts around here and I gave them a great idea my brother had for improving the crop. He plants the seeds in a piece of Scotch tape and when the peanuts come up they're already in the little cellophane bag. We did an evening show here in a ball park and had a real baseball atmosphere. All thru the show I was up front pitching and afterwards the audience came back stage swinging. However, I'm glad we were able to get to Atlanta. I promised Nelson Eddy I'd see if I could pick him up some shortenin' bread wholesale.

John M. Robb Plans To Resume Law Practice Here

John M. Robb, nephew of the late Judge David A. Robb, who practiced law in Baltimore before his entry into the armed forces, has announced that he will open an office at 19 Washington street.

Robb, who grew up in Allegany county, is a graduate of the University of Maryland Law school. Following his graduation in 1939, he practiced law in Cumberland for nine months, having an office in the Liberty Trust building, and then went to Baltimore where he was associated with Employer's Group.

Robb served as a technical sergeant in the army and was attached to the judge advocate's staff in India. His service in the CBI theater included nine months at Delhi and a year at Assam. He was discharged from the service May 14, 1946.

He is married and has one daughter. The family is looking for a place to live in Cumberland.

Six Men Enlist For Army Service

Six men enlisted in the army at the local recruiting station Wednesday, according to Capt. N. S. P. Stitt, in charge of recruiting in this area.

Robert Claude Mattingly, 18, of 15 N. Chase street, enlisted for 18 months unassigned.

Her bridal party will include Miss Virginia Oswald, as maid of honor; Miss Fannie Roberts Wilson, Miss Mary Ryan Prendergast, Miss Anna Prendergast and Miss June Alday, bridesmaids; Nancy Jones and Adela Jane Roberts, flowergirls.

S. Lua Sykes, Jr., will serve as his brother's best man and the ushers will be Hume Annan, Robert E. Barnard, Jr., Lester Boden and Frederick H. Roberts.

Miss Mary Ryan Prendergast, Miss Anna Prendergast and Miss Dorothy Prendergast will entertain with an informal buffet supper at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening at their home, 511 Washington street. An all white color scheme will carry out the bridal motif in the decorations.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank M. Wilson will be hosts, to members of the wedding party and immediate families, at a buffet supper preceding the wedding rehearsal, Wednesday evening. It will be held at their home, 654 Washington street, and the bridal motif will be combined with a rainbow color scheme in the decoratoins with flowers and candles. The bride's attendants will be attired in pastel colored gowns for the wedding, which will be held at 8:30 the following evening in Emmanuel Episcopal church, with the Rev. David C. Watson officiating.

Mrs. Bradford will entertain in honor of her daughter and her bridal party with a wedding reception, at her home following the ceremony.

Mrs. Howard H. Dickey and Miss Nancy Taylor were hostesses at a buffet supper and miscellaneous shower, honoring the bride-elect, last night at their home, 218 Washington street. A pink and white color scheme was carried out in the decorations of the table, which was centered with a bowl of snapdragons. They were assisted in serving by Miss Fannie Wilson and Miss Virginia Oswald. Thirteen guests attended.

Wednesday afternoon Miss Edith Ann Doolittle and Miss Catherine MacMannis entertained with a tea at the latter's home, MacDonald terrace. Mrs. H. A. MacMannis presided at the punch bowl and was assisted in serving by Mrs. Clarence Doolittle. Bouquets of summer flowers elaborately decorated the house and were also used on the tea table.

A miscellaneous shower was given by Miss June Alday and Miss Sue Kamens, Tuesday night at the former's home, Fayette street. A pink color scheme was carried out in the umbrella and shower streamers covering the gifts. It was also used in the flowers and tapers decorating the refreshment table.

Mrs. Robert E. Barnard, Sr., was hostess at a kitchen shower honoring her niece, Monday night, at her home in The Dingle. A large clothes basket, decorated in pink and white, held the gifts, and the same colors were used in the flowers and candles centering the buffet supper table.

Miss Bradford will entertain her bridal attendants at an informal luncheon Saturday at 1 o'clock at the Cumberland Country Club.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

By DOROTHY MANNERS

HOLLYWOOD, July 11—June Haver is directly responsible for snagging the first male dancing star for 20th Century-Fox. This company has had its Grables and Fayes, but never an Astaire, a Gene Kelly or a George Murphy. Now June is taking the bows for discovering Gene Nelson who is expected to twirl his way to fame opposite her in "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now." Even producer George Jessel is doing a rave about this boy who is 24 years old, six feet tall, blonde and a terrific looker as well as hoofer.

Gene was originally a dancing skater performing in Sonja Henie's ice revue both here and in New York. During the war he was in the service and toured with "This Is The Army." Oddly enough, 20th signed him to a contract last February and promptly forgot him until June saw him doing a specialty number on a deserted rehearsal

Officers during the organization period were Mrs. Lloyd Buchanan, Mrs. Reddy, and Mrs. Fred Burton.

New members accepted were Mrs. Wallace French, Mrs. Thomas Caldwell, Mrs. John W. Rollins, Jr., Mrs. Charles B. Chandler, Jr., Mrs. Donald H. Black and Mrs. Kenneth Espey. A social hour concluded the evening and prizes were won by Mrs. Marling, Mrs. Ivan Hall, Mrs. French and Mrs. Hanson Willison.

Dance To Be Tonight

The LaVale Teen Age Club will conclude activities for the summer with a dance and recreation this evening at the fire hall. Arty Brill's orchestra will play from 8:30 until 11:30.

National B and P Women Sponsor Women In Politics

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs passed unanimously a resolution to endorse and work for the election and appointment of qualified women to local, state, national and international government posts, in an unprecedented move, at the opening session of the eighth biennial convention of the federation being held in Cleveland this week.

The resolution, introduced by Miss Margaret A. Hickey, St. Louis, president, is termed the most far reaching and specific of its kind ever passed by a woman's organization and augurs an active participation in the nation's political life, as urged by Miss Hickey in her keynote address.

Miss Hickey called on the women for vision and courage, supplemented by training, to share with men the responsibility for guilding the world out of its present confusion and disillusionment.

Asserting that "the right to vote is a hollow thing unless used, she urged that more women actively enter national political life. "The indirect approach, study classes, forums, discussion groups, letter writing to Congress, as practiced by women's organizations today, is totally inadequate," she said. "The time has come for women to clean up 'smelly kitchen politics'," the speaker declared.

Welfare Resolution Debated

The social welfare resolution, recommended last winter as an addition to the federation's platform, was defeated at a closed meeting of the legislative, public affairs and health committees and placed before the convention assembly for rejection.

Another legislative item, a provision to retain women's units as permanent branches of the military service, was overwhelmingly approved. A program to build equal opportunity and equal rights for women all over the world was urged by Mme. Marcelle Kraemer-Bach, France; Dr. Lena Madesin Phillips, New York, International president; and Mrs. Gina Gardner, Great Britain, secretary to a member of the legal staff of the United Nations.

Robert R. Wason, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, warned that, "unless equality between ownership and management on one side and labor unions on the other is restored by Congress economic anarchy will increase in America."

"Labor unions have become a supergovernment, with the administration in Washington running union errands, apologizing for their messes, forgiving their assaults on the welfare of the public, condoning their violence, and in payment receiving power from labor union votes," Wason asserted.

Calling wage increases without equivalent production of goods and removal of price controls a fundamental cause of inflation and an obvious sell-out to labor unions for votes, the speaker declared, "None of us regret labor's gains, but all of us are paying for concessions sold to labor by a subservient government. The costs are yet to be paid for by all Americans, including labor."

Miss Anna Nicht, president of the Cumberland club, attended the presidents luncheon Tuesday; and all four members, Miss Nan Livingston, Miss Theresa Nicht, Miss Kay Keenan and the president, attended the International Federation luncheon, Wednesday and Public Relations luncheon yesterday.

Hugo Keller is chairman of the committee of arrangements and is being assisted by Miss Betty Davis, John Vocke, Ralph Balch, Louis Amato, William Cramer, Jr., Thomas Waller and Gray Ward.

Miss Eleanor Bradford Is Honored With Many Parties

Her bridal party will include Miss Virginia Oswald, as maid of honor; Miss Fannie Roberts Wilson, Miss Mary Ryan Prendergast, Miss Anna Prendergast and Miss June Alday, bridesmaids; Nancy Jones and Adela Jane Roberts, flowergirls.

S. Lua Syckes, Jr., will serve as his brother's best man and the ushers will be Hume Annan, Robert E. Barnard, Jr., Lester Boden and Frederick H. Roberts.

Miss Mary Ryan Prendergast, Miss Anna Prendergast and Miss Dorothy Prendergast will entertain with an informal buffet supper at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening at their home, 511 Washington street. An all white color scheme will carry out the bridal motif in the decorations.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank M. Wilson will be hosts, to members of the wedding party and immediate families, at a buffet supper preceding the wedding rehearsal, Wednesday evening. It will be held at their home, 654 Washington street, and the bridal motif will be combined with a rainbow color scheme in the decoratoins with flowers and candles. The bride's attendants will be attired in pastel colored gowns for the wedding, which will be held at 8:30 the following evening in Emmanuel Episcopal church, with the Rev. David C. Watson officiating.

Mrs. Bradford will entertain in honor of her daughter and her bridal party with a wedding reception, at her home following the ceremony.

Mrs. Howard H. Dickey and Miss Nancy Taylor were hostesses at a buffet supper and miscellaneous shower, honoring the bride-elect, last night at their home, 218 Washington street. A pink and white color scheme was carried out in the decorations of the table, which was centered with a bowl of snapdragons. They were assisted in serving by Miss Fannie Wilson and Miss Virginia Oswald. Thirteen guests attended.

Wednesday afternoon Miss Edith Ann Doolittle and Miss Catherine MacMannis entertained with a tea at the latter's home, MacDonald terrace. Mrs. H. A. MacMannis presided at the punch bowl and was assisted in serving by Mrs. Clarence Doolittle. Bouquets of summer flowers elaborately decorated the house and were also used on the tea table.

A miscellaneous shower was given by Miss June Alday and Miss Sue Kamens, Tuesday night at the former's home, Fayette street. A pink color scheme was carried out in the umbrella and shower streamers covering the gifts. It was also used in the flowers and tapers decorating the refreshment table.

Mrs. Robert E. Barnard, Sr., was hostess at a kitchen shower honoring her niece, Monday night, at her home in The Dingle. A large clothes basket, decorated in pink and white, held the gifts, and the same colors were used in the flowers and candles centering the buffet supper table.

Miss Bradford will entertain her bridal attendants at an informal luncheon Saturday at 1 o'clock at the Cumberland Country Club.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

By DOROTHY MANNERS

HOLLYWOOD, July 11—June Haver is directly responsible for snagging the first male dancing star for 20th Century-Fox. This company has had its Crables and Fayes, but never an Astaire, a Gene Kelly or a George Murphy. Now June is taking the bows for discovering Gene Nelson who is expected to twirl his way to fame opposite her in "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now." Even producer George Jessel is doing a rave about this boy who is 24 years old, six feet tall, blonde and a terrific looker as well as hoofer.

Gene was originally a dancing skater performing in Sonja Henie's ice revue both here and in New York. During the war he was in the service and toured with "This Is The Army." Oddly enough, 20th signed him to a contract last February and promptly forgot him until June saw him doing a specialty number on a deserted rehearsal

Mrs. Dermot Reddy Heads Newcomers Club

The Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club was organized receiving its charter Wednesday evening at the YMCA and elected officers. They include Mrs. Dermot Reddy, president; Mrs. William Luman, vice president; Mrs. Charles New, secretary and Mrs. Stewart Terry, treasurer.

A discussion was held on adopting a family in one of the Axis invaded countries as the club's project for the year; and plans were formulated for a dinner at 7 o'clock, August 14, at the Shrine country club, with Mrs. John B. Marling in charge.

Officers during the organization period were Mrs. Lloyd Buchanan, Mrs. Reddy, and Mrs. Fred Burton.

New members accepted were Mrs. Wallace French, Mrs. Thomas Caldwell, Mrs. John W. Rollins, Jr., Mrs. Charles B. Chandler, Jr., Mrs. Donald H. Black and Mrs. Kenneth Espey. A social hour concluded the evening and prizes were won by Mrs. Marling, Mrs. Ivan Hall, Mrs. French and Mrs. Hanson Willison.

Dance To Be Tonight

The LaVale Teen Age Club will conclude activities for the summer with a dance and recreation this evening at the fire hall. Arty Brill's orchestra will play from 8:30 until 11:30.

National B and P Women Sponsor Women In Politics

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs passed unanimously a resolution to endorse and work for the election and appointment of qualified women to local, state, national and international government posts, in an unprecedented move, at the opening session of the eighth biennial convention of the federation being held in Cleveland this week.

The resolution, introduced by Miss Margaret A. Hickey, St. Louis, president, is termed the most far reaching and specific of its kind ever passed by a woman's organization and augurs an active participation in the nation's political life, as urged by Miss Hickey in her keynote address.

Miss Hickey called on the women for vision and courage, supplemented by training, to share with men the responsibility for guilding the world out of its present confusion and disillusionment.

Asserting that "the right to vote is a hollow thing unless used, she urged that more women actively enter national political life. "The indirect approach, study classes, forums, discussion groups, letter writing to Congress, as practiced by women's organizations today, is totally inadequate," she said. "The time has come for women to clean up 'smelly kitchen politics'," the speaker declared.

Welfare Resolution Debated

The social welfare resolution, recommended last winter as an addition to the federation's platform, was defeated at a closed meeting of the legislative, public affairs and health committees and placed before the convention assembly for rejection.

Another legislative item, a provision to retain women's units as permanent branches of the military service, was overwhelmingly approved. A program to build equal opportunity and equal rights for women all over the world was urged by Mme. Marcelle Kraemer-Bach, France; Dr. Lena Madesin Phillips, New York, International president; and Mrs. Gina Gardner, Great Britain, secretary to a member of the legal staff of the United Nations.

Robert R. Wason, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, warned that, "unless equality between ownership and management on one side and labor unions on the other is restored by Congress economic anarchy will increase in America."

"Labor unions have become a supergovernment, with the administration in Washington running union errands, apologizing for their messes, forgiving their assaults on the welfare of the public, condoning their violence, and in payment receiving power from labor union votes," Wason asserted.

Calling wage increases without equivalent production of goods and removal of price controls a fundamental cause of inflation and an obvious sell-out to labor unions for votes, the speaker declared, "None of us regret labor's gains, but all of us are paying for concessions sold to labor by a subservient government. The costs are yet to be paid for by all Americans, including labor."

Miss Anna Nicht, president of the Cumberland club, attended the presidents luncheon Tuesday; and all four members, Miss Nan Livingston, Miss Theresa Nicht, Miss Kay Keenan and the president, attended the International Federation luncheon, Wednesday and Public Relations luncheon yesterday.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

SHOULD THEY GO TO COLLEGE?

Comes now the annual row about Junior's college education with Dad vetoing the matter from every angle and Mom furiously insisting that civilized families always send their children to college.

Junior himself, aged 18, frankly admits that he doesn't care a hoot about the educational advantages. Doesn't he know what he wants to be in life? Hasn't he developed a leaning toward any special profession? No, he doesn't and he hasn't and he doesn't intend to start trying. But sports? That's different! A guy hasn't really lived unless he's won his letter. That's the first thing people ask—what sports you went in for.

And your frat. You simply gotta belong to some frat. Why, you've no more rating than the village idiot unless you've been bid by some frat.

Yes, Junior's strong for college and millions of juniors will undoubtedly raise Cain through this summer unless they are sent. Next to the OPA this is our peskiest problem. Mama will indignantly deny the youngsters' base motives. She is sure that her particular darling is a second Socrates, nothing less. But you can trust Junior to give you the straight dope.

Nor is he alone in his frank admission. Every professor in America knows and bewails these facts. They realize that "a college education" has become one of our essential American traditions which the vast majority of parents will carry on, come hell or high water, utterly regardless of the fitness of their offspring. As a result, every graduation day turns out an increasing number of educated fools who haven't the slightest idea what it's all been about and don't give a darn, s'long as the fun continues.

Only a minute proportion of said graduates have studied anything seriously or have even learned how to study or have the brains to do so. Nor does the danger end there. Being satisfied with mediocrity, because we know nothing better, we now accept it as a way of life. There are millions of young people who cannot afford to go to college so they do the next socially acceptable thing—they ape college ways, college clothes, college customs. They maintain the adolescent ideals their collegiate brothers accepted. Our educational system is a farce which is cheapening our whole national life.

This is not the professors' fault although there are quite a few illustrious morons with doctor's degrees. Our present deplorable situation is directly traceable to our homes and public opinion in general. Not one home in a thousand has any cultural standards, or would appreciate one if it dropped in.

We Americans are avid collectors of gadgets and a college degree is just another gadget which we fondly trust will increase our darling's standing in life. Maybe so.

But it's a cinch such education will be of slight importance as long as our campuses are forced to accept the commonplace material which crams them today. Let's keep our colleges by all means but let's make them really collegiate — not merely playgrounds for cutupa. Let's make them mean what colleges used to mean — reservoirs of superior knowledge, training schools for serious growing minds. Then maybe they'll be able to meet and cope with an adult world.

Doctors Consider Most Disorders Of Feet As Minor

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Because painful feet produce so much discomfort and disability, it may be said that from the point of view of the patient there are no minor disorders of these extremities.

So far as the doctor is concerned, however, there are many which are considered minor. This is not due to heartlessness on the part of the medical profession but merely because such conditions are easily corrected by simple surgical operations.

Ingrown Toenails

One of these conditions is ingrown toenail. The most common causes of the development of ingrown toenails are cutting the child's toenails too short, and the wearing of shoes and stockings which fit too tightly.

It is not unusual for the skin around an ingrown toenail to become infected. According to Drs. Alec Singer and Archie M. A. Moore, of England, when such infection is present it may be cleared up by carefully trimming off the infected nail and using a dressing of a sulfonamide ointment.

A bit of cotton dipped in the ointment may be packed in and around the infected area. Drs. Singer and Moore point out that the services of an experienced chiropodist are extremely valuable, in such cases.

In some cases, in order to clear up the condition, it may be necessary partially to remove the affected nail, along with any excessive scar tissue which may have formed. This is carried out by a physician since it is necessary usually to put the patient to sleep with an anesthetic. If there is no infection of an ingrown nail, a more extensive operation can be performed to get rid completely of the ingrown nail.

Tissue Growth

Another condition which may develop is the growth of hard tissue beneath the nail. The pressure of the shoe then produces pain. This disorder seems to develop also because of pressure of the shoes on the feet. In many instances, infection also occurs in this disorder, and here, too, the infection must be cleared up before an operation can be performed to get rid of the growth.

A bony outgrowth may occur on the heel. This is known as a spur. Sometimes such spurs are painful. The pain is brought on by the pressure of walking or in some cases because the spur is broken. The patient complains of a painful tender area on the heel. Sometimes these spurs can be treated without operation.

It is suggested that a pit be made in the heel of the shoe on the inside and a rubber pad be put into this pit. The patient will then be walking on a soft rubber cushion and this may relieve the symptoms. Another method of treatment is to inject a solution of a local anesthetic or pain-deadening preparation around the area and then allow the patient to wear the shoe with the rubber pad.

If these methods fail to relieve the condition, it is suggested that operation be performed and the spur chiselled away.

For such disorders as corns and calluses the services of a chiropodist are useful. In the serious foot disorders, a physician should be consulted concerning the best form of treatment.

Judge Huster Denies Restraining Order

Testimony in the petition brought by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson Long against Ann Wagner and Sheriff David Steele for a restraining order to stop the execution of a writ of restitution, does not justify the issuance of an order depriving the defendant of the right to take necessary steps to regain possession of her property, Chief Judge William A. Huster has ruled.

The court stated that it has "carefully considered the allegations set out in the petition and the answer and testimony and has reached the conclusion that the testimony does not justify the court in granting a restraining order."

A temporary restraining order pending the hearing which was held July 11 was rescinded by the court. The case was docketed January 9 after the Longs protested against the serving of a writ of restitution issued in trial magistrates court.

Orchardists Visit West Coast Fruit Sections

Gilbert Miller, Spring Gap, is one of a group of 21 orchardists making an organized tour of West coast orchards, under the sponsorship of the National Peach Council. Members from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Maryland and West Virginia include, besides Mr. Miller, who is representative of Consolidated Orchard Company, J. Howard Rannells, Romney, and Stanley Fulton, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Repburn, Hancock.

The trip, being made by plane and train, will take two weeks. It will include visits to Yakima fruit section of Washington, recognized as the greatest in the world; the Wenatchee Valley, the United States' greatest fruit producing area; through sections of Colorado, Oregon and the apple, grape and citrus fruit sections of California.

The "Peach Tour," has been discussed for many years by the Appelation Apple Service, but was abandoned during the war. The group will inspect the complete production process of the West coast orchardists, visiting the orchards and packer plants.

The King Brothers haven't got around to casting their sensational buy, "Focus"—but the actor they're after is Claude Rains who would be wonderful as the anti-semit whose need for wearing glasses causes him to look exactly like one of the race he has persecuted for years. Arthur Miller's book is a powerful denunciation of religious and racial intolerance and brings you right up out of your chair as you read it. The Kings are negotiating with Albert Maltz who wrote "The House I Live In," the Frank Sinatra short, to script "Focus."

Look out Bing, Frankie, Dick and Perry—that fascinatin' adult delinquent, George Sanders, has taken to crooning and gives with a ditty titled "The Lark Sings in the Morning" in "Bel Ami." Not only is George touted as a definite rival for the crooners in his vocal debut on the screen, but it is called to your attention that he is an old dulcet hand at singing having started his career on the English musical comedy stage. After the cracks he took at the ladies on Harriet Parsons air show last week, it's our considered opinion that Sanders had better starting singing—and loud and sweet!

A middle aged woman walked into Edward Small's office the other day, planked herself down, and insisted on seeing him. When his secretary gave her the usual line that he was a "very busy man, etc." it fell on deaf ears. She just sat and sat, finally, Eddie decided it was easier to see her than out-sit her. "Look," says she, "I'm a medium and I'm in constant touch with Valentino. There are certain things he doesn't like about the way you're handling his life story, but I think I can change his mind." Eddie said he appreciated her trouble but that another medium was working on the contract. Whereupon the aging belle hit the ceiling. "I'm the only medium working on this deal," she yelled, "And I Split Commissions With No One!" You see how it is with agents—they've got standards even in the ozone—ten percent, that is.

Chatter in Hollywood: Lana Turner was at the hospital the entire night of Howard Hughes' crash. She begged to be permitted to see Howard for just one moment. Hollywood in shorts: Gracie Allen arrived in Louisville with a sprained ankle after slipping in the rain boarding the train from Chicago; Ginny Simms making her final appearance in public before the birth of her baby, dining at the Beverly Hills Club; Bob Hope bought a piece of the baseballing Cleveland Indians on his jaunt back east, so when Bing Crosby caught up with him on the Para lot, he said, "Well, I see the squaw man's back;" Jimmy M. Hugh is putting in a pitch to bring the men's and women's national championship swim meet to Los Angeles for the first time next year; Sir Duke Elder indicating there may be something slightly wrong with his own eye sight (he's Britain's leading ophthamologist) by stating that Jane Russell has the Most Beautiful Eyes of any woman in America; Cobina Wright heading east soon to huddle with publishers about her memoers, just completed; Babe Blum sporting the most stunning suntan of the season—one of those real, honest to goodness cocoa-colors, making even the movie stars jealous; It's just as much fun listening to N.T.G. and Harry Richman swapping yarns and calling each other liars between shows at the Florentine Gardens as it is when these two topsters are "on;" Janis Paige and Don McGuire a new heart arrangement; when "Summer Holiday" was finished, Butch Jenkins gave Director Rouben Mamoulian the finest gift he could think of—a red fireman's hat. On him, it looks pretty good; I thought it was understood that Bud Abbott will appear with Lou Costello in the juvenile delinquency short—but natch; Lamarr Trotti and Henry King at Coronada beating the script of "Captain From Castille" into shape. It's Ty Power's next at 20th. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Ralph Baker Weds Margaret Friend In Mt. Lake Park

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, July 11—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Friend, Georgetown, O., have announced the marriage of their daughter, Margaret Elizabeth Friend to Ralph Vernon Baker, Mt. Lake Park.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. Reece Burns, pastor of the Methodist church at the Methodist parsonage in Mt. Lake Park, July 3.

The bride was attired in a two-piece street length navy ensemble with matching white accessories and hat, and wore a corsage of American Beauty rosebuds. Formerly of Pleasant Valley, she attended Oakland high school for two years, and was graduated from Georgetown village school in 1946. She was associated with the Library of Congress in Washington during the summer of 1945.

The bridegroom was graduated from Oakland high school in 1939, and attended the college of agriculture, University of Maryland, for three years. In 1943 he joined his father in the dairy business at Mt. Lake Park. The couple are now residing at Mt. Lake Park.

Celebration Report Made

At a meeting of the Oakland fire department last night a report of receipts and expenditures of the celebration here July 4 by the firemen showed net receipts of $2,295.29. Of this amount $1,544.06 came from the carnival concessions, and $751.23 from the awarding of the automobile.

The firemen's parade here attracted a crowd of several thousand persons. There were over 7,200 paid admissions at the carnival grounds that day which did not include the hundreds who were in uniform who participated in the parade and who were amitted free. Three bands, one drum corps and 18 fire companies took part in the parade at one o'clock.

Since the first of July the official recording at Weber's is .41 inches. Farmers are beginning to complain of the dry weather and of the vital need for rain if some of the crops are to mature properly.

Two Mineral County Men Are Arrested

KEYSER, W. Va., July 11—Frank W. Lindner, Fort Ashby, one of two Mineral county men for whom complaints of desertion and non-support have been sworn out, is now in custody in the county jail here.

Vernon E. Rankin, prosecuting attorney, said that Lindner, for whom a hearing is scheduled this week, was arrested several days ago in Columbus, O., and returned for prosecution by Sheriff James A. Dixon after waiving extradition.

Lindner left his wife and 7-month-old child April 5, Rankin said, adding that the arrest was made after Lindner had written his wife, Mrs. Levanda Lindner, of his whereabouts.

The other man, Charles L. Shahan, Ridgeley, is being held in Memphis, Tenn., under $1,000 bond pending extradition papers requested by Gov. Clarence Meadows.

Rankin said Shahan was arrested in Memphis June 20, after a complaint was sworn out here by his wife, charging failure to support her and their two children. The Ridgeley man at first indicated he would waive extradition but later retracted his waiver, according to Rankin.

Meteorites are usually so small that they are burned up long before they reach the ground.

Annual 4-H Camp In Hardy County To Open July 22

New Trapping Course Will Be Offered; Record Enrollment Seen

By KATHERINE FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., July 11—Miss Alice Goodell, Hardy county home demonstration agent, stated that plans are complete for the annual Hardy county 4-H camp at Camp Pinnacle July 22 to 27. Camp officials are expecting the largest enrollment in history this year in the first postwar camping season.

Miss Mary Boggs, Morgantown, will be one of the state leaders at the camp.

A new course in trapping will be taught by representatives of the West Virginia Conservation Commission at the camp this year. The boys will learn how to make and set traps, how to care for them and other lore about trapping from the specialists. Other classes will be in crafts, 4-H information, charting, music, games, rope making, conservation and nature studies.

There will be special classes in home economics for the girls.

Enrollment is expected to approach 100 this year as compared to the 60 enrolled last year. 4-H members to be eligible must have completed their project for this year and must be up to date on their work. The annual party will be held Wednesday night July 24.

Town Receives Check

The town of Moorefield received a check from the West Virginia State Liquor Commission for $279.36, representing its pro rata share of the profits of the commission for the second quarter of the year.

The amount of the check is based on population so that Petersburg and Romney, both 'dry' towns without state stores, receive more money than Moorefield, due to census figures.

Poultry Owners To Meet

A meeting of the poultry owners and breeders of this section will be held at the Hardy county court house Monday under the auspices of the Tri-County hatchery and C. B. Hiett, Moorefield high school Vo-Ag instructor.

Slight Increase In Mineral County Farms Reported

Prettyman Cites Changes In Agriculture From 1940 To 1945

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., July 11—Recent advance reports of the Bureau of the Census indicate several interesting changes in Mineral county agriculture during the five-year period between 1940 and 1945, according to J. E. Prettyman, county agricultural agent.

The number of farms in the county increased slightly from 1,009 in 1940 to 1,020 in 1945. The average size of farms increased from 157.7 acres to 158.7 acres. This represented a net addition of 2,790 acres to the total of all land in farms in the county.

There was also an increase in the number of cattle, from 5,900 in 1940 to 6,491 in 1945, and a corresponding increase during the same period of cows and heifers two years old and over from 2,915 to 3,406.

Milk Production Increases

Though the number of cows and heifers milked decreased from 2,310 in 1939 to 2,166 in 1944, total milk production increased from 992,486 gallons in 1939 to 1,053,786 gallons in 1944. This increase in spite of decreased numbers was obtained by increasing average milk production per cow from 430 gallons in 1939 to 486 gallons in 1944. The increase of 56 gallons per cow represented an increase of 11 percent or more than two per cent per year per cow, Prettyman estimated.

There was an increase in the amount of cream sold in the county, but a decrease in the amounts of whole milk and butter sold during the period.

The number of chickens raised went up from 64,660 in 1939 to 95,921 in 1944, while the number of turkeys declined from 1,317, to 524.

A striking advance was made in the total cost of all feed bought for livestock and poultry, from $69,551 in 1939 to $203,576 in 1944.

A slight decline was recorded in sheep during this five-year period. The total number of sheep and lambs declined from 5,816 on April 1, 1940, to 5,270 on January 1, 1945. Part of this decrease, the county agent explained is due to the fact that there never are as many lambs on farms the first of January as there are the first of April. The number of ewes dropped from 5,323 to 4,833 over the same period of time.

Where 27,521 pounds of wool was shorn in 1939, only 25,077 pounds was shorn in 1944.

Grain Acreage Declines

There was a decrease in the acreage of corn and of most small grains in Mineral county between 1939 and 1944. Acreage of corn for grain declined from 3,444 acres to 2,504 acres, and production of corn fell from 108,337 bushels in 1939 to 53,564 bushels in 1944. Oats harvested for grain dropped from 776 acres to 667 acres, with production falling off from 15,884 bushels to 14,945 bushels. Rye for grain was cut from 104 acres to 45 acres, with production going down from 1,123 bushels in 1939 to 705 bushels in 1944. Although the acreage of wheat decreased from 1,688 acres to 1,450 acres, total production of wheat went slightly up, from 27,056 bushels in 1939 to 28,707 bushels in 1944. This reversal was accomplished by increasing the average yield of wheat per acre from 16 bushels to almost 20 bushels, or an increase of about four bushels per acre.

Barley production was on the increase. Where 143 acres of barley were cut for grain in 1939, there were 242 acres harvested in 1944. Barley production jumped during the same period from 3,373 bushels to 7,009 bushels, for an average yield of about 29 bushels per acre in 1944.

Acreage of alfalfa in the county rose from 1,356 acres in 1939 to 1,724 acres in 1944. This indicates a desirable trend as the average yield of this high quality hay crop was two tons per acre which is considerably better than the average yields obtained from other hay crops in the county. No wild hay was reported saved in 1944, where 147 acres, yielding less than three-quarters of a ton per acre, were cut in 1939. Small grains cut for hay, also yielding less than one ton per acre, had declined from 291 acres in 1939 to 99 acres in 1944. Other tame hays, including clover and timothy, which yielded about a ton per acre, increased from 7,162 acres in 1939 to 9,324 acres in 1944.

Total farm land in orchards in the county increased between 1940 and 1945 from 2,440 acres to 3,129 acres, Prettyman reported. The increased acreage was in apples, pears, and grapes, but the number of cherry and peach trees declined. Small fruits, particularly strawberries and raspberries, showed reductions in acreage. Potato acreage also declined from 313 acres in 1939 to 227 acres in 1944.

The number of farm gardens increased from 934 in 1939 to 962 in 1944, and the value of vegetables grown for home use jumped from $55,744 in 1939 to $77,450 in 1944.

Veterans Administration Plans To Use Newton D. Baker Army Hospital

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—Rep. Randolph (D-WVa) said today the Newton D. Baker army hospital at Martinsburg, W. Va., will be used as a veteran hospital.

Randolph told a reporter a decision to use the 500-bed institution for veterans was reached at a conference with Veterans Administrator Bradley and other agency officials.

Randolph said the institution would serve veterans from parts of West Virginia, Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania.

"There is an acute shortage of hospital beds for veterans in West Virginia," Randolph said, "and inview of this I believe it is sound business to utilize the hospital at Martinsburg."

Other veterans hospitals at Beckley and Clarksburg, he said, will not be completed for sometime.

The Newton D. Baker hospital was built during the war at a cost of approximately $5,500,000. It was released by the War department June 30. As a veterans hospital it would employ approximately 600 persons.

The use of the hospital by the Veterans Administration is subject to approval by the Federal Board of Hospitalization, the bureau of the budget and the president.

Eckhart Group Opposes Issuance Of Beer License

A remonstrance signed by 21 Eckhart property owners has been filed in circuit court against the issuance of a Class B wine and beer license to Leo A. Kenney. Signers include the Rev. John R. Wilson and Imogene Caudill, principal of Eckhart school.

The remonstrance lists seven reasons why the license should not be issued. They follow:

1—The tavern would contribute to the delinquency of minors on the main street of Eckhart with the tavern directly in the path of young people going on errands to the grocery stores and postoffice.

2—The tavern would tend to attract "people of a disreputable character."

3—The tavern would reduce the value of property in its immediate neighborhood.

4—The tavern "is not a reasonable distance from the Methodist church," the pastor of which is the Rev. Mr. Wilson, one of the principal remonstrants.

5—There are already plenty of places licensed to sell beer and wine in Eckhart.

6—The tavern would "hurt" other commercial business establishments nearby.

7—That the tavern, located at the foot of "Store Hill" in Eckhart, would constitute a menace to "life and limb" with its patrons causing traffic congestions and driving "their cars under the influence of alcohol."

Kenney's petition for a license was filed June 24.

Two Mineral County Men Are Arrested

KEYSER, W. Va., July 11—Frank W. Lindner, Fort Ashby, one of two Mineral county men for whom complaints of desertion and non-support have been sworn out, is now in custody in the county jail here.

Vernon E. Rankin, prosecuting attorney, said that Lindner, for whom a hearing is scheduled this week, was arrested several days ago in Columbus, O., and returned for prosecution by Sheriff James A. Dixon after waiving extradition.

Lindner left his wife and 7-month-old child April 5, Rankin said, adding that the arrest was made after Lindner had written his wife, Mrs. Levanda Lindner, of his whereabouts.

The other man, Charles L. Shahan, Ridgeley, is being held in Memphis, Tenn., under $1,000 bond pending extradition papers requested by Gov. Clarence Meadows.

Rankin said Shahan was arrested in Memphis June 20, after a complaint was sworn out here by his wife, charging failure to support her and their two children. The Ridgeley man at first indicated he would waive extradition but later retracted his waiver, according to Rankin.

A meeting of the poultry owners and breeders of this section will be held at the Hardy county court house Monday under the auspices of the Tri-County hatchery and C. B. Hiett, Moorefield high school Vo-Ag instructor.

The meeting will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning with an address by H. M. Hyre, Morgantown, on "The West Virginia Poultry Industry, Past, Present and Future." A talk on "Selecting Breeding Cockerels" by C. J. Cunningham, manager of the Reymann Memorial farms, Wardensville, a talk by C. C. The afternoon session, which will begin at 1:30 o'clock, will feature three addresses — "Tri - County Hatchery and National Poultry and Turkey Improvement Plans" by T. R. Hash; "Breeding the Broiler of Tomorrow," by H. M. Hyre; and "Merchandising Our West Virginia Broilers" by Walter Petit, manager of the Moorefied Rockingham Poultry Marketing Co-operative.

Chester B. Hiett will act as chairman of the meeting in the morning and County Agent S. L. Dodd will preside at the afternoon session.

A program of entertainment will be presented in the morning and a picnic lunch will be held at Riverside park at noon. All flock owners of Hardy county and the South Branch valley section are invited to attend the educational meeting.

W. L. Wigfield secured a building permit yesterday in the city engineer's office to construct a one-story frame storage building near Goldens lane off Willow Brook road, at an estimated cost of $500. The building, which will measure 30 by 30 feet, will have a concrete foundation and a ruberoid roof. Work will be done by the owner.

G. H. Nield, 723 Lafayette avenue, secured a permit to build an additional room, measuring 16 by 20 feet, to the first story of his home.

The one-story addition will have a concrete foundation, frame walls covered with brick siding, and a composition roof. Work to be done by the owner, is estimated to cost $250.

Slight Increase In Mineral County Farms Reported

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., July 11—Recent advance reports of the Bureau of the Census indicate several interesting changes in Mineral county agriculture during the five-year period between 1940 and 1945, according to J. E. Prettyman, county agricultural agent.

The number of farms in the county increased slightly from 1,009 in 1940 to 1,020 in 1945. The average size of farms increased from 157.7 acres to 158.7 acres. This represented a net addition of 2,790 acres to the total of all land in farms in the county.

There was also an increase in the number of cattle, from 5,900 in 1940 to 6,491 in 1945, and a corresponding increase during the same period of cows and heifers two years old and over from 2,915 to 3,406.

Milk Production Increases

Though the number of cows and heifers milked decreased from 2,310 in 1939 to 2,166 in 1944, total milk production increased from 992,486 gallons in 1939 to 1,053,786 gallons in 1944. This increase in spite of decreased numbers was obtained by increasing average milk production per cow from 430 gallons in 1939 to 486 gallons in 1944. The increase of 56 gallons per cow represented an increase of 11 percent or more than two per cent per year per cow, Prettyman estimated.

There was an increase in the amount of cream sold in the county, but a decrease in the amounts of whole milk and butter sold during the period.

The number of chickens raised went up from 64,660 in 1939 to 95,921 in 1944, while the number of turkeys declined from 1,317, to 524.

A striking advance was made in the total cost of all feed bought for livestock and poultry, from $69,551 in 1939 to $203,576 in 1944.

A slight decline was recorded in sheep during this five-year period. The total number of sheep and lambs declined from 5,816 on April 1, 1940, to 5,270 on January 1, 1945. Part of this decrease, the county agent explained is due to the fact that there never are as many lambs on farms the first of January as there are the first of April. The number of ewes dropped from 5,323 to 4,833 over the same period of time.

Where 27,521 pounds of wool was shorn in 1939, only 25,077 pounds was shorn in 1944.

Grain Acreage Declines

There was a decrease in the acreage of corn and of most small grains in Mineral county between 1939 and 1944. Acreage of corn for grain declined from 3,444 acres to 2,504 acres, and production of corn fell from 108,337 bushels in 1939 to 53,564 bushels in 1944. Oats harvested for grain dropped from 776 acres to 667 acres, with production falling off from 15,884 bushels to 14,945 bushels. Rye for grain was cut from 104 acres to 45 acres, with production going down from 1,123 bushels in 1939 to 705 bushels in 1944. Although the acreage of wheat decreased from 1,688 acres to 1,450 acres, total production of wheat went slightly up, from 27,056 bushels in 1939 to 28,707 bushels in 1944. This reversal was accomplished by increasing the average yield of wheat per acre from 16 bushels to almost 20 bushels, or an increase of about four bushels per acre.

Barley production was on the increase. Where 143 acres of barley were cut for grain in 1939, there were 242 acres harvested in 1944. Barley production jumped during the same period from 3,373 bushels to 7,009 bushels, for an average yield of about 29 bushels per acre in 1944.

Acreage of alfalfa in the county rose from 1,356 acres in 1939 to 1,724 acres in 1944. This indicates a desirable trend as the average yield of this high quality hay crop was two tons per acre which is considerably better than the average yields obtained from other hay crops in the county. No wild hay was reported saved in 1944, where 147 acres, yielding less than three-quarters of a ton per acre, were cut in 1939. Small grains cut for hay, also yielding less than one ton per acre, had declined from 291 acres in 1939 to 99 acres in 1944. Other tame hays, including clover and timothy, which yielded about a ton per acre, increased from 7,162 acres in 1939 to 9,324 acres in 1944.

Total farm land in orchards in the county increased between 1940 and 1945 from 2,440 acres to 3,129 acres, Prettyman reported. The increased acreage was in apples, pears, and grapes, but the number of cherry and peach trees declined. Small fruits, particularly strawberries and raspberries, showed reductions in acreage. Potato acreage also declined from 313 acres in 1939 to 227 acres in 1944.

The number of farm gardens increased from 934 in 1939 to 962 in 1944, and the value of vegetables grown for home use jumped from $55,744 in 1939 to $77,450 in 1944.

Helman Rites Held

Funeral services for Walter A. Helman, who died Sunday, were held in White Pine church, near Purgittsville, at 2 p. m. Wednesday, with the Rev. Paul A. Artis, Burlington officiating. He was assisted by the Rev. Mr. Bittinger, pastor of the Church of the Brethren. Interment was in the Shumaker cemetery near the church.

Pallbearers were Wayne Thrush, James Welch, Walter Woodworth, Walter Sines, John D. Taylor and Robert Taylor.

Fined In Police Court

Manning C. Oates, Fort Ashby, who was arrested Wednesday by city officers on a charge of drunkenness, was fined $5 in police court.

William Bowman, arrested Wednesday evening on a traffic violation charge, was scheduled to appear in police court late this afternoon.

Brief Items

Evangelist Herbert Keltchner of the Pentecostal church will begin revival services Sunday in the gospel tent, Armstrong street extended. Services will be conducted each evening except Monday for two weeks.

Veterans Administration Plans To Use Newton D. Baker Army Hospital

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—Rep. Randolph (D-WVa) said today the Newton D. Baker army hospital at Martinsburg, W. Va., will be used as a veteran hospital.

Randolph told a reporter a decision to use the 500-bed institution for veterans was reached at a conference with Veterans Administrator Bradley and other agency officials.

Randolph said the institution would serve veterans from parts of West Virginia, Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania.

"There is an acute shortage of hospital beds for veterans in West Virginia," Randolph said, "and in view of this I believe it is sound business to utilize the hospital at Martinsburg."

Other veterans hospitals at Beckley and Clarksburg, he said, will not be completed for sometime.

The Newton D. Baker hospital was built during the war at a cost of approximately $5,500,000. It was released by the War department June 30. As a veterans hospital it would employ approximately 600 persons.

The use of the hospital by the Veterans Administration is subject to approval by the Federal Board of Hospitalization, the bureau of the budget and the president.

Eckhart Group Opposes Issuance Of Beer License

A remonstrance signed by 21 Eckhart property owners has been filed in circuit court against the issuance of a Class B wine and beer license to Leo A. Kenney. Signers include the Rev. John R. Wilson and Imogene Caudill, principal of Eckhart school.

The remonstrance lists seven reasons why the license should not be issued. They follow:

1—The tavern would contribute to the delinquency of minors on the main street of Eckhart with the tavern directly in the path of young people going on errands to the grocery stores and postoffice.

2—The tavern would tend to attract "people of a disreputable character."

3—The tavern would reduce the value of property in its immediate neighborhood.

4—The tavern "is not a reasonable distance from the Methodist church," the pastor of which is the Rev. Mr. Wilson, one of the principal remonstrants.

5—There are already plenty of places licensed to sell beer and wine in Eckhart.

6—The tavern would "hurt" other commercial business establishments nearby.

7—That the tavern, located at the foot of "Store Hill" in Eckhart, would constitute a menace to "life and limb" with its patrons causing traffic congestions and driving "their cars under the influence of alcohol."

Kenney's petition for a license was filed June 24.

Mother Favors More Freedom For Daughter

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Letters from teen-agers complaining that their parents and most often it's their mothers—won't allow them a normal amount of freedom are an everyday occurrence. I can't keep up with them all.

But a letter from a mother who wants more freedom for her daughter than the father is willing to permit is not so usual.

Here is what one such mother writes:

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I have a daughter 15 years of age, and her daddy doesn't allow her any freedom at all.

"She doesn't go out with her girl friends any place, or have any enjoyment. He won't allow her to go to the movies, to parties or cafes with her school friends. She is in the tenth grade.

"Her daddy says such places as I have just mentioned aren't places for a girl of her age. I think a girl of 15 should be sociable with her girl friends, but if I'm wrong, I want to know it. She gets troubled sometimes, but doesn't say anything.

"Her daddy goes to those places, and why shouldn't he let his daughter go once in awhile? I think if something is no place for the daughter, it's no place for the father either.

"A TROUBLED MOTHER."

You are perfectly right in feeling that a girl should go out with her friends to such places as parties and the movies. I don't know exactly what you have in mind when you speak of "cafes," but I don't believe you mean beer parlors, for I'm sure you don't want your daughter there. No doubt you're talking about ice cream stores and the like, which of course are quite usual places for girls and boys to go with each other. She should go to school events, too, such as ball games, basketball games and similar athletic activities. Dances, to, when they're held under proper auspices.

I wonder what reason your husband gives for feeling as he does about his daughter taking part in these things with her friends. She has been brought up to know how to behave herself in public places, hasn't she? And to have good sound ideas about what is right and what is wrong? If you, as parents, have done your part toward giving her a reliable set of standards for conduct, and always set her a good example in your own lives, surely her father should have faith enough in the results of his own teaching to have confidence that she will not let you down.

You say that your daughter gets troubled over this situation sometimes but doesn't complain. That would seem to indicate that she is a tractable, obedient girl who wants to believe her father means to do what is best for her. But if he wants to keep her respect for his opinions, if he wants her to feel that he really understands her and that she can rely on his judgment, then I think he will have to be more elastic in his idees and show her that he is "hep" to what is going on in the world.

Couldn't you persuade your husband to try out the idea of letting your daughter go out, say, a couple of times a week, with friends and to places which you both know all about? Set a definite time for the girl to be home, if it is an evening affair, and let her show that she is a responsible, trustworthy person who is entitled to her normal share of good times with her friends because she will do nothing of which she knows you will not approve. Surely he will be fair and reasonable enough to be willing to give her this chance.

Leading Stocks Sell Off As More Activity Is Shown In Trading

NEW YORK, July 11 (AP)—Leading stocks sold off on a little more activity in today's market although an assortment of special issues managed to contest the trend with fair success.

Steels backed down at the start while Wednesday's buoyant liquors and packers stumbled over considerable profit cashing. Losses of fractions to a point or more were well in the majority at the close. Transfers of 990,000 shares compared with 910,000 the day before and were the largest since July 1.

Equitable office building, the day's liveliest performer, was up a point at $3.62 in the wake of a proposal for a new reorganization plan. Pfizer common tacked on 4¼ at $75.75, Cudahy 1½ at $63.75 and Continental Baking ⅞ at 20.

National Distillers yielded 2½ at $92.50, Distillers Corporation 1⅝ at $28.37, Schenley 1⅝ at $83.75, Wilson and Company ⅝ at $20.37, Armour ⅛ at $18, United States Steel 1⅞ at $91.12, Bethlehem 1⅜ at $110.25, Montgomery Ward 2½ at $89.50 and J. I. Case 2⅛ at $51.62.

Modest improvement was retained by Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Northern Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, Goodyear and Air Reduction. On the losing end were Youngstown Sheet, Republic Steel, American Telephone, American Water Works, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Baltimore & Ohio, American Smelting, Anaconda, Johns-Manville, Texas Co., Boeing and Philip Morris.

In the Curb International Utilities was up on an increased dividend. Ahead were Union Gas of Canada, United Light, American Republics and Electric Bond & Share. The aggregate here was 350,000 shares versus 300,000 yesterday.

Light selling shunted many lower-priced rail loans downward in the bond market.

Turnover was again at a dawdling rate, totaling $3,230,000 against $3,180,000 Wednesday.

Long-term United States Government dropped as much as ¼ point in the over-the-counter market, with the Victory Loan Dec. 2½s off that much at 103 24-32 bid. Dealers said the comparatively wide declines resulted from a "thin" market.

Leading Stocks Sell Off As More Activity Is Shown In Trading

NEW YORK, July 11 (AP)—Leading stocks sold off on a little more activity in today's market although an assortment of special issues managed to contest the trend with fair success.

Steels backed down at the start while Wednesday's buoyant liquors and packers stumbled over considerable profit cashing. Losses of fractions to a point or more were well in the majority at the close. Transfers of 990,000 shares compared with 910,000 the day before and were the largest since July 1.

Equitable office building, the day's liveliest performer, was up a point at $3.62 in the wake of a proposal for a new reorganization plan. Colgate-Palmolive advance 1½ at $59 on a lifted dividend and extra. Mead Corporation added 1 at $26 on a pleasing business statement while United States Rubber was up ⅝ at $71.75 in reflection of a lifted quarterly payment. Pfizer common tacked on 4¼ at $75.75, Cudahy 1½ at $63.75 and Continental Baking ⅞ at 20.

National Distillers yielded 2½ at $92.50, Distillers Corporation 1⅝ at $28.37, Schenley 1⅛ at $93.75, Wilson and Company ⅝ at $20.37, Armour ¼ at $18, United States Steel 1⅞ at $91.12, Bethlehem 1⅜ at $110.25, Montgomery Ward 2¼ at $89.50 and J. I. Case 2½ at $51.62.

Modest improvement was retained by Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Northern Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, Goodyear and Air Reduction. On the losing end were Youngstown Sheet, Republic Steel, American Telephone, American Water Works, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Baltimore & Ohio, American Smelting, Anaconda, Johns-Manville, Texas Co., Boeing and Philip Morris.

In the Curb International Utilities was up on an increased dividend. Ahead were Union Gas of Canada, United Light, American Republics and Electric Bond & Share. The aggregate here was 350,000 shares versus 300,000 yesterday.

Light selling shunted many lower-priced rail loans downward in the bond market.

Turnover was again at a dawdling rate, totaling $3,230,000 against $3,180,000 Wednesday.

Long-term United States Government dropped as much as ¼ point in the over-the-counter market, with the Victory Loan Dec. 2½s off that much at 108 24-32 bid. Dealers said the comparatively wide declines resulted from a "thin" market.

Chasing two runs over the platter in the last half of the eighth inning, the Loyal Order of Moose tossers downed the B.P.O. Elks yesterday at Campobello by the score of 7 to 6, and moved into third place in the Rocking Chair Softball League, just one game in the rear of the team they conquered yesterday.

The Elks forced the game into an overtime stanza by knotting the count at 5-5 with a two-run rally in the sixth. The "boys" from Lodge No. 63 also forged ahead at 6-5 when hits by Roby, Walburn and Wallis netted one run but the Moose struck like lightning in the last of the eighth by putting the game on ice before a man was retired.

Lonnie "Stonewall" Jackson walked and stole second. Wilkinson also walked Jim Angellatta. Then the real blowup came when Wade bunted and Wilkinson heaved the ball over the first baseman's head, Jackson racing home from second with the tying run. Evans then beat out a hit to short and Angellatta galloped in with the clinching marker.

Win Sixth in Row

The victory was the sixth in a row for the Moose team and the fourth in a row for General Jackson, whose record for the current campaign is four wins and one setback. Schrader obtained three of the Moose's hits while Henry, Walburn and Wallis connected for three blows each for the Elks.

Manager Jim Browning's Knights of Columbus, haltec momentarily on Tuesday by the Elks, got back in the groove yesterday by blanking Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, on the Rolling Mill diamond, 6-0. "Bud" Scaletta registered his seventh pitching triumph against one defeat, holding the Legion to two hits—singles by Boyer and Kegg.

"Chick" Snider hit a homer in the third and made a nifty running catch in short field in the sixth with two aboard. "Vic" Long banged out two singles and Green and DeLuca walloped two-baggers.

Warnick Wins for Texcel

Cecil Warnick made his bow as a pitcher and twirled the Texcel Club to a 10-4 decision over Potomac Edison at East Side field.

Randy Jewell hit for the circuit in the second inning. Brownie Shircliffe led the Texcel attack with three hits. Long, of 1.E., played a nice defensive game in centerfield. The scores:

Harness Drivers Suffer Injuries In 4-Horse Spill

WESTBURY, N. Y., July 11 (AP)—One harness racing driver is in the hospital today and three others were nursing injuries as a result of an odd and spectacular accident at Roosevelt raceway last night.

Eddie Cobb, who drove Trooper Hanover, suffered a fractured knee in the four-horse smashup. Bob Plaxico, driver of Fez Hanover, was taken to the hospital with a badly smashed shoulder but was discharged today. The other drivers involved, Clint Hodgins and Nat Ray, were severely shaken up but were not badly hurt.

The spill occurred when Proximity, driven by Hodgins, swallowed his tongue while trotting down the backstretch. The horse fell and the other three crashed into him. Hodgins was thrown clear of his sulky and scrambled over the fence to escape the pileup.

JIMMY HINES, of Chicago, veteran of the golfing wars, moved out in front in the $20,000 Kansas City invitational golf tournament yesterday by shooting a six-under-par 66 for a two stroke lead over Jug McSpaden, Johnny Bulla and Jackson Bradley. Byroh Nelson's first round score was 69 while little Ben Hogan posted a 71.

Hines Sets Pace In Kansas City's $20,000 Tourney

Jimmy Gets Six-under-Par 66 For Lead Of Two Strokes

By SKIPPER PATRICK

KANSAS CITY, July 11. (AP)—Veteran campaigner Jimmy Hines, Chicago, played a perfect round of golf today in setting the opening pace with a six-under par 66 in the $20,000 Kansas City invitation golf tournament.

Trailed by exactly three of an estimated 5,000 fans, Jimmy showed favorite Ben Hogan, Hershey, Pa., Byron Nelson, Toledo, and British Open Champion Sammy Snead, Hot Springs, Va., a bunch of tricks as he equalled the record for the Hillcrest Country Club course.

Playing flawless golf from tee to green, Hines went out in a three under par 32 and came back the same way with a three under par 34 on the back nine.

Nelson, National PGA Champion, played precision golf and got the first round in 35-34—69.

Champion money-maker Ben Hogan had his troubles posting a one-under par 35-36—71. He three-putted the 494 yard 17th hole and still settled for par-five. His 300-yard drive off the 18th tee was far out of the fairway behind a grove of trees. But his approach shot rolled 30-feet from the cup and he got down in two putts for his par.

Snead was far down the list at 73.

Harold (Jug) McSpaden, Sanford, Me.; Johnny Bulla, Chicago, and young war veteran Jackson Bradley, Long Beach, Calif., ranked next to Hines in the opening day's work, each with four under par 68s.

Frank Stranahan, Toledo, led the amateurs at 36-34—70, the same figure claimed by Vic Ghezzi, Knoxville, Tenn.; Leland (Duke) Gibson, Kansas City; Peter Cooper, Gainesville, Fla.; Gene Kunes, Spring Lake, N. J.; Jimmy Thomson, New York; George Fazio, Los Angeles, and Mangrum.

THIS PIKE WORTH MORE THAN $1,000 A POUND

CHESTER S. WILSON, Minnesota conservation commissioner, holds a six-pound walleyed pike worth more than $1,000 a pound! It is the grand prize winner in a $567,000 tagged fish contest conducted by a Minneapolis -St. Paul radio station. The fish was caught by Elmer Hauge of Pequot Lakes, Minn., who won $6,351.40 in the form of a $1,000 check and a 1946 model automobile. Pointing to the tag, No. 1,000, which brought Hauge the lucky haul, is Jack Horner, radio sportscaster.

The SPORTLIGHT By GRANTLAND RICE

The Dodgers in the West

The next two weeks can be vitally important to the Dodger cause in their desperate surge to bag the 1946 pennant. They meet the Cubs, Cardinals, Reds and Pirates in turn before returning to the fragrant odor of home cooking in Brooklyn on July 23rd.

Eddie Dyer

The injury to Peewee Reese, not only a brilliant shortstop but one of the best hitters in the league, can be a knock-out blow if Reese is out of action too long. Shortstop happens to be about the major spot on a ball club, especially on the defensive side.

The shortstop usually gets more chances than any other member of the squad, barring the first baseman. He has more ground to cover and he is also a leading factor in destructive double plays. Peewee Reeses don't happen along every other week. You can look back through the National League roster for some seventy years and find few shortstops who ever had the all-around class the injured Dodger star carried.

Wagner was the all-time tops with no one even close. Bad Bill Dahlen, Bancroft and Jackson of the Giants were other great shortstops. There are only a few more. Baseball has known fewer great shortstops than any other position shows. It is the tough job on a ball club. Few good fielding shortstops hit above .300. Reese was well above with most of the top stars—such men as Ted Williams, Charlie Keller, Bob Feller, Newhouser, Chandler and so many others who apparently outclass most of the National League's best men?"

Three days have passed since the All-Star game and the N. L. is still in a stunned condition.

"I know one game doesn't mean too much," another writes, "but how it is that the best pitchers from one major league circuit can be bombarded for twelve runs, while the best hitters from the same league can only collect three singles from rival pitching? It is one thing to be beaten. It is something else to be annihilated, overpowered, overwhelmed and outclassed."

The sad facts—sad for the N. L.—are that the older league this season can neither match the younger circuit in stars nor in average playing strength. The N. L. has no pitchers to rank with Feller, Newhouser, Chandler, Hughson and others. Outside of Johnny Mize it has not power hitters who can be classed with Williams, Greenberg, Keller, DiMaggio and several more. This was all known before the All-Star game was played.

It would have taken a Cari Hubbell, a Dizzy Dean, a Matty or an Alexander to remove the noise from A. L. bats this season. And it would have taken the best hitters in N. L. history to pick up a run or two from a Feller or a Newhouser.

This last A. L. All-Star outfit was possibly the strongest yet seen in action, counting both their offensive and defensive strength. For some reason the A. L. has collared most of the power hitters since Babe Ruth's day—Ruth, Gehrig, Foxx, Greenberg, Williams, Dickey, Keller, DiMaggio, etc.

The margin in power has been a killing one. And certainly no one can say that stronger National League pitching is the reason. The American League also has the better right and left arms all along the line.

Conditions may change later on but at the moment no one could give any National League club much of a world-series chance this next fall. And while they probably won't have to work against a Feller or a Newhouser, the older league will find Chandler, Hughson, etc., just about as tough. To say nothing of a fellow named Ted Williams, who in the way of power and consistency, is on his way to the all-time top.

The Dodgers in the West

On this trip the Dodgers will find both the Cardinals and the Cubs ready to move up. Eddie Dyer, the Cardinal manager, said last March in St. Petersburg that he expected a slow start. He figured then that he would be satisfied to be only five games back of the pace by July Fourth.

"We'll have to win from the middle of July on to the finish," he said. The loss of Max Lanier didn't help.

And it might be added that the loss of Billy Herman was no great help to Brooklyn's cause. Herman could be a terrific lift for the Dodgers at this spot.

The Cub-Cardinal series now at hand will be the most critical adventure the Dodgers have had to face so far. The Cardinals have been due for a winning streak for some time. This may be the starting point.

27,732 Season Tickets Are Sold For Redskins' Games In Washington

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—The Washington Redskins have a problem: so many season tickets already have been sold for the 1946 season they don't quite know what to do.

The advance sale now is 27,732. Seating capacity of Griffith Stadium, where the Redskins play at-home National League games, is 34,500.

"It looks," General Manager Sid Carrol said today, "as if we'll have to close our season-ticket sale when the 30,000th ticket is sold in order to have some seats left for visiting clubs and late-comers. Right now we have nothing left except seats in the end-zone bleachers."

Babe Zaharias Advances In Denver Golf Tourney

DENVER, July 11 (AP)—Babe Didrickson Zaharias of Denver continued her string of easy conquests in the women's Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament today, overwhelming Ann Casey of Mason City, Ia., 7 and 6 in the first of the quarter-final matches.

Miss Casey couldn't match the broad-shouldered Babe's powerful drives which were measuring 240 to 290 yards and she was four holes down and virtually out of the contest as they rounded the turn with the Iowan only one stroke over women's par of 36, but with Mrs. Zaharias three under.

Mrs. Zaharias took the tenth with a birdie, her fourth of the match, won the 11th with a par three when Miss Casey went one over and the test ended when they halved the 12th with par fives.

27,732 Season Tickets Are Sold For Redskins' Games In Washington

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—The Washington Redskins have a problem: so many season tickets already have been sold for the 1946 season they don't quite know what to do.

The advance sale now is 27,732. Seating capacity of Griffith Stadium, where the Redskins play at-home National League games, is 34,500.

"It looks," General Manager Sid Carrol said today, "as if we'll have to close our season-ticket sale when the 30,000th ticket is sold in order to have some seats left for visiting clubs and late-comers. Right now we have nothing left except seats in the end-zone bleachers."

Babe Zaharias Advances In Denver Golf Tourney

DENVER, July 11 (AP)—Babe Didrickson Zaharias of Denver continued her string of easy conquests in the women's Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament today, overwhelming Ann Casey of Mason City, Ia., 7 and 6 in the first of the quarter-final matches.

Miss Casey couldn't match the broad-shouldered Babe's powerful drives which were measuring 240 to 290 yards and she was four holes down and virtually out of the contest as they rounded the turn with the Iowan only one stroke over women's par of 38, but with Mrs. Zaharias three under.

Mrs. Zaharias took the tenth with a birdie, her fourth of the match, won the 11th with a par three when Miss Casey went one over and the test ended when they halved the 12th with par fives.

Invitation Golf Tournament Dates Set For Oakland

54-Hole Event Is Listed July 27-28; Mt. Lake Fixes Net Dates

OAKLAND, Md., July 11—Definite dates for the tri-state golf tournament and the model aircraft meet were announced this week, and added to the activities in tennis at Mt. Lake Park, these three events give promise of some unusual entertainment during the next few weeks. The dates were announced by the Mt. Lake Park-Oakland Activities committee, as follows:

Second annual Western Maryland Tri-State Amateur Invitation Golf tournament, Saturday and Sunday, July 27 and 28, to be played as a 54-hole medal event with approximately 100 entries expected, on the Oakland municipal course.

Model aircraft meet, Sunday, August 25, at the Weber meadow, south of the Weber railroad crossing, en route 219, south of town.

The twenty-fourth annual Western Maryland Tennis championships, to be held August 12 to 17 at Mountain Lake Park, on the tennis club courts.

Hoffer Won 1945 Trophy

Golf players are already making inquiries about the second annual tournament which last year attracted a large number of entries. George Hoffer, Wheeling, W. Va., who won the tournament last year has turned professional and is now at Oglebay Park, Wheeling. He will return the Logan L. Carr trophy which he won last year, which must be won three times for permanent possession, and he indicated he planned to bring several contestants to the meet. Evo Petri, Wheeling, 2nd place, and Phil Contic, Kingwood, 3rd place, are expected to compete again this year.

J. Pat Beacom, re-elected chairman of the summer activities committee last week, said suitable prizes were being obtained for presentation to the winners. The event is sponsored by the Oakland Golf Club and Bill Loeffler, pro, will be in charge. An entrance fee of $5 is being made.

Model Aircraft Meet

One of the features of the model aircraft meet on August 25 will be an exhibition by army and navy air force fliers, Mr. Beacom announced.

Suitable trophies are being secured which will be known as the Jimmie Doolittle and William R. Enyard trophies. They will have to be won three times to become permanent property of those who complete. Doolittle is the famed army flier and Enyard is president of the national aeronautical association. The latter association is sponsoring the event here which has been held previously in various parts of eastern United States and which annually attracts 300 or more entries and scores of interested spectators from all over the eastern section of the United States.

Mr. Beacom said there were to be two classes, one for juniors, up to 18 years, and one for seniors, all above 16. These are to be further subdivided into a class for gasoline engine craft, one propelled by rubber band, and the glider type, without motor. Points will be given for winners in each class.

Tennis Prospects Bright

Ralph Weber, president of the Mt. Lake Park Tennis club, announced this week that a number of inquiries already had been received in regard to the tennis tournament, August 12 to 17. Lieut. John Curtiss, Washington, D. C., who won the singles crown last year, is planning to return, and there were prospects of 100 entries. Over fifty participated last year. Other winners last year were Mrs. David Gray, of Washington, D. C., women's singles; Alex Keiles and Frank Roberts, Baltimore, men's doubles; Mrs. Gray and Capt. Alice McDonald, women's doubles; Philip Neff, Washington, and Mrs. Gray, mixed doubles.

Lambert Due At North End

By C. V. BURNS

The Interstate League's No. 1 pitchers — William "Boots" Miller, veteran southpaw, and Elwood May, young righthander—will likely hook up in battle Sunday when Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, of this city, and John M. Gollady Post No. 64, American Legion, of Moorefield, W. Va., do battle in an important doubleheader at Community Park.

Each twirler has a record of seven wins and one defeat. Miller's lone reverse was suffered at the hands of the Cumberland Eagles, 9 to 3, while May's loss was in the eleven inning thriller of June 15 when George Geatz, of Fort Cumberland, triumphed over him at Moorefield, 8 to 5 in the only games played to date by these teams due to rain washing out the May 18 tilt.

Manager Art Garbark's Legionnaires are now setting the pace in President John J. Long's circuit by the margin of one full game over Moorefield. The locals have won 12 and lost 3 while the Hardy countians' record is 11 wins and four losses.

If Moorefield is able to hurdle a tough Hyndman team in the Pennsylvania town on Saturday and the Legion defeats Fulton Myers Post here on the same day the margin between the teams will remain the same before the Sunday battles here. This would mean that the South Branch team would have to take both ends of Sunday's bargain bill to gain undisputed possession of first place.

Thirteen games remain to be played by Moorefield and Fort Cumberland before the close of the season September 1 and a lot of things can happen between now and the final contest. The locals have eight of their 13 engagements set for the home lot while Moorefield must play eight of its thirteen on the road. It doesn't matter, however, which of the teams finishes in first place as it will be the winner of the Shaughnessy playoff series that will be recognized as the league champion.

As the teams battle down the home stretch the struggle among the current third, fourth and fifth place clubs, namely, Hyndman Firemen, Cumberland Eagles and Mt. Savage, for a spot in the playoffs should prove just as interesting as the battle being waged for the top berth. Only the first four teams will figure in the Shaughnessy series and it looks like Barrelville, Fulton Myers and the Moose have already lost too many games to crash the post season contests.

Sunday's counter attraction here will be the Frostburg Legion-Queen City Brewers contest at Stitcher field. Fans attending this game will likely see one of Bi-State League's top-drawer pitchers in the person of Ivan "Speed" Lambert, Frostburg ace, who has been twirling winning ball around these parts for many years.

Lambert has marked up eight wins against two losses for Manager Enoch Price's outfit, which has a record of eleven wins and four losses this season, proving that the native West Virginian has done plenty to keep Farrady Post in the running in Roy Beeman's circuit.

Frostburg and Queen City have met twice this season and Lambert has been returned the winner on each occasion. The Brewers took a 14-4 lacing in Frostburg then battled the Mountain City team ten innings before bowing, 9-8, on June 9.

Yanks Release Grimes To Philadelphia A's

NEW YORK, July 11 (AP)—The New York Yankees today announced the release via waivers of Utility Infielder Oscar Grimes to the Philadelphia Athletics.

Grimes came to the Yankees after the 1942 season and played in only nine games in 1943 because of injuries. He was a regular during the 1944 and 1945 seasons, hitting .27 in 116 games in 1944 and .265 in 142 games last year.

His release, bringing the Yankee roster down to the 30-player limit, was made necessary through the return of Pitcher Mel Queen from the service.

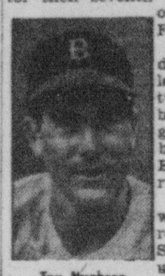
RIP RUSSELL'S DOUBLE IN TENTH ENABLES BOSOX TO BEAT DETROIT

Blow Sends Doerr Home With Deciding Tally; Hughson Wins 10th

BOSTON, July 11 (AP)—The pace-setting Boston Red Sox edged Detroit 3 to 2 in 10 innings today for their seventh victory in a row over the Tigers at Fenway park.



Tex Hughson

Tex Hughson, who went the route for the Red Sox in hanging up his 10th victory against five defeats, shut out the Tigers until the ninth.

Then, Roy Cullenbine walked. He was forced at second when Doerr made a spectacular back-hand stop of Roger Cramer's grounder over second. Birdie Tebbetts came through with a single, sending Cramer to third. Eddie Lake brought home Cramer and Al Lipon, running for Tebbetts, with a double over Dom DiMaggio's head in center field. Box:

A's BLOW IN SEVENTH

PHILADELPHIA, July 11 (AP)—St. Louis made only two hits off Phil Marchildon and Bob Savage but combined these two bingles with three bases on balls to score four runs in the seventh and defeat the Philadelphia Athletics, 4 to 3 today.

Marchildon paved the way for his downfall when with one out in the Browns' big frame he walked Jeff Heath, Chet Laabs and Walt Judnich. Mark Christman then made the Browns' first hit, a double that scored Heath and Laabs and when Pinchhitter Joe Schultz singled both Judnich and Christman crossed the plate.

The Athletics pushed over two runs in the third on four hits and added another in the seventh. Box:

Frank Kovacs Wins Over Vince Richards In Three-Hour Match

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., July 11 (AP) — Fighting for every point in a match that lasted more than three hours, third-seeded Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Calif., downed veteran Vince Richards of New York, 10-8, 4-6, 11-9, 10-8, to reach the quarter-finals of the national professional grass court tennis championships here today.

Richards, the erstwhile boy wonder who won his first title at the age of 16, was not conceded a chance against the big, smooth-stroking Californian but he took a cue from his old doubles partner, Bill Tilden, who extended Wayne Sabin yesterday, and used his entire bag of tricks to keep the issue in doubt all the way.

In the remaining matches in the lower half of the round of 16, eighth-seeded Carl Earn of Los Angeles, defeated Gene Mako of Los Angeles, rated tenth, 7-5, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3; Defending Champion Welby Van Horn of Atlanta, Ga., eliminated John Nogrady of Lakeview, N. Y., 6-3, 6-3, 4-6, 6-0, and Don Budge of Oakland, seeded second behind Bobby Riggs, completed the quarter-final bracket by beating John Howard of Los Angeles, 6-0, 6-2, 6-4.

Robinson Hits Two Homers, One With Bases Full; 56,243 See Game

NEW YORK, July 11 (AP)—Making his third start in five days and pitching with only one day of rest, the mighty Bob Feller absorbed one of the worst beatings of his career tonight as the New York Yankees slugged his offerings for 11 hits and nine runs in five innings, and went on to whip the Cleveland Indians 9-1.

A throng of 56,243 fans watched Blazing Bob, who on Tuesday had set the National League All-Stars down with two infield hits in a brilliant three inning stint, go down to his sixth defeat of the season and his first against the Yankees this year. Previously Feller had beaten the Yankees four times including a no-hitter on April 30.

Aaron Robinson, powerful Yankee catcher, was Feller's biggest tormenter. The husky backstop cracked two homers, his second circuit smash coming with the bases loaded to climax a five-run fifth inning outburst. Box:

DOROTHY GERMAIN AND PHYLLIS OTTO REACH GOLF FINALS

COLUMBUS, O., July 11 (AP)—Two blazing, identical stretch nines—one which won and one which failed—highlighted the semi-finals of the National Women's Collegiate Tournament today as Dorothy Germain of Beaver College and Phyllis Otto of Northwestern University reached into tomorrow's finals.

With an incoming nine of 35,, one under men's par, the North-western star from Atlantic, Ia., tripped Carol "Babe" Freese, the Reed College, Portland, Ore., stylist, 2 and 1, after making the turn one down.

Spectacled Patricia O'Sullivan, the Bradford Junior College, Boston, scrapper, also slapped out a 35 on the back nine against Miss Germain, but even that wasn't good enough. The Beaver College veteran outlasted the Irish girl, 2 and 1.

CLYDE (SMACKOVER) SCOTT, NAVY FOOTBALL STAR, WILL RESIGN

Bob Hill, Tars' Baseball Standout, Also Will Quit Academy

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 11. (AP)—Clyde (Smackover) Scott, Naval Academy backfield star and Bob Hill, Tar baseball standout, have submitted their resignations, it was disclosed today by high academy sources who declined use of their names.

These sources said that the resignations of both athletes were at the office of the secretary of the navy in Washington and would be acted on shortly, possibly tomorrow.

The naval academy declined officially either to deny or confirm the report.

Scott, of Smackover, Ark., performed capably on navy's 1945 varsity eleven and was considered an important pillar in the offense of the 1946 outfit now shaping up under the direction of Capt. Thomas Hamilton, Tar head coach.

Scott has two more years of varsity competition.

It was reported that Hill, from Washington, D. C., had received "feelers" from a number of professional baseball clubs and had resigned to take advantage of one of them.

Hill starred at first base on Coach Max Bishop's baseball teams for the past two years and ranked among the top hitters.

Hill also is the naval academy's heavyweight boxing champion. He held the title two years.

Neither Scott or Hill could be reached for comment.

54-Hole Event Is Listed July 27-28; Mt. Lake Fixes Net Dates

OAKLAND, Md., July 11—Definite dates for the tri-state golf tournament and the model aircraft meet were announced this week, and added to the activities in tennis at Mt. Lake Park, these three events give promise of some unusual entertainment during the next few weeks. The dates were announced by the Mt. Lake Park-Oakland Activities committee, as follows:

Second annual Western Maryland Tri-State Amateur Invitation Golf tournament, Saturday and Sunday, July 27 and 28, to be played as a 54-hole medal event with approximately 100 entries expected, on the Oakland municipal course.

Model aircraft meet, Sunday, August 25, at the Weber meadow, south of the Weber railroad crossing, en route 219, south of town.

The twenty-fourth annual Western Maryland Tennis championships, to be held August 12 to 17 at Mountain Lake Park, on the tennis club courts.

Heffer Won 1945 Trophy

Golf players are already making inquiries about the second annual tournament which last year attracted a large number of entries. George Hoffer, Wheeling, W. Va., who won the tournament last year has turned professional and is now at Oglehay Park, Wheeling. He will return the Logan L. Carr trophy which he won last year, which must be won three times for permanent possession, and he indicated he planned to bring several contestants to the meet. Evo Petri, Wheeling, 2nd place, and Phil Contic, Kingwood, 3rd place, are expected to compete again this year.

J. Pat Beacom, re-elected chairman of the summer activities committee last week, said suitable prizes were being obtained for presentation to the winners. The event is sponsored by the Oakland Golf Club and Bill Loeffler, pro, will be in charge. An entrance fee of $5 is being made.

Model Aircraft Meet

One of the features of the model aircraft meet on August 25 will be an exhibition by army and navy air force fliers, Mr. Beacom announced.

Suitable trophies are being secured which will be known as the Jimmie Doolittle and William R. Enyard trophies. They will have to be won three times to become permanent property of those who complete. Doolittle is the famed army flier and Enyard is president of the national aeronautical association. The latter association is sponsoring the event here which has been held previously in various parts of eastern United States and which annually attracts 300 or more entries and scores of interested spectators from all over the eastern section of the United States.

Mr. Beacom said there were to be two classes, one for juniors, up to 15 years, and one for seniors, all above 16. These are to be further subdivided into a class for gasoline engine craft, one propelled by rubber band, and the glider type, without motor. Points will be given for winners in each class.

Tennis Prospects Bright

Ralph Weber, president of the Mt. Lake Park Tennis club, announced this week that a number of inquiries already had been received in regard to the tennis tournament, August 12 to 17. Lieut. John Curtiss, Washington, D. C., who won the singles crown last year, is planning to return, and there were prospects of 100 entries. Over fifty participated last year. Other winners last year were Mrs. David Gray, of Washington, D. C., women's singles; Alex Keiles and Frank Roberts, Baltimore, men's doubles; Mrs. Gray and Capt. Alice McDonald, women's doubles; Philip Neff, Washington, and Mrs. Gray, mixed doubles.

"Boots" Miller vs. May?

Moorefield Tests Legion

In Sunday Dual Bill Here

Lambert Due At North End

By C. V. BURNS

The Interstate League's No. 1 pitchers — William "Boots" Miller, veteran southpaw, and Elwood May, young righthander—will likely hook up in battle Sunday when Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, of this city, and John M. Gollady Post No. 64, American Legion, of Moorefield, W. Va., do battle in an important doubleheader at Community Park.

Each twirler has a record of seven wins and one defeat. Miller's lone reverse was suffered at the hands of the Cumberland Eagles, 9 to 3, while May's loss was in the eleven inning thriller of June 15 when George Geatz, of Fort Cumberland, triumphed over him at Moorefield, 8 to 5 in the only games played to date by these teams due to rain washing out the May 18 tilt.

Manager Art Garbark's Legionnaires are now setting the pace in President John J. Long's circuit by the margin of one full game over Moorefield. The locals have won 12 and lost 3 while the Hardy countians' record is 11 wins and four losses.

If Moorefield is able to hurdle a tough Hyndman team in the Pennsylvania town on Saturday and the Legion defeats Fulton Myers Post here on the same day the margin between the teams will remain the same before the Sunday battles here. This would mean that the South Branch team would have to take both ends of Sunday's bargain bill to gain undisputed possession of first place.

Thirteen games remain to be played by Moorefield and Fort Cumberland before the close of the season September 1 and a lot of things can happen between now and the final contest. The locals have eight of their 13 engagements set for the home lot while Moorefield must play eight of its thirteen on the road. It doesn't matter, however, which of the teams finishes in first place as it will be the winner of the Shaughnessy playoff series that will be recognized as the league champion.

As the teams battle down the home stretch the struggle among the current third, fourth and fifth place clubs, namely, Hyndman Firemen, Cumberland Eagles and Mt. Savage, for a spot in the playoffs should prove just as interesting as the battle being waged for the top berth. Only the first four teams will figure in the Shaughnessy series and it looks like Barrelville, Fulton Myers and the Moose have already lost too many games to crash the post season contests.

Sunday's counter attraction here will be the Frostburg Legion-Queen City Brewers contest at Stitcher field. Fans attending this game will likely see one of Bi-State League's top-drawer pitchers in the person of Ivan "Speed" Lambert, Frostburg ace, who has been twirling winning ball around these parts for many years.

Lambert has marked up eight wins against two losses for Manager Enoch Price's outfit, which has a record of eleven wins and four losses this season, proving that the native West Virginian has done plenty to keep Farrady Post in the running in Roy Beeman's circuit.

Frostburg and Queen City have met twice this season and Lambert has been returned the winner on each occasion. The Brewers took a 14-4 lacing in Frostburg then battled the Mountain City team ten innings before bowing, 9-8, on June 9.

Bing Crosby Handicap Set For Del Mar Track

DEL MAR, Calif., July 11 (AP)—The first of ten stake races announced today by the Del Mar Turf Club for the 35-day summer season, starting August 6, will be named in honor of Bing Crosby, the track's founder and former owner, the club announced today.

The Bing Crosby $7,500 Handicap for three year olds and older, running six furlongs, will be the featured event for the season's first Saturday, August 10.

W. F. Tunney, general manager, disclosed that the ten stakes—topped by the $15,000 added Del Mar Handicap Sept. 14—will aggregate $77,500.

Chicago Cub Hurler Wins Slab Duel From Hatten In 1:58

CHICAGO, July 11 (AP) — Johnny Schmitz, Cub southpaw who was chosen for the National League All-Star squad but was held out of the lop-sided game in Boston, lived up to his all-star rating today when he pitched the Cubs to a snappy 1 to 0 victory over the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers.

In a mound battle that was run off in an hour and 58 minutes, Schmitz bested Brooklyn's Joe Hatten, allowing only three hits, no two in the same inning. Box:

Yanks Release Grimes To Philadelphia A's

NEW YORK, July 11 (AP)—The New York Yankees today announced the release via waivers of Utility Infielder Oscar Grimes to the Philadelphia Athletics.

Grimes came to the Yankees after the 1942 season and played in only nine games in 1943 because of injuries. He was a regular during the 1944 and 1945 seasons, hitting .27 in 116 games in 1944 and .265 in 142 games last year.

His release, bringing the Yankee roster down to the 30-player limit, was made necessary through the return of Pitcher Mel Queen from the service.

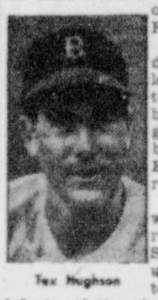
RIP RUSSELL'S DOUBLE IN TENTH ENABLES BOSOX TO BEAT DETROIT

Blow Sends Doerr Home With Deciding Tally; Hughson Wins 10th

BOSTON, July 11 (AP)—The pace-setting Boston Red Sox edged Detroit 3 to 2 in 10 innings today for their seventh victory in a row over the Tigers at Fenway park.



Tex Hughson

Tex Hughson, who went the route for the Red Sox in hanging up his 10th victory against five defeats, shut out the Tigers until the ninth.

Then, Roy Cullenbine walked. He was forced at second when Doerr made a spectacular back-hand stop of Roger Cramer's grounder over second. Birdie Tebbetts came through with a single, sending Cramer to third. Eddie Lake brought home Cramer and Al Lipon, running for Tebbetts, with a double over Dom DiMaggio's head in center field. Box:

A's BLOW IN SEVENTH

PHILADELPHIA, July 11 (AP)—St. Louis made only two hits off Phil Marchildon and Bob Savage but combined these two bingles with three bases on balls to score four runs in the seventh and defeat the Philadelphia Athletics, 4 to 3 today.

Marchildon paved the way for his downfall when with one out in the Browns' big frame he walked Jeff Heath, Chet Laabs and Walt Judnich. Mark Christman then made the Browns' first hit, a double that scored Heath and Laabs and when Pinchhitter Joe Schultz singled both Judnich and Christman crossed the plate.

The Athletics pushed over two runs in the third on four hits and added another in the seventh. Box:

Frank Kovacs Wins Over Vince Richards In Three-Hour Match

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., July 11 (AP) — Fighting for every point in a match that lasted more than three hours, third-seeded Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Calif., downed veteran Vince Richards of New York, 10-8, 4-6, 11-9, 10-8, to reach the quarter-finals of the national professional grass court tennis championships here today.

Richards, the erstwhile boy wonder who won his first title at the age of 16, was not conceded a chance against the big, smooth-stroking Californian but he took a cue from his old doubles partner, Bill Tilden, who extended Wayne Sabin yesterday, and used his entire bag of tricks to keep the issue in doubt all the way.

In the remaining matches in the lower half of the round of 16, eighth-seeded Carl Earn of Los Angeles, defeated Gene Mako of Los Angeles, rated tenth, 7-5, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3; Defending Champion Welby Van Horn of Atlanta, Ga., eliminated John Nogrady of Lakeview, N. Y., 6-3, 6-3, 4-6, 6-0, and Don Budge of Oakland, seeded second behind Bobby Riggs, completed the quarter-final bracket by beating John Howard of Los Angeles, 6-0, 6-2, 6-4.

Ramsey Will Play

AUBURN, Ala., July 11 (AP)—Buster Ramsey, assistant line coach at Auburn and an All-American guard at William & Mary in 1942, said today he had accepted an invitation to play in the All-Star football game at Chicago on August 30.

New York Yanks Blast Bob Feller, Trim Tribe, 9-1

Robinson Hits Two Homers, One With Bases Full; 56,243 See Game

NEW YORK, July 11 (AP)—Making his third start in five days and pitching with only one day of rest, the mighty Bob Feller absorbed one of the worst beatings of his career tonight as the New York Yankees slugged his offerings for 11 hits and nine runs in five innings, and went on to whip the Cleveland Indians 9-1.

A throng of 56,243 fans watched Blazing Bob, who on Tuesday had set the National League All-Stars down with two infield hits in a brilliant three inning stint, go down to his sixth defeat of the season and his first against the Yankees this year. Previously Feller had beaten the Yankees four times including a no-hitter on April 30.

Aaron Robinson, powerful Yankee catcher, was Feller's biggest tormenter. The husky backstop cracked two homers, his second circuit smash coming with the bases loaded to climax a five-run fifth inning outburst. Box:

DOROTHY GERMAIN AND PHYLLIS OTTO REACH GOLF FINALS

COLUMBUS, O., July 11 (AP)—Two blazing, identical stretch nines—one which won and one which failed—highlighted the semi-finals of the National Women's Collegiate Tournament today as Dorothy Germain of Beaver College and Phyllis Otto of Northwestern University reached into tomorrow's finals.

With an incoming nine of 35, one under men's par, the North-western star from Atlantic, Ia., tripped Carol "Babe" Preese, the Reed College, Portland, Ore., stylist, 2 and 1, after making the turn one down.

Spectacled Patricia O'Sullivan, the Bradford Junior College, Boston, scrapper, also slapped out a 35 on the back nine against Miss Germain, but even that wasn't good enough. The Beaver College veteran outlasted the Irish girl, 2 and 1.

Regatta Dates Set

SOLOMONS, Md., July 11 (AP) — With a number of well-known speedboat pilots already entered, the Solomons Island Yacht Club regatta to be renewed July 20-21 for the first time since the war, was shaping up today as one of the best ever held here.

In addition to races for inboard and outboard speedboats, the regatta committee is planning events for sailboats also, to be held on the morning of July 21.

CLYDE (SMACKOVER) SCOTT, NAVY FOOTBALL STAR, WILL RESIGN

Bob Hill, Tars' Baseball Standout, Also Will Quit Academy

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 11. (AP)—Clyde (Smackover) Scott, Naval Academy backfield star and Bob Hill, Tar baseball standout, have submitted their resignations, it was disclosed today by high academy sources who declined use of their names.

These sources said that the resignations of both athletes were at the office of the secretary of the navy in Washington and would be acted on shortly, possibly tomorrow.

The naval academy declined officially either to deny or confirm the report.

Scott, of Smackover, Ark., performed capably on navy's 1945 varsity eleven and was considered an important pillar in the offense of the 1946 outfit now shaping up under the direction of Capt. Thomas Hamilton, Tar head coach.

Scott has two more years of varsity competition.

It was reported that Hill, from Washington, D. C., had received "feelers" from a number of professional baseball clubs and had resigned to take advantage of one of them.

Hill starred at first base on Coach Max Bishop's baseball teams for the past two years and ranked among the top hitters.

Hill also is the naval academy's heavyweight boxing champion. He held the title two years.

CLYDE SCOTT

Neither Scott or Hill could be reached for comment.

Resignations of midshipmen do not become official until they have been approved by the secretary of the navy.

EAGLES TRANSFER GAME

Manager Williams Beal announced last night that the Interstate League game scheduled here tomorrow between Cumberland Fraternal Order of Eagles and Mt. Savage will be transferred to Mt. Savage because the locals are unable to secure a playing field here for the game.

Joe Curio Tests Sugar Robinson In Garden Fight

Welters To Meet Tonight; Newark Boxer Has Won 32 to 33 Matches

NEW YORK, July 11. (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, who has been disposing of right-handed opponents at a rapid clip lately by way of tuning up for what he hopes will be a shot at Marty Servo's welterweight title next month, tackles his first southpaw tomorrow night.

The first left-hander Robinson has looked at in 69 professional bouts—67 of them winning efforts—is rugged Joe Curcio of Newark. Joe, besides being a "wrong way" fighter, has won 32 out of 33 bouts in the past two years, beating such rivals as Cecil Hudson, Freddie Archer, Aaron Perry and Fritzie Zivic. The one defeat came last September at the hands of Tony Riccio, whom he had beaten four times previously.

Robinson, beaten only by Jacob Lamotta and held to a draw by Jose Basora during his professional career, was the overwhelming favorite to get past this obstacle to his title quest.

Another hitch cropped up today however, when it was learned that the Yankee Stadium will not be available on August 21, the date set for the once-delayed Robinson-Servo title bout. The Yankees will play off a postponed game against the Chicago White Sox that day.

As a result, Promoter Mike Jacobs and Al Weill, Servo's manager began dickering about a new site and date, with Jacobs seeking to move the bout into Madison Square Garden, Aug. 23, and Weill asking for an outdoor shot in September when the Yankees again will be on the road.

Grand Circuit Races Will Feature Reading Fair In September

READING, Pa., July 11—Secretary Charles W. Swoyer said here today that the Reading Fair will resume operation, September 8 to 15, after a wartime lapse of four years.

Swoyer reported that the Fair Association recently regained possession of its 87-acre fairground, located in Muhlenberg township, just outside the Reading city limits. During the war years, the property was leased by the army for use as a Third Service Command Ordnance installation.

Prior to the war, the Reading Fair attracted more gate admissions than any other fair in the state, according to the annual report published by the Pennsylvania State Association of County Fairs. In 1942, its last year of prewar operation, the attendance figures plummeted to 223,437, the largest in history.

The fair annually sponsors the only Grand Circuit harness race meeting in Pennsylvania, and its famed futurities offer the biggest sulky race purses in this part of the country. This year, the four futurity stakes have an estimated mass value of $16,450.

"Falcons" Is Name Adopted For Fairmont State Athletic Teams

FAIRMONT, W. Va., July 11 (AP)—Athletic teams fielded by Fairmont State college henceforth will be known as the "Fairmont Falcons."

That name was chosen by the student body today, which voted 157 for the Falcons to 56 for "Thunderbirds."

GETS BIG BONUS

JOE TEPSIC, above, hard-hitting Penn State college outfielder, received a $17,000 bonus when he signed with Branch Rickey to play for the Brooklyn Dodgers. It is the highest bonus ever paid to a free agent by the Dodgers. Old timers may recall two other Penn Staters who made good in the big leagues—Lefty Page with the Cleveland Indians and Miles Thomas, one-time hurler for the Yankees.

Sonora League Folds Up On Order Of Governor

NOGALES, Sonora, Mex., July 11 (AP)—The Sonora State Baseball League folded up today on order of Gov. Abelardo Rodriguez, who scolded team managers and players for "lack of sportsmanship and poor conduct on the field."

The Sonora governor's directive did not cite any specific instances, but it was believed that weekend disorders which approached riot proportions at Nogales and Guaymas were the cause of the order to disband.

MONMOUTH---RACE TRACK OF TOMORROW

FUTURISTIC Monmouth Park, N. J., new $4,000,000 track, will be both a "horseman's and a patron's" track, its president, Amory L. Haskell (right), promises. Stand seats 9,200. Escalators will scoot bettors up to its brink. Stables like Brookmeade, Greentree will race there. Last meet at old Monmouth, then playground for presidents, was in 1893.

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

OCEANPORT, N. J., July 11 — The racetrack of tomorrow; That's what people are saying of new $4,000,000 Monmouth Park, one of the country's two post-war turf projects. The other is the new track at Atlantic City, 75 miles south of here.

Monmouth is in the midst of its first meeting since 1893. It was here that the glory of the thoroughbred sport thrived before the turn of the century.

The old course opened in 1870 when hotelmen along the Jersey shore, disturbed at dwindling summer patronage, turned to racing as a magnet to draw patrons.

Old Monmouth even attracted Presidents, Ulysses S. Grant and James A. Garfield being regular visitors.

Famed Entries

Armory L. Haskell, president of the Monmouth Park Jockey Club, says new Monmouth will be both a "horseman's track and a patron's track."

Haskell, former president of the National Horse Show Association and owner of nearby Woodland Farm, has been instrumental in getting some of racing's biggest stables to race here.

These include the strings of C. V. Whitney, William Helis, Greentree and Brookmeade.

Capable Boss

Edward J. Brennan is the general manager. The board of directors would have to look far to find another man with his capabilities for he has opened seven racetracks.

This new course, situated between Red Bank and Long Branch, includes 8,200 grandstand and 1,000 box seats, all of which are spaced far apart.

Next season, when the track is fully completed, they expect to have two escalators operating from 143 mutuel windows to the upper part of the grandstand.

The clubhouse, still under construction, will be five stories with accommodations for 2,750. Two of the floors will be more or less for private box holders.

Erected by the builders of Suffolk Downs and Narragansett in New England, Monmouth expects to draw many New York patrons.

By rail it is an hour and a half from the big city.

There are eight races daily with a $2 daily double on the first and second events.

The highlight of the meeting is anticipated on closing day, July 20, when the $25,000 Monmouth Handicap will be revived.

In some respects Monmouth resembles Saratoga. It has that country atmosphere.

About the only things missing are spring water and the Spa's ancient hotels.

Bans Foul Language

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 11 (AP)—Southeastern League President Stuart X. Stephenson took another swing today at players who use "foul language" in league games.

He announced that hereafter a $100 fine will be assessed against any club when its members shout abusive epithets from the bench and umpires can't determine exactly who is responsible.

Flyweight Title Match Sought For Honolulu

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—Promoter Leo Leavitt, Honolulu, wired the National Boxing Association today that he will fly to Washington and London to arrange a world flyweight championship fight for Honolulu.

Leavitt seeks a match between Jackie Patterson, England, and Dado Marion, Hawaiian, for the Honolulu stadium. Patterson successfully defended the title Wednesday night by defeating Joe Curran, England challenger, in a 15-round bout in Glasgow, Scotland.

Sale of liquefied petroleum gases for household use last year was 540 million gallons, an increase of 23 per cent over 1944.

Joe Curio Tests Sugar Robinson In Garden Fight

Welters To Meet Tonight; Newark Boxer Has Won 32 to 33 Matches

NEW YORK, July 11. (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, who has been disposing of right-handed opponents at a rapid clip lately by way of tuning up for what he hopes will be a shot at Marty Servo's welterweight title next month, tackles his first southpaw tomorrow night.

The first left-hander Robinson has looked at in 69 professional bouts—67 of them winning efforts—is rugged Joe Curcio of Newark. Joe, besides being a "wrong way" fighter, has won 32 out of 33 bouts in the past two years, beating such rivals as Cecil Hudson, Freddie Archer, Aaron Perry and Fritzie Zivic. The one defeat came last September at the hands of Tony Riccio, whom he had beaten four times previously.

Robinson, beaten only by Jacob Lamotta and held to a draw by Jose Basora during his professional career, was the overwhelming favorite to get past this obstacle to his title quest.

Another hitch cropped up today however, when it was learned that the Yankee Stadium will not be available on August 21, the date set for the once-delayed Robinson-Servo title bout. The Yankees will play off a postponed game against the Chicago White Sox that day.

As a result, Promoter Mike Jacobs and Al Weill, Servo's manager began dickering about a new site and date, with Jacobs seeking to move the bout into Madison Square Garden, Aug. 23, and Weill asking for an outdoor shot in September when the Yankees again will be on the road.

Grand Circuit Races Will Feature Reading Fair In September

READING, Pa., July 11—Secretary Charles W. Swoyer said here today that the Reading Fair will resume operation, September 8 to 15, after a wartime lapse of four years.

Swoyer reported that the Fair Association recently regained possession of its 87-acre fairground, located in Muhlenberg township, just outside the Reading city limits. During the war years, the property was leased by the army for use as a Third Service Command Ordnance installation.

Prior to the war, the Reading Fair attracted more gate admissions than any other fair in the state, according to the annual report published by the Pennsylvania State Association of County Fairs. In 1942, its last year of prewar operation, the attendance figures plummeted to 223,437, the largest in history.

The fair annually sponsors the only Grand Circuit harness race meeting in Pennsylvania, and its famed futurities offer the biggest sulky race purses in this part of the country. This year, the four futurity stakes have an estimated mass value of $16,450.

"Falcons" Is Name Adopted For Fairmont State Athletic Teams

FAIRMONT, W. Va., July 11 (AP)—Athletic teams fielded by Fairmont State college henceforth will be known as the "Fairmont Falcons."

That name was chosen by the student body today, which voted 157 for the Falcons to 56 for "Thunderbirds."

GETS BIG BONUS

JOE TEPSIC, above, hard-hitting Penn State college outfielder, received a $17,000 bonus when he signed with Branch Rickey to play for the Brooklyn Dodgers. It is the highest bonus ever paid to a free agent by the Dodgers. Old timers may recall two other Penn Staters who made good in the big leagues—Lefty Page with the Cleveland Indians and Miles Thomas, one-time hurler for the Yankees.

Sonora League Folds Up On Order Of Governor

NOGALES, Sonora, Mex., July 11 (AP)—The Sonora State Baseball League folded up today on order of Gov. Abelardo Rodriguez, who scolded team managers and players for "lack of sportsmanship and poor conduct on the field."

The Sonora governor's directive did not cite any specific instances, but it was believed that weekend disorders which approached riot proportions at Nogales and Guaymas were the cause of the order to disband.

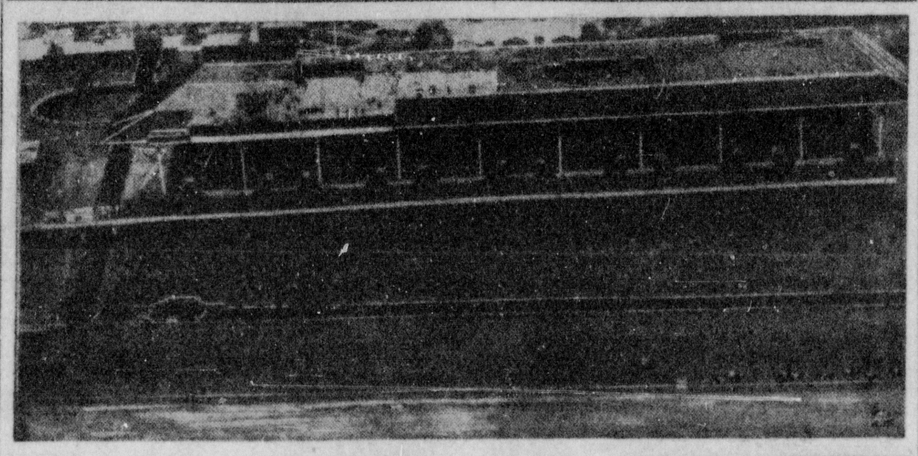
MONMOUTH---RACE TRACK OF TOMORROW



FUTURISTIC Monmouth Park, N. J., new $4,000,000 track, will be both a "horseman's and a patron's" track, its president, Amory L. Haskell (right), promises. Stand seats 9,200. Escalators will scoot bettors up to its brink. Stables like Brookmeade, Greentree will race there. Last meet at old Monmouth, then playground for presidents, was in 1893.

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

OCEANPORT, N. J., July 11 — The racetrack of tomorrow; That's what people are saying of new $4,000,000 Monmouth Park, one of the country's two post-war turf projects. The other is the new track at Atlantic City, 75 miles south of here.

Monmouth is in the midst of its first meeting since 1893. It was here that the glory of the thoroughbred sport thrived before the turn of the century.

The old course opened in 1870 when hotelmen along the Jersey shore, disturbed at dwindling summer patronage, turned to racing as a magnet to draw patrons.

Old Monmouth even attracted Presidents, Ulysses S. Grant and James A. Garfield being regular visitors.

Famed Entries

Armory L. Haskell, president of the Monmouth Park Jockey Club, says new Monmouth will be both a "horseman's track and a patron's track."

Haskell, former president of the National Horse Show Association and owner of nearby Woodland Farm, has been instrumental in getting some of racing's biggest stables to race here.

These include the strings of C. V. Whitney, William Helis, Greentree and Brookmeade.

Capable Boss

Edward J. Brennan is the general manager. The board of directors would have to look far to find another man with his capabilities for he has opened seven racetracks.

This new course, situated between Red Bank and Long Branch, includes 8,200 grandstand and 1,000 box seats, all of which are spaced far apart.

Next season, when the track is fully completed, they expect to have two escalators operating from 143 mutuel windows to the upper part of the grandstand.

The clubhouse, still under construction, will be five stories with accommodations for 2,750. Two of the floors will be more or less for private box holders.

Erected by the builders of Suffolk Downs and Narragansett in New England, Monmouth expects to draw many New York patrons.

By rail it is an hour and a half from the big city.

There are eight races daily with a $2 daily double on the first and second events.

The highlight of the meeting is anticipated on closing day, July 20, when the $25,000 Monmouth Handicap will be revived.

In some respects Monmouth resembles Saratoga. It has that country atmosphere.

About the only things missing are spring water and the Spa's ancient hotels.

Bans Foul Language

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 11 (AP)—Southeastern League President Stuart X. Stephenson took another swing today at players who use "foul language" in league games.

He announced that hereafter a $100 fine will be assessed against any club when its members shout abusive epithets from the bench and umpires can't determine exactly who is responsible.

Flyweight Title Match Sought For Honolulu

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—Promoter Leo Leavitt, Honolulu, wired the National Boxing Association today that he will fly to Washington and London to arrange a world flyweight championship fight for Honolulu.

Leavitt seeks a match between Jackie Patterson, England, and Dado Marion, Hawaiian, for the Honolulu stadium. Patterson successfully defended the title Wednesday night by defeating Joe Curran, England challenger, in a 15-round bout in Glasgow, Scotland.

Sale of liquefied petroleum gases for household use last year was 540 million gallons, an increase of 23 per cent over 1944.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The second of the Dashiell Hammett written detective yarns makes its appearance on the ABC network Friday night as replacement for the Woody Herman show at 7 o'clock. It's called "The Adventures of Sam Spade", a hard-boiled detective. "The Fat Man," also Hammett, has been running on Monday nights for some time. Howard Duff plays the lead and Lurene Tuttle the secretary Effie.

Another Friday night change already in effect is the CBS introduction of Hawk Durango, a story of the west, in the Maisie time at 9:30 p. m. Sounds like a rootin' tootin' shootin' affair.

ABC hasn't had much luck with its Friday night bout broadcasts since the Joe Louis-Billy Conn affair. Two of them have been cancelled because of the condition of the principals. But that doesn't forego the fact another event has been listed for the usual 9 o'clock time, namely Ray Robinson battling Joe Curico in a welterweight category.

Orson Welles and his summer theater of CBS at 9 are to put on a radio saw-off version of "The Search for Henri LeFevre." . . . At the same hour on NBC Mystery Theater says it is going to have something about "Bury Me Dead" To help out there will be Claudia Morgan in the lead.

Married for Life, MBS give-away series for married folk or those about to be, bids goodbye at 9:30 a. m.

Government Employes Required To Forfeit The Right To Strike

The United States Civil Service Commission has informed federal agencies that persons entering the government service and those now in the government service should be required to execute an affidavit in which they swear (or affirm) they are not members of an organization of government employes which asserts the right to strike against the government and that they will not, while in the government service, become members of such an organization, or engage in a strike against the government.

Several appropriations bills for the fiscal year 1947, one of which has already been enacted, provide that no part of any appropriation shall be used to pay the salary or wages of any person who engages in a strike against the government of the United States or who is a member of an organization of government employes that asserts the right to strike against the government. It is provided that for the purpose of this legislation an affidavit shall be considered prima facie evidence that the person making the affidavit has not contrary to the provisions of this law engaged in a strike against the government and is not a member of an organization of government employes that asserts the right to strike against the government.

Send twenty-five cents in coins for this pattern to The Cumberland News, 39 Pattern Department, 232 West 18th street, New York 11, N. Y. Print plainly size, name, address, style number.

Fifteen cents more brings you the Marian Martin summer 1946 pattern book. Many brand-new, cool easy-to-make fashions for everyone. . . . And, printed right in the book is a free pattern for ballet slippers for home and beach wear.

Government Employes Required To Forfeit The Right To Strike

The United States Civil Service Commission has informed federal agencies that persons entering the government service and those now in the government service should be required to execute an affidavit in which they swear (or affirm) they are not members of an organization of government employes which asserts the right to strike against the government and that they will not, while in the government service, become members of such an organization, or engage in a strike against the government.

Several appropriations bills for the fiscal year 1947, one of which has already been enacted, provide that no part of any appropriation shall be used to pay the salary or wages of any person who engages in a strike against the government of the United States or who is a member of an organization of government employes that asserts the right to strike against the government. It is provided that for the purpose of this legislation an affidavit shall be considered prima facie evidence that the person making the affidavit has not contrary to the provisions of this law engaged in a strike against the government and is not a member of an organization of government employes that asserts the right to strike against the government.

SALESMAN
One of the oldest and largest national organizations is opening a division in Cumberland and has opening for three topnotch men. Good character, intelligence, the energy and ambition to be successful are the requisites. We train you thoroughly, supply definite leads and give every needed cooperation. We want men who are looking for a successful lifetime position in a dignified and most worthy field. If you have real executive ability you can find your level with us. We have your opportunity. During 1945 a former N. C. County Superintendent of Schools earned over $8,500 in N. C. This was his first year with us. A former $35-per-week shoe clerk earned over $16,000 in N. C. A former school teacher earned $243 with us last week, which was his fourth week with us. Two recently discharged servicemen are earning an average of $140 per week in their initial training period with us. These records are open to anyone. We have numerous similar cases in various states. Our clientele is the finest. We require good representatives. I will be in Cumberland within two weeks to interview applicants. Meat Prices Will

Garlitz, who operates a store himself, said he had meat in the case all day, and it didn't seem to cause any excitement.

A statement from Swift and Company's local office said, "prices on meats to consumers are unchanged from levels prevailing prior to July 1, except that the company is adding the amount of the subsidies which the government has withdrawn.

"These subsidies heretofore have constituted a hidden cost to consumers for meat whether or not they have been able to buy meat, since they have been taken from consumer's pockets in the form of federal taxes. Now the subsidies have been eliminated and price adjustments throughout the live stock and meat industry have reflected this."

Lower Than Black Market

One local merchant explained subsidies as the government paying part of America's grocery bill. Now, he explained, with OPA dead the increase will have to be made to permit packers and slaughters to make a profit.

He said the government paid as much as 3 cents a pound for live weight which will be represented by about 5 cents increase in the price of dressed meats.

Garlitz said last night that even with the increase, meat is below the black market price that Cumberlanders were paying, and added that the American Meat Institute's publication estimated 80 per cent of all meat consumed in cities came from black market, and Cumberland was no exception.

A survey of shoppers in Cumberland markets yesterday brought the common reply that "meat is costing a little more, but I have been able to get enough for my family's needs." Most of the shoppers however explained that they were getting meat from their independent grocers and not in the chain markets.

One local merchant, who operates a produce market, said he believes most fresh vegetables are cheaper than they were under price control, but said fruits have gone up slightly. However he attributed this to the fact that OPA forced the sale of all fruits under the pound system and now he is selling fruits by the dozen again.

Garlitz said a 10 to 15 per cent increase in all food products would be noticed in the next six months, but this would be to overcome the subsidy prices that the government has been paying.

About the meat prices, he said, the present prices probably would take a drop once meat is kept in the cases for a week or two.

Demand Termed False One

The present meat demand is a false one, Garlitz explained, with people buying much more than their required supply, when they can get it. This will level off if the present crises passes and the demand will have a good bit to do with setting prices, he said.

As for foods, other than meat, the groceryman said, people haven't become excited and consequently the present supply is sufficient to meet the demand.

Questioned about the price of eggs and other dairy products he said milk and cream have increased a few pennies and eggs are increasing steadily. But he said the egg market is seasonable and the increase would come regardless. It happens every year, he said.

Milk was reported selling at 19 cents a quart and 21 cents for a half-pint of cream. Butter prices, Garlitz said would probably level off around 89 cents a pound. This he explained will include a 12 cent subsidy that the government has been paying.

B. E. Burkey, Swift and Company branch manager, reported yesterday two car loads of pork and beef are en route here, he said it will not supply normal demands. Prices are the same, Burkey said, except the company is adding the subsidies costs.

Other national packing managers refused to make any statement last night.

Meat Prices Will

plies. But most independent groceries reported meat for sale.

Garlitz, who operates a store himself, said he had meat in the case all day, and it didn't seem to cause any excitement.

A statement from Swift and Company's local office said, "prices on meats to consumers are unchanged from levels prevailing prior to July 1, except that the company is adding the amount of the subsidies which the government has withdrawn.

"These subsidies heretofore have constituted a hidden cost to consumers for meat whether or not they have been able to buy meat, since they have been taken from consumer's pockets in the form of federal taxes. Now the subsidies have been eliminated and price adjustments throughout the live stock and meat industry have reflected this."

Lower Than Black Market

One local merchant explained subsidies as the government paying part of America's grocery bill. Now, he explained, with OPA dead the increase will have to be made to permit packers and slaughters to make a profit.

He said the government paid as much as 3 cents a pound for live weight which will be represented by about 5 cents increase in the price of dressed meats.

Garlitz said last night that even with the increase, meat is below the black market price that Cumberlanders were paying, and added that the American Meat Institute's publication estimated 80 per cent of all meat consumed in cities came from black market, and Cumberland was no exception.

A survey of shoppers in Cumberland markets yesterday brought the common reply that "meat is costing a little more, but I have been able to get enough for my family's needs." Most of the shoppers however explained that they were getting meat from their independent grocers and not in the chain markets.

One local merchant, who operates a produce market, said he believes most fresh vegetables are cheaper than they were under price control, but said fruits have gone up slightly. However he attributed this to the fact that OPA forced the sale of all fruits under the pound system and now he is selling fruits by the dozen again.

Garlitz said a 10 to 15 per cent increase in all food products would be noticed in the next six months, but this would be to overcome the subsidy prices that the government has been paying.

About the meat prices, he said, the present prices probably would take a drop once meat is kept in the cases for a week or two.

Demand Termed False One

The present meat demand is a false one, Garlitz explained, with people buying much more than their required supply, when they can get it. This will level off if the present crises passes and the demand will have a good bit to do with setting prices, he said.

As for foods, other than meat, the groceryman said, people haven't become excited and consequently the present supply is sufficient to meet the demand.

Questioned about the price of eggs and other dairy products he said milk and cream have increased a few pennies and eggs are increasing steadily. But he said the egg market is seasonable and the increase would come regardless. It happens every year, he said.

Milk was reported selling at 19 cents a quart and 21 cents for a half-pint of cream. Butter prices, Garlitz said would probably level off around 89 cents a pound. This he explained will include a 12 cent subsidy that the government has been paying.

B. E. Burkey, Swift and Company branch manager, reported yesterday two car loads of pork and beef are en route here, he said it will not supply normal demands. Prices are the same, Burkey said, except the company is adding the subsidies costs.

Other national packing managers refused to make any statement last night.

Report Of Murder On Valley Road Proves Unfounded

Woman Says She Was Mistaken About Seeing Child's Body

The reported murder of a 9-year-old girl by a man in Bowman's Addition at 6 p. m. yesterday turned out an hour later, after a little questioning of "witnesses" and some beating of the underbrush, to be nothing more than an unfounded rumor.

County Investigator Terrence J. Boyle said Mrs. Nellie Peifer told him after questioning in his office that she was mistaken about seeing the "body" of the child.

Two other persons to whom Mrs. Peifer reported finding the "body" told Boyle that they saw no body or anything to indicate there had been any foul play when they returned to the spot with her.

After being reprimanded by Boyle, Mrs. Peifer was allowed to return to her home.

Hurry To Scene

State police and county authorities hurried to the scene of the supposed crime when they received the report about 6 p. m. Inquiry at Bowman's Addition indicated the "body" had been found "up on the hill."

When officers reached the spot several dozen men, women and children already had gathered there.

Mrs. Peifer said she was walking along the top of the hill to her home when she saw the "body" lying in a clearing some distance down the hillside.

She said she hurried to the nearby home of Mrs. Daisy Emerick and reported it to her.

Mrs. Emerick said she and Espey Hook, 21, returned to the scene with Mrs. Peifer and that they saw a man in dark clothes "going down the hill through the woods."

Hook said virtually the same thing.

At this point the investibation took a new track. Investigator Boyle and Trooper G. M. Rotruck took Mrs. Peifer, Mrs. Emerick and Hook to the nearby home of Mrs. Peifer's mother where they were questioned.

Searching Party Formed

First Sgt. John H. Doud, of the state police, organized spectators into a searching party and men scoured the nearby woods looking for the "man," the "body" or both. Nothing was found.

At the home of Mrs. Peifer's mother, Mrs. Ida Wolford, County Investigator Boyle and Dr. H. V. Deming, acting deputy county medical examiner, were questioning Mrs. Peifer. Mrs. Peifer was saying she was sorry she had caused "this disturbance."

Then the county investigator ordered Mrs. Peifer, Mrs. Emerick and Hook to the state's attorney's office where the case finally wound up about 8 p. m.

Mrs. Peifer said she had no basis to believe whatever she saw was dead.

Mrs. Emerick and Hook said they did not see a body but that the brush in the woods seemed to be moving.

Officers were firmly convinced that the story grew with the telling. At any rate, a large squad of state policemen and county officers went to the scene. They were accompanied by large numbers of other persons attracted by the indication of "something going on."

Drivers Escape Injury In Truck-Car Crash

Two drivers escaped injury last night when a Dodge truck of the Imperial Ice Cream Company ran against the rear of a 1940 Chevrolet sedan operated by Harry Teter, Ridgeley, W. Va., causing the sedan to upset in the road on Route 36 one mile east of Corriganville, according to Trooper First Class A. M. Spioch of the state police.

Trooper Spioch said the truck, driven by D. Folk, was traveling toward Cumberland at about 7:30 p. m. yesterday behind the sedan. Teter slowed down suddenly to avoid hitting a dog in the road, and the truck ran into the rear of the car, causing it to overturn, the trooper said.

There were no passengers in either vehicle. The truck was damaged on the right side, and the sedan was also damaged.

No charges have been preferred pending further investigation. Trooper G. M. Rotruck assisted in the investigation.

Kennedy Given Five Years' Probation

A Corriganville man, James Leonard Kennedy, 21, charged with violating the Dyer auto theft act, has been placed on five years' probation by Federal Judge Wallace S. Gourley in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Kennedy was arrested here May 17 by special agents of the FBI on a charge of taking a 1935 Pontiac sedan owned by Melvin C. Abe, Ridgeley, W. Va., to Portage, Pa., April 15 and abandoning the machine. The vehicle was damaged, police said.

FBI officials testified that Kennedy had served in the navy but had received a bad conduct discharge in March after serving an eight months' sentence for being absent without leave from his base.

Wilson Explains Handling Of Vets At Celanese Plant

More than 3,500 of the 5,000 men and women who entered the armed services from the Celanese plant here have been placed back in the plant with full seniority, A. Florian Wilson, assistant to the superintendent of personnel at the Celanese plant, said in an address before members of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club yesterday.

Long before the war ended, Wilson stated, Celanese officials realized it would be quite a task to find suitable jobs for all returning veterans, and that a plant survey of all jobs was made. As a result 200 separate and distinct jobs were listed and a breakdown was made as to what jobs would be best suited for handicapped men who returned to the plant.

Veterans started returning in 1941, when 30 were given their old jobs, Wilson said. In 1942, 13 returned; 162 in 1943; 94 in 1944, 1,256 in 1945 and to date the total is 3,519. Wilson added that 140 boys from the Celanese paid the supreme sacrifice during the war. He said between 1,300 and 1,400 former employes are yet to return from the service.

Wilson told his fellow Kiwanians that to date approximately 300 handicapped veterans have been given jobs in the plant which they can fill and that every effort is made to give a handicapped man the job for which he is best suited. Four men who lost legs; two who lost arms; one with a broken back and one with back injuries have been given work which they can do.

Commenting on the Celanese plan of handling veterans, Wilson stated that where the Selective Service law provides that a man has 90 days to claim his old job that the Celanese allows its former employes six months and that those who return within that time are taken back with full seniority and better than full pay. He explained the "better than full pay" by saying that where the wage rate for a certain job had increased while a former employe was in the service that he was given the present scale of pay when he is reemployed.

Wilson declared that of the more than 3,500 persons who have been reemployed only six-tenths of one per cent have resigned and added that some of those left to take job training courses and others left to attend schools and colleges.

Local Guard Units Prepare For Camp

Members of Company C and Company D, Maryland State Guard are making preparations to attend the annual guard encampment at Camp Albert C. Ritchie, July 28 to August 4.

This is the first time Camp Ritchie will be the site of the guard's summer activities, since the first year of the war, when it was leased to the federal government and turned into an Intelligence Corps training center.

Originally constructed as a Maryland National Guard camp, the area is situated in the mountains at Cascade near Pen Mar Park, and is considered one of the best equiped camps in the country.

Thomas F. Conlon, commander of Company C, said no orders have been received regarding the convoy to camp, however preparations are being made and equipment prepared, since dates of the camp have been announced officially.

Considerable emphasis will be placed at the camp, Conlon said, on a sports and athletic program. Most of the members here are under 20 years of age, he indicated, and are looking forward to the summer outing with considerable enthusiasm.

City Tax Collections Pass $300,000 Mark

With only four days remaining in which Cumberland taxpayers may pay city taxes without interest, collections now stand at $329,108, Charles F. Burke, Jr., city tax collector, said yesterday.

During the past two days, collections totaled $91,000, bringing the total collected since June 28, after bills were sent out, to well over the $300,000 mark.

Wednesday's collection of $56,000 marked the highest total for a single day since collections began less than two weeks ago.

July 16 is the deadline for interest-free tax payments.

Double Funeral Services Planned For Train Victims

O'Donnell Brothers Killed 20 Miles Apart By B. And O. Freight

Joint funeral services will be conducted here tomorrow for two Cumberland brothers, one a disabled veteran with five years service in the army, who met their death beneath the wheels of a westbound B. and O. freight train between Sand Patch and Confluence, Pa., early yesterday morning.

Funeral services for the brothers, John Joseph O'Donnell, 40, and Ambrose B. O'Donnell, 37, both of 110 South Johnson street, will be conducted Saturday at 3 p. m. in the Stein funeral home here.

The Rev. Irenaeus Reinl, pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic church, will officiate and interment will be in Hillcrest cemetery.

Found By Engineer

John Joseph O'Donnell, the former serviceman, was found about 4:30 a. m. yesterday along the track at Sand Patch by a B. and O. engineer from another train.

He was placed on a train and taken to Hazel McGilvery Memorial hospital, Meyersdale, Pa., but was dead upon admittance. Dr. J. B. Uphouse, Somerset, Pa., coroner, said death evidently resulted from loss of blood and added that the local man suffered a severed leg and multiple cuts and bruises about the body.

The other brother, Ambrose, was found at 6 a. m. along the tracks four miles east of Confluence after a trainman on an eastbound train saw the body lying along the tracks. Dr. Uphouse said he died as a result of a severed arm and fractured neck.

Police said the men are reported to have caught a freight train for Pittsburgh and surmised that John Joseph either fell from the train or was fatally injured while trying to alight from a car.

Authorities surmised that Ambrose was asleep at the time and may have attempted to get off after he searched for and failed to find his brother.

Mrs. Margaret Ann Weaver O'Donnell Twigg, 110 South Johnson street, mother of the boys, said John Joseph and Ambrose told her at 9 p. m. Wednesday they were going to catch a freight to go to Pittsburgh to seek work. Later that night, she said, the boys told her they had given up the idea and instead were going to a nearby orchard to seek jobs.

Served In Iceland

John Joseph, who entered the army five years ago, was discharged just six months ago. He served in Iceland and Europe with an anti-aircraft outfit. About two years ago, he suffered a back injury overseas and was brought to Walter Reed hospital by plane for treatment, and was hospitalized for six months as a result of the injury. He was a Celanese employe before he entered service.

Ambrose was formerly employed by the Queen City Brewing Company here.

Besides their mother, they are survived by their father, Bernard W. O'Donnell, Sr., Benton Harbor, Mich.; two brothers, Paul O'Donnell, this city, and Bernard O'Donnell, Baltimore, and a sister, Mrs. Viola Corbin, this city.

John Joseph, a widower, is also survived by a daughter, Margaret Irene O'Donnell, Springdale street.

Chamber Of Commerce Asking Membership For Program Ideas

Emphasizing the object of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, "to promote the civic, economic and social welfare of the people of Cumberland and vicinity", a questionnaire is being sent to all members, asking for ideas, Harold W. Smith, secretary said yesterday.

Smith said such questionnaires usually result in the expression of ideas members have been thinking about, and careful consideration will be given each suggestion or idea.

The results of the questionnaire will be discussed at the annual meeting at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, July 23, at 7:30 p. m., Smith explained.

Accompanying the questionnaire form were cards to be returned by those desiring reservations for the annual meeting.

Meat Prices Will Cut Deepest Into Local Shoppers' Budgets

Cumberland Butchers Expect To Have Sufficient Supply By Next Week

By JOHN P. MOODY

The food budget of Cumberland shoppers is going to be hit hardest by the increased prices of meats, a commodity expected to be more plentiful in local markets next week, according to George F. Garlitz, president of the Western Maryland Retail Grocers Association.

The grocery president said an increase of about 20 per cent will be noted in meat prices, once the butchers' cases are filled again. But the greater portion of this increase, according to Garlitz, will be to make up the subsidy difference.

The subsidy, something few American shoppers have bothered to become acquainted with, is the additional cost of foods, that the government has been paying during the OPA era.

Most independent grocers in the Cumberland area, already are reporting a noticeable increase in meat supplies, but chain stores term this the worst week in the history of their business as far as meat is concerned.

Meats Will Advance

But both chain store managers and independent grocerymen agree that the prices of meats are due for a big increase. Already some stores report a 16½ cent per pound increase in the cost of steaks bringing the retail price to 60 cents a pound for choice cuts. Other price rises noted in local stores are in pork now selling at 45 cents a pound for center cut chops, an increase of 5 cents per pound. Veal shows an increase of 6 cents a pound, with choice chops selling for as much as 59 cents per pound.

Dairy products also show marked increases since the end of OPA with butter selling for 81 cents a pound, an increase of 13½ cents over the price control ceiling.

Garlitz said the meat situation has been eased somewhat in Cumberland by local slaughters and next week will find big shipments arriving from national meat packers.

In a survey of the city the "worst week in history" report was common among the chain store dealers with some reporting as much as a 96 per cent cut in their meat sup-

OPA Employes Remain On Job

Employes of the local OPA price and rent control offices are continuing to report to work regularly, although they have begun to wonder if they will ever be paid, as Congress has yet made no provisions to continue, revitalize or extend OPA.

Leo H. McCormick, state OPA director, appealed to all OPA employes to remain on their jobs as volunteers, and the seven clerks and employes here have continued to do so.

The price control office has brought its paper work and records up to date and has issued sugar ration slips to a number of returned veterans.

At the rent control office, Caleb White director said his records and files are all being brought up to date, and the office is still beseiged by persons whose rent has been raised or by landlords who want to increase rent of their tenants.

In trial magistrates court, Constable Edgar M. Lewis said yesterday that a score or more persons daily come to his office asking for information about ejectments or ejectment proceedings and rent increases.

It was indicated by both White and Lewis that rents are being increased in many instances, and that numerous other landlords intend to notify their tenants the first of the month that rents will be increased, beginning with the next rental period, which is required under the law.

Traffic Fatality Record Is High

Safety Commission Reports Three Persons Killed In County In May

More persons were killed in traffic accidents in Allegany county in May than in all but two counties of the state, on the basis of the monthly report released yesterday by the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

Allegany county's record showed three persons killed and 10 injured in 16 accidents. Only Baltimore county with six killed and Montgomery county with four killed were higher. Somerset county had the same number of traffic deaths as Allegany—three.

None of the fatal accidents took place in Cumberland, according to the commission, which reported one person injured in the city in two reported accidents.

The report indicated that one person was killed in Garrett county. Only one accident was reported and there were no reports of injuries.

According to the report, 31 persons were killed and 300 injured in 590 accidents reported for all the counties in the state in May.

Four YMCA Campers Tour Capital, Take Schooner Trip, Teach English

Features of the camping experiences of four Cumberland boys at Camp Letts, Edgewater, Md., included a schooner trip down Chesapeake bay, an educational tour of Washington, and helping to teach a Dutch boy to speak English.

The boys, who returned Sunday after spending two weeks at the camp, which is operated by the Washington YMCA organization, are the first Cumberland boys to attend the camp. They are James Reed, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lookabaugh, 436 North Centre street; Louis Everstine, 13, son of Aden L. Everstine, Ridgeley, W. Va.; Douglas Houck, 10, son of Mrs. R. D. Houck, Narrows Park; and Michael Smith, 12, son of Allan Smith, 122 Seymour street.

All of the boys but Douglas went on the schooner trip July 3, during which they saw an aircraft carrier and two battleships anchored in the bay. The schooner is chartered by the camp, and several trips are offered during the camping season.

The tour of Washington included visits to the Library of Congress and to the Senate while it was in session, as well as a trip to the top of the Washington monument for a view of the city.

The Dutch boy, Jaap Van Kretchmar, a fellow camper, was the 14-year-old son of a member of the Dutch embassy in Washington. The boys said he is an outstanding swimmer and likes to ride a bicycle, and they took turns helping him to learn English. When he came to the camp he did not understand a word of English, they added.

Among the activities which the boys enjoyed were rifle practice, crafts and swimming, although Douglas remarked that "salt water doesn't taste so good." The camp is located on a tidal river which empties into Chesapeake bay.

In past years local boys have attended camps operated by the YMCA here in Pleasant Valley, Garrett county, and on the South branch of the Potomac, according to Robert L. Sisson. Arrangements for the four boys to attend Camp Letts this year were made with the approval of the camp committee of Central YMCA, headed by Henry W. Price.

Sisson added that Oscar I. Bergstrom, former associate general YMCA secretary here, was associated with the director of Camp Letts, R. H. Gaver, both at the camp and in boys' work in the Washington YMCA before coming here.

Rent And Price Controls Urged By Labor Group

Unity Conference Asks Governor To Call Special Session

Declaring that mounting prices will, if unchecked, bring on a disastrous depression, the executive board of the Maryland Labor Unity Conference yesterday called upon Governor O'Conor to establish rent and price controls, either by proclamation or by convening the General Assembly of Maryland.

Copies of the petition were also sent to Mayor Thomas S. Post and the city council; Delegates Lester B. Reed and Charles M. See and Senator Robert B. Kimble and were signed by C. E. Stutzman, president; W. B. Coleman, vice president, and Paul Burley, secretary, and G. E. Parker, treasurer.

The complete message follows:

"The Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference, comprising all CIO, AFL, railroad brotherhoods and independent unions, has found that ten days without price control has already sent costs of living soaring.

"Failure of Congress to enact effective legislation will mean mounting prices beyond reach of the purchasing power of the consumers and will, if unchecked, surely bring on disastrous depression and crash of the entire economy of our country.

"In this crisis, you must act to protect the people from suffering caused by short-sighted Congressmen mislead by propaganda of the greedy National Association of Manufacturers. All labor urges you to establish state rent and price controls by proclamation or by convening the legislature immediately.

"Also, ask you support the people's demand that Congress enact immediate rent and price control legislation requested by President Truman.

"All Labor in Allegany county is united behind this program and is looking to you for your support in this dangerous period."

An official of the conference yesterday said that further action on rent and price control will be taken at the next meeting of the group to be held Thursday, July 18, at 7:30 p. m. in Allegany Trades Council hall.

Petition Charges Kidnaping Threat

Charging that his first wife has threatened to kidnap their 8-year-old daughter, Raymond Edward Martin, 38, a worker in the Baltimore and Ohio backshop, filed a petition in circuit court yesterday asking for a court order to restrain her from molesting his family.

Martin charged that his first wife, the present Mrs. Frank Cornachia, whom he divorced in 1942, pays frequent visits to his home in Little Orleans, makes "hostile remarks" to his present wife, Mrs. Delia Martin, and threatens to kidnap the child, Beverly. Following the divorce in 1942, Martin was awarded custody of the child, with the mother granted the right to see her at reasonable times.

The petition was docketed by Robert MacDonald Bruce. Chief Judge William A. Hunter issued a temporary restraining order with the respondent granted the right to ask for dissolution.

Bacil H. O'Neal, Mt. Savage, represented by Morgan C. Harris, filed suit yesterday for an absolute divorce from Margaret E. O'Neal, now residing in Eckhart, with the petitioner asking for the custody of their two children, Carol Lee, 4, and Robert Francis, 2. The couple were married in 1941.

LIGHT ASKS POLICE CHECK ON VANDALISM

The problem of preventing the destruction and stealing of playground equipment by hoodlums and vandals has been turned over to the police department, Street Commissioner Myers G. Light said yesterday following a conference with Police Commissioner William V. Keegan.

"I suppose the only way to curb such unjustified tactics is for the police to make some arrests and for the guilty persons to receive a heavy fine and jail sentence," Commissioner Light said.

Vandals visited the Gephart playground Tuesday and Wednesday nights, wrecking seesaws, swings and tables. Some of the equipment was carried away, although part was recovered in a nearby lot.

Previously the merry-go-round at the West Side playground was wrecked.

Commissioner Light also expects the police to check on reports that "parties" have been held on some playgrounds by older persons at night with the result that broken bottles are found scattered about in the morning.

4-Year-Old Girl Is Struck By Car

A 4-year-old Thomas street girl was admitted to Memorial hospital yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock for observation and treatment of possible injuries suffered when she was struck by a car in front of her home.

The girl, Peggy Mae Roudabush, daughter of Staff Sgt. and Mrs. Frances Roudabush, 139 Thomas street, was reported in a "good" condition last evening. She was suffering from shock and was admitted for observation and treatment.

Police said the driver of the car, Robert C. Grove, Route 4, Mexico Farms, took the injured girl to the hospital. Grove, police said, was driving north on Thomas street when the child darted across the street and into the path of the vehicle.

Detective Thomas J. See, who investigated, was told that the little girl saw her father, who is home on furlough from the army, park his car across the street from the home and darted across the street to greet him.

Plans Discussed For New Homes In LaVale

Possibility of the development of Forest Glen Suburban Colony in LaVale loomed yesterday, with the recording in Allegany county land records of deeds conveying 50 lots in the suburb.

The lots have been purchased by Harry B. Simpson and Mrs. Minnie Simpson, his wife from William C. and Laurane T. Keyser, of Bedford, Pa., for a consideration of $6,000, according to the deeds.

Simpson, who has been engaged in the real estate and insurance business here for several years and is secretary-treasurer of the Community Building and Loan Association as well as chairman of the board of LaVale Civic Improvement Association, said last evening, he is hopeful that 50 medium-cost dwelling units can be constructed.

The section, which is located near the state police LaVale sub-station, has a large entrance gate, marking the colony, and is about four and one-half miles west of Cumberland.

There are about 12 homes in the section now, all built about 20 years ago, after the development was opened by the Miller Enterprises, 25 years ago.

The lots purchased by Simpson are situated along Holly, Hawthorne and Avondale avenues, and extend back as far as Braddock Run. An area of about eight acres is covered by the lots, Simpson declared.

Simpson declares he wants to make the area a "good development" pointing out that medium-cost and not low-cost homes are to be constructed. He declined to predict a starting time for the building of housing units in the area, saying much depends on developments in Washington, production, prices, materials and other factors.

Dead Fish Are Seen Floating In Wills Creek

Many persons were attracted by a large number of dead fish, and scores of live ones splashing about, in the water of Wills Creek, at the Baltimore street bridge last night at about 7:30 o'clock.

The fish which appeared to be dead and were floating on their backs, were identified by fishermen as "suckers", while the live ones, which jumped about in the water, and swam crazily in circles, or just finned about listlessly, were all catfish.

Joseph A. Minke, regional fish and game warden, notified of the situation, worked along Wills Creek from Locust Grove, and succeeded in seining out a large basket full of the dead fish.

Minke said some of them weighed as much as two pounds. All the dead fish recovered from the stream were suckers. Minke said the catfish, many of which he also saw, are sturdier and harder to kill than suckers, and that is why they were alive. Some of the cat-fish seen in the stream would probably weigh several pounds and measure as much as 18 inches.

Investigating the cause of the unusual spectacle of hundreds of dead fish floating in the muddy creek, Minke said there was considerable evidence that a large quantity of oil, perhaps kerosene or gasoline had been dumped or had run into the creek.

Checking the stream above the Washington bridge in the Narrows, Minke said the water was in good shape and undisturbed. But farther down, there was evidence of the oily substance, and the dead fish began appearing between the Valley street and Baltimore street bridges.

Minke said many people are surprised to know that there are catfish and suckers in Wills Creek and the river here, but they do exist in large numbers. He explained that due to the pollution in the streams in the city, no one ever fishes for them, and the fish probably wouldn't be edible. But they are in there, he declared, and some of them are really "whoppers".

Minke explained that fish of this kind are desirable in the stream as they help keep down mosquitoes and other insects and help clean up the streams. Without them, he explained the water around here would be much worse than it is now.

The game warden has taken samples of the water along the creek between the two bridges, and will have it analyzed to determine the nature of the pollution. He said he intends to investigate further, to determine where the oily substance came from, and will make an effort to prevent a repetition of the occurrence.

Chest Directors Discuss Plans For Campaign

Dates Will Be Selected Today By General Campaign Committee

The board of directors of Cumberland Community Chest, at its quarterly meeting last night in the Chest offices, discussed tentative plans for the 1947 fall campaign, reviewed financial reports and discussed other routine problems.

Henry C. Swearingen, president of the board, presided and announced a General Campaign Committee has been appointed, and is scheduled to meet at 4 o'clock today to select dates and arrange other campaign details.

Budgets Are Requested

According to Miss Anne B. Everline, executive secretary, member agencies have been requested to submit their budgets for the new year by August 5, so the budget committee can study the needs and determine the amount needed to operate the Chest next year.

Miss Everline explained that October is going to be Community Chest Campaign month throughout the country, and Community Chests of America is planning an extensive nation-wide publicity program, which will help the local effort, if the Cumberland drive is held during that month. It was also pointed out that the fund drive should be concluded before November elections.

The intensive publicity plan of the Community Chests of America, is to be built around this "brand" name, Miss Everline, learned at a conference of chest officials at Roslin, Virginia recently.

The red feather, which is presented to contributors, is now officially the trade mark of the Community Chest, and agencies affiliated with the Chest are asked to use the Red Feather as a symbol of service in all their publicity.

Financial Report Given

The 1946-1947 campaign slogan across the country is to be, "Everybody Benefits — Everybody Gives," and the publicity plan is to emphasize the far-reaching service chest agencies render in their respective communities.

At the meeting last night a financial report was submitted showing the chest has a cash balance of $28,045.73 as of July 1, and that $84,093.89 has been collected on 1945-1946 pledges. This represents 84% of the total amount pledged.

The report also indicates that all chest agencies are in a healthy financial state, and are meeting their obligations promptly. Total disbursements for the month of June including monthly payments to chest agencies and administrative expenses amounted to $4,536.03.

Report Of Murder On Valley Road Proves Unfounded

Woman Says She Was Mistaken About Seeing Child's Body

The reported murder of a 9-year-old girl by a man in Bowman's Addition at 6 p. m. yesterday turned out an hour later, after a little questioning of "witnesses" and some beating of the underbrush, to be nothing more than an unfounded rumor.

County Investigator Terrence J. Boyle said Mrs. Nellie Peifer told him after questioning in his office that she was mistaken about seeing the "body" of the child.

Two other persons to whom Mrs. Peifer reported finding the "body" told Boyle that they saw no body or anything to indicate there had been any foul play when they returned to the spot with her.

After being reprimanded by Boyle, Mrs. Peifer was allowed to return to her home.

Hurry To Scene

State police and county authorities hurried to the scene of the supposed crime when they received the report about 6 p. m. Inquiry at Bowman's Addition indicated the "body" had been found "up on the hill."

When officers reached the spot several dozen men, women and children already had gathered there.

Mrs. Peifer said she was walking along the top of the hill to her home when she saw the "body" lying in a clearing some distance down the hillside.

She said she hurried to the nearby home of Mrs. Daisy Emerick and reported it to her.

Mrs. Emerick said she and Expey Hook, 21, returned to the scene with Mrs. Peifer and that they saw a man in dark clothes "going down the hill through the woods."

Hook said virtually the same thing.

At this point the investibation took a new track. Investigator Boyle and Trooper G. M. Rotruck took Mrs. Peifer, Mrs. Emerick and Hook to the nearby home of Mrs. Peifer's mother where they were questioned.

Searching Party Formed

First Sgt. John H. Doud, of the state police, organized spectators into a searching party and men scoured the nearby woods looking for the "man," the "body" or both. Nothing was found.

At the home of Mrs. Peifer's mother, Mrs. Ida Wolford, County Investigator Boyle and Dr. H. V. Deming, acting deputy county medical examiner, were questioning Mrs. Peifer. Mrs. Peifer was saying she was sorry she had caused "this disturbance."

Then the county investigator ordered Mrs. Peifer, Mrs. Emerick and Hook to the state's attorney's office where the case finally wound up about 8 p. m.

Mrs. Peifer said she had no basis to believe whatever she saw was dead.

Mrs. Emerick and Hook said they did not see a body but that the brush in the woods seemed to be moving.

Officers were firmly convinced that the story grew with the telling. At any rate, a large squad of state policemen and county officers went to the scene. They were accompanied by large numbers of other persons attracted by the indication of "something going on."

Drivers Escape Injury In Truck-Car Crash

Two drivers escaped injury last night when a Dodge truck of the Imperial Ice Cream Company ran against the rear of a 1940 Chevrolet sedan operated by Harry Teter, Ridgeley, W. Va., causing the sedan to upset in the road on Route 36 one mile east of Corriganville, according to Trooper First Class A. M. Spioch of the state police.

Trooper Spioch said the truck, driven by D. Folk, was traveling toward Cumberland at about 7:30 p. m. yesterday behind the sedan. Teter slowed down suddenly to avoid hitting a dog in the road, and the truck ran into the rear of the car, causing it to overturn, the trooper said.

There were no passengers in either vehicle. The truck was damaged on the right side, and the sedan was also damaged.

No charges have been preferred pending further investigation. Trooper G. M. Rotruck assisted in the investigation.

Kennedy Given Five Years' Probation

A Corriganville man, James Leonard Kennedy, 21, charged with violating the Dyer auto theft act, has been placed on five years' probation by Federal Judge Wallace S. Gourley in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Kennedy was arrested here May 17 by special agents of the FBI on a charge of taking a 1935 Pontiac sedan owned by Melvin C. Abe, Ridgeley, W. Va., to Portage, Pa., April 15 and abandoning the machine. The vehicle was damaged, police said.

FBI officials testified that Kennedy had served in the navy but had received a bad conduct discharge in March after serving an eight months' sentence for being absent without leave from his base.

Wilson Explains Handling Of Vets At Celanese Plant

More than 3,500 of the 5,000 men and women who entered the armed services from the Celanese plant here have been placed back in the plant with full seniority, A. Florian Wilson, assistant to the superintendent of personnel at the Celanese plant, said in an address before members of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club yesterday.

Long before the war ended, Wilson stated, Celanese officials realized it would be quite a task to find suitable jobs for all returning veterans, and that a plant survey of all jobs was made. As a result 200 separate and distinct jobs were listed and a breakdown was made as to what jobs would be best suited for handicapped men who returned to the plant.

Veterans started returning in 1941, when 30 were given their old jobs, Wilson said. In 1942, 13 returned; 162 in 1943; 94 in 1944, 1,256 in 1945 and to date the total is 3,519. Wilson added that 140 boys from the Celanese paid the supreme sacrifice during the war. He said between 1,300 and 1,400 former employes are yet to return from the service.

Wilson told his fellow Kiwanians that to date approximately 300 handicapped veterans have been given jobs in the plant which they can fill and that every effort is made to give a handicapped man the job for which he is best suited. Four men who lost legs; two who lost arms; one with a broken back and one with back injuries have been given work which they can do.

Commenting on the Celanese plan of handling veterans, Wilson stated that where the Selective Service law provides that a man has 90 days to claim his old job that the Celanese allows its former employes six months and that those who return within that time are taken back with full seniority and better than full pay. He explained the "better than full pay" by saying that where the wage rate for a certain job had increased while a former employe was in the service that he was given the present scale of pay when he is reemployed.

Wilson declared that of the more than 3,500 persons who have been reemployed only six-tenths of one per cent have resigned and added that some of those left to take job training courses and others left to attend schools and colleges.

Local Guard Units Prepare For Camp

Members of Company C and Company D, Maryland State Guard are making preparations to attend the annual guard encampment at Camp Albert C. Ritchie, July 28 to August 4.

This is the first time Camp Ritchie will be the site of the guard's summer activities, since the first year of the war, when it was leased to the federal government and turned into an Intelligence Corps training center.

Originally constructed as a Maryland National Guard camp, the area is situated in the mountains at Cascade near Pen Mar Park, and is considered one of the best equiped camps in the country.

Thomas F. Conlon, commander of Company C, said no orders have been received regarding the convoy to camp, however preparations are being made and equipment prepared, since dates of the camp have been announced officially.

Considerable emphasis will be placed at the camp, Conlon said, on a sports and athletic program. Most of the members here are under 20 years of age, he indicated, and are looking forward to the summer outing with considerable enthusiasm.

City Tax Collections Pass $300,000 Mark

With only four days remaining in which Cumberland taxpayers may pay city taxes without interest, collections now stand at $329,106, Charles F. Burke, Jr., city tax collector, said yesterday.

During the past two days, collections totaled $91,000, bringing the total collected since June 28, after bills were sent out, to well over the $300,000 mark.

Wednesday's collection of $56,000 marked the highest total for a single day since collections began less than two weeks ago.

July 16 is the deadline for interest-free tax payments.

Double Funeral Services Planned For Train Victims

O'Donnell Brothers Killed 20 Miles Apart By B. And O. Freight

Joint funeral services will be conducted here tomorrow for two Cumberland brothers, one a disabled veteran with five years service in the army, who met their death beneath the wheels of a westbound B. and O. freight train between Sand Patch and Confluence, Pa., early yesterday morning.

Funeral services for the brothers, John Joseph O'Donnell, 40, and Ambrose B. O'Donnell, 37, both of 110 South Johnson street, will be conducted Saturday at 3 p. m. in the Stein funeral home here.

The Rev. Irenaeus Reinl, pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic church, will officiate and interment will be in Hillcrest cemetery.

Found By Engineer

John Joseph O'Donnell, the former serviceman, was found about 4:30 a. m. yesterday along the track at Sand Patch by a B. and O. engineer from another train.

He was placed on a train and taken to Hazel McGilvery Memorial hospital, Meyersdale, Pa., but was dead upon admittance. Dr. J. B. Uphouse, Somerset, Pa., coroner, said death evidently resulted from loss of blood and added that the local man suffered a severed leg and multiple cuts and bruises about the body.

The other brother, Ambrose, was found at 6 a. m. along the tracks four miles east of Confluence after a trainman on an eastbound train saw the body lying along the tracks. Dr. Uphouse said he died as a result of a severed arm and fractured neck.

Police said the men are reported to have caught a freight train for Pittsburgh and surmised that John Joseph either fell from the train or was fatally injured while trying to alight from a car.

Authorities surmised that Ambrose was asleep at the time and may have attempted to get off after he searched for and failed to find his brother.

Mrs. Margaret Ann Weaver O'Donnell Twigg, 110 South Johnson street, mother of the boys, said John Joseph and Ambrose told her at 9 p. m. Wednesday they were going to catch a freight to go to Pittsburgh to seek work. Later that night, she said, the boys told her they had given up the idea and instead were going to a nearby orchard to seek jobs.

Served In Iceland

John Joseph, who entered the army five years ago, was discharged just six months ago. He served in Iceland and Europe with an anti-aircraft outfit. About two years ago, he suffered a back injury overseas and was brought to Walter Reed hospital by plane for treatment, and was hospitalized for six months as a result of the injury. He was a Celanese employe before he entered service.

Ambrose was formerly employed by the Queen City Brewing Company here.

Besides their mother, they are survived by their father, Bernard W. O'Donnell, Sr., Benton Harbor, Mich.; two brothers, Paul O'Donnell, this city, and Bernard O'Donnell, Baltimore, and a sister, Mrs. Viola Corbin, this city.

John Joseph, a widower, is also survived by a daughter, Margaret Irene O'Donnell, Springdale street.

The results of the questionnaire will be discussed at the annual meeting at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, July 23, at 7:30 p. m., Smith explained.

Accompanying the questionnaire form were cards to be returned by those desiring reservations for the annual meeting.

Meat Prices Will Cut Deepest Into Local Shoppers' Budgets

Cumberland Butchers Expect To Have Sufficient Supply By Next Week

By JOHN P. MOODY

The food budget of Cumberland shoppers is going to be hit hardest by the increased prices of meats, a commodity expected to be more plentiful in local markets next week, according to George F. Garlitz, president of the Western Maryland Retail Grocers Association.

The grocery president said an increase of about 20 per cent will be noted in meat prices, once the butchers' cases are filled again. But the greater portion of this increase, according to Garlitz, will be to make up the subsidy difference.

The subsidy, something few American shoppers have bothered to become acquainted with, is the additional cost of foods, that the government has been paying during the OPA era.

Most independent grocers in the Cumberland area, already are reporting a noticeable increase in meat supplies, but chain stores term this the worst week in the history of their business as far as meat is concerned.

Meats Will Advance

But both chain store managers and independent grocerymen agree that the prices of meats are due for a big increase. Already some stores report a 18½ cent per pound increase in the cost of steaks bringing the retail price to 60 cents a pound for choice cuts. Other price rises noted in local stores are in pork now selling at 45 cents a pound for center cut chops, an increase of 5 cents per pound. Veal shows an increase of 6 cents a pound, with choice chops selling for as much as 59 cents per pound.

Dairy products also show marked increases since the end of OPA with butter selling for 81 cents a pound, an increase of 13½ cents over the price control ceiling.

Garlitz said the meat situation has been eased somewhat in Cumberland by local slaughters and next week will find big shipments arriving from national meat packers.

In a survey of the city the "worst week in history" report was common among the chain store dealers with some reporting as much as a 96 per cent cut in their meat sup-

OPA Employes Remain On Job

Employes of the local OPA price and rent control offices are continuing to report to work regularly, although they have begun to wonder if they will ever be paid, as Congress has yet made no provisions to continue, revitalize or extend OPA.

Leo H. McCormick state OPA director, appealed to all OPA employes to remain on their jobs as volunteers, and the seven clerks and employes here have continued to do so.

The price control office has brought its paper work and records up to date and has issued sugar ration slips to a number of returned veterans.

At the rent control office, Caleb White director said his records and files are all being brought up to date, and the office is still besieged by persons whose rent has been raised or by landlords who want to increase rent of their tenants.

In trial magistrates court, Constable Edgar M. Lewis said yesterday that a score or more persons daily come to his office asking for information about ejectments or ejectment proceedings and rent increases.

It was indicated by both White and Lewis that rents are being increased in many instances, and that numerous other landlords intend to notify their tenants the first of the month that rents will be increased, beginning with the next rental period, which is required under the law.

Traffic Fatality Record Is High

Safety Commission Reports Three Persons Killed In County In May

More persons were killed in traffic accidents in Allegany county in May than in all but two counties of the state, on the basis of the monthly report released yesterday by the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

None of the fatal accidents took place in Cumberland, according to the commission, which reported one person injured in the city in two reported accidents.

The report indicated that one person was killed in Garrett county. Only one accident was reported and there were no reports of injuries.

According to the report, 31 persons were killed and 300 injured in 590 accidents reported for all the counties in the state in May.

Four YMCA Campers Tour Capital, Take Schooner Trip, Teach English

Features of the camping experiences of four Cumberland boys at Camp Letts, Edgewater, Md., included a schooner trip down Chesapeake bay, an educational tour of Washington, and helping to teach a Dutch boy to speak English.

The boys, who returned Sunday after spending two weeks at the camp, which is operated by the Washington YMCA organization, are the first Cumberland boys to attend the camp. They are James Reed, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lookabaugh, 436 North Centre street; Louis Everstine, 13, son of Aden L. Everstine, Ridgeley, W. Va.; Douglas Houck, 10, son of Mrs. R. D. Houck, Narrows Park; and Michael Smith, 12, son of Allan Smith, 122 Seymour street.

All of the boys but Douglas went on the schooner trip July 3, during which they saw an aircraft carrier and two battleships anchored in the bay. The schooner is chartered by the camp, and several trips are offered during the camping season.

The tour of Washington included visits to the Library of Congress and to the Senate while it was in session, as well as a trip to the top of the Washington monument for a view of the city.

The Dutch boy, Jaap Van Kretchmar, a fellow camper, was the 14-year-old son of a member of the Dutch embassy in Washington. The boys said he is an outstanding swimmer and likes to ride a bicycle, and they took turns helping him to learn English. When he came to the camp he did not understand a word of English, they added.

Among the activities which the boys enjoyed were rifle practice, crafts and swimming, although Douglas remarked that "salt water doesn't taste so good." The camp is located on a tidal river which empties into Chesapeake bay.

In past years local boys have attended camps operated by the YMCA here in Pleasant Valley, Garrett county, and on the South branch of the Potomac, according to Robert L. Sisson. Arrangements for the four boys to attend Camp Letts this year were made with the approval of the camp committee of Central YMCA, headed by Henry W. Price.

Sisson added that Oscar I. Bergstrom, former associate general YMCA secretary here, was associated with the director of Camp Letts, R. H. Gaver, both at the camp and in boys' work in the Washington YMCA before coming here.

Rent And Price Controls Urged By Labor Group

Unity Conference Asks Governor To Call Special Session

Declaring that mounting prices will, if unchecked, bring on a disastrous depression, the executive board of the Maryland Labor Unity Conference yesterday called upon Governor O'Conor to establish rent and price controls, either by proclamation or by convening the General Assembly of Maryland.

Copies of the petition were also sent to Mayor Thomas S. Post and the city council; Delegates Lester B. Reed and Charles M. See and Senator Robert B. Kimble and were signed by C. E. Stutzman, president; W. B. Coleman, vice president, and Paul Burley, secretary, and G. E. Parker, treasurer.

The complete message follows:

"The Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference, comprising all CIO, AFL, railroad brotherhoods and independent unions, has found that ten days without price control has already sent costs of living soaring.

"Failure of Congress to enact effective legislation will mean mounting prices beyond reach of the purchasing power of the consumers and will, if unchecked, surely bring on disastrous depression and crash of the entire economy of our country.

"In this crisis, you must act to protect the people from suffering caused by short-sighted Congressmen mislead by propaganda of the greedy National Association of Manufacturers. All labor urges you to establish state rent and price controls by proclamation or by convening the legislature immediately.

"Also, ask you support the people's demand that Congress enact immediate rent and price control legislation requested by President Truman.

"All Labor in Allegany county is united behind this program and is looking to you for your support in this dangerous period."

An official of the conference yesterday said that further action on rent and price control will be taken at the next meeting of the group to be held Thursday, July 18, at 7:30 p. m. in Allegany Trades Council hall.

Petition Charges Kidnaping Threat

Charging that his first wife has threatened to kidnap their 8-year-old daughter, Raymond Edward Martin, 38, a worker in the Baltimore and Ohio backshop, filed a petition in circuit court yesterday asking for a court order to restrain her from molesting his family.

Martin charged that his first wife, the present Mrs. Frank Cornachia, whom he divorced in 1942, pays frequent visits to his home in Little Orleans, makes "hostile remarks" to his present wife, Mrs. Delia Martin, and threatens to kidnap the child, Beverly. Following the divorce in 1942, Martin was awarded custody of the child, with the mother granted the right to see her at reasonable times.

The petition was docketed by Robert MacDonald Bruce. Chief Judge William A. Hunter issued a temporary restraining order with the respondent granted the right to ask for dissolution.

Bacil H. O'Neal, Mt. Savage, represented by Morgan C. Harris, filed suit yesterday for an absolute divorce from Margaret E. O'Neal, now residing in Eckhart, with the petitioner asking for the custody of their two children, Carol Lee, 4, and Robert Francis, 2. The couple were married in 1941.

LIGHT ASKS POLICE CHECK ON VANDALISM

The problem of preventing the destruction and stealing of playground equipment by hoodlums and vandals has been turned over to the police department, Street Commissioner Myers G. Light said yesterday following a conference with Police Commissioner William V. Keegan.

"I suppose the only way to curb such unjustified tactics is for the police to make some arrests and for the guilty persons to receive a heavy fine and jail sentence," Commissioner Light said.

Vandals visited the Gephart playground Tuesday and Wednesday nights, wrecking seesaws, swings and tables. Some of the equipment was carried away, although part was recovered in a nearby lot.

Previously the merry-go-round at the West Side playground was wrecked.

Commissioner Light also expects the police to check on reports that "parties" have been held on some playgrounds by older persons at night with the result that broken bottles are found scattered about in the morning.

4-Year-Old Girl Is Struck By Car

A 4-year-old Thomas street girl was admitted to Memorial hospital yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock for observation and treatment of possible injuries suffered when she was struck by a car in front of her home.

The girl, Peggy Mae Roudabush, daughter of Staff Sgt. and Mrs. Frances Roudabush, 139 Thomas street, was reported in a "good" condition last evening. She was suffering from shock and was admitted for observation and treatment.

Police said the driver of the car, Robert C. Grove, Route 4, Mexico Farms, took the injured girl to the hospital. Grove, police said, was driving north on Thomas street when the child darted across the street and into the path of the vehicle.

Detective Thomas J. See, who investigated, was told that the little girl saw her father, who is home on furlough from the army, park his car across the street from the home and darted across the street to greet him.

Plans Discussed For New Homes In LaVale

Possibility of the development of Forest Glen Suburban Colony in LaVale loomed yesterday, with the recording in Allegany county land records of deeds conveying 50 lots in the suburb.

The lots have been purchased by Harry B. Simpson and Mrs. Minnie Simpson, his wife from William C. and Laurane T. Keyser, of Bedford, Pa., for a consideration of $6,000, according to the deeds.

Simpson, who has been engaged in the real estate and insurance business here for several years and is secretary-treasurer of the Community Building and Loan Association as well as chairman of the board of LaVale Civic Improvement Association, said last evening, he is hopeful that 50 medium-cost dwelling units can be constructed.

The section, which is located near the state police LaVale sub-station, has a large entrance gate, marking the colony, and is about four and one-half miles west of Cumberland.

There are about 12 homes in the section now, all built about 20 years ago, after the development was opened by the Miller Enterprises, 25 years ago.

The lots purchased by Simpson are situated along Holly, Hawthorne and Avondale avenues, and extend back as far as Braddock Run. An area of about eight acres is covered by the lots, Simpson declared.

Simpson declares he wants to make the area a "good development" pointing out that medium-cost and not low-cost homes are to be constructed. He declined to predict a starting time for the building of housing units in the area, saying much depends on developments in Washington, production, prices, materials and other factors.

Dead Fish Are Seen Floating In Wills Creek

Many persons were attracted by a large number of dead fish, and scores of live ones splashing about, in the water of Wills Creek, at the Baltimore street bridge last night at about 7:30 o'clock.

The fish which appeared to be dead and were floating on their backs, were identified by fishermen as "suckers", while the live ones, which jumped about in the water, and swam crazily in circles, or just finned about listlessly, were all catfish.

Joseph A. Minke, regional fish and game warden, notified of the situation, worked along Wills Creek from Locust Grove, and succeeded in seining out a large basket full of the dead fish.

Minke said some of them weighed as much as two pounds. All the dead fish recovered from the stream were suckers. Minke said the catfish, many of which he also saw, are sturdier and harder to kill than suckers, and that is why they were alive. Some of the cat-fish seen in the stream would probably weigh several pounds and measure as much as 18 inches.

Investigating the cause of the unusual spectacle of hundreds of dead fish floating in the muddy creek, Minke said there was considerable evidence that a large quantity of oil, perhaps kerosene or gasoline had been dumped or had run into the creek.

Checking the stream above the Washington bridge in the Narrows, Minke said the water was in good shape and undisturbed. But farther down, there was evidence of the oily substance, and the dead fish began appearing between the Valley street and Baltimore street bridges.

Minke said many people are surprised to know that there are catfish and suckers in Wills Creek and the river here, but they do exist in large numbers. He explained that due to the pollution in the streams in the city, no one ever fishes for them, and the fish probably wouldn't be edible. But they are in there, he declared, and some of them are really "whoppers".

Minke explained that fish of this kind are desirable in the stream as they help keep down mosquitoes and other insects and help clean up the streams. Without them, he explained the water around here would be much worse than it is now.

The game warden has taken samples of the water along the creek between the two bridges, and will have it analyzed to determine the nature of the pollution. He said he intends to investigate further, to determine where the oily substance came from, and will make an effort to prevent a repetition of the occurrence.

Chest Directors Discuss Plans For Campaign

Dates Will Be Selected Today By General Campaign Committee

The board of directors of Cumberland Community Chest, at its quarterly meeting last night in the Chest offices, discussed tentative plans for the 1947 fall campaign, reviewed financial reports and discussed other routine problems.

Henry C. Swearingen, president of the board, presided and announced a General Campaign Committee has been appointed, and is scheduled to meet at 4 o'clock today to select dates and arrange other campaign details.

Budgets Are Requested

According to Miss Anne B. Everline, executive secretary, member agencies have been requested to submit their budgets for the new year by August 5, so the budget committee can study the needs and determine the amount needed to operate the Chest next year.

Miss Everline explained that October is going to be Community Chest Campaign month throughout the country, and Community Chests of America is planning an extensive nation-wide publicity program, which will help the local effort, if the Cumberland drive is held during that month. It was also pointed out that the fund drive should be concluded before November elections.

The intensive publicity plan of the Community Chests of America, is to be built around this "brand" name, Miss Everline, learned at a conference of chest officials at Roslin, Virginia recently.

The red feather, which is presented to contributors, is now officially the trade mark of the Community Chest, and agencies affiliated with the Chest are asked to use the Red Feather as a symbol of service in all their publicity.

Financial Report Given

The 1946-1947 campaign slogan across the country is to be, "Everybody Benefits — Everybody Gives," and the publicity plan is to emphasize the far-reaching service chest agencies render in their respective communities.

At the meeting last night a financial report was submitted showing the chest has a cash balance of $28,045.73 as of July 1, and that $84,093.89 has been collected on 1945-1946 pledges. This represents 84% of the total amount pledged.

The report also indicates that all chest agencies are in a healthy financial state, and are meeting their obligations promptly. Total disbursements for the month of June including monthly payments to chest agencies and administrative expenses amounted to $4,536.03.
